IN New York recently, William Fox exhibited talking and singing moving pictures, important to every one in the great industry and to the public. The combination of sound, motion and expression was not merely good, it was absolutely perfect.

The words and music are perforated at the edge of the film so that action and words cannot possibly be separated by mechanical defect.

Such a machine makes it possible to give a vaudeville performance, the audience seeing the actors, hearing the singing and speaking without action or music. It is impossible to exaggerate the effect produced by hearing the actual voice and seeing the face and expression of the actor at the same time.

DETROIT plans a building of 81 stories, 873 feet high, another record broken by Detroit.

J. B. Book, Jr., responsible for the building, is to be congratulated. This mechanical age should show what it really can do, and get ready for the flying age, when machines will land on buildings a mile high and elevators will go down from the roof, not up from the ground.

IN Luling, small Texas town of 1,500 population, the inhabitants suddenly find themselves possessed of $2,000,000 cash in bonus money, paid by Edgar B. Davis, generous oil man. Davis got something over $12,000,000 at one time recently, and decided to divide, which is the Texas manner.

Those that got the money hurried out to buy good automobiles, and they were wise.

If a hoptoad suddenly got money and were wise, he would buy wings, and become a bird, instead of remaining a hoptoad.

If you haven't a car, buy one. Ownership of a car makes the brain work faster, and faster brain work will soon pay for a car.

YESTERDAY brokers and speculators started on a three-day holiday, in cheerful mood, with prices going up. Steel reached a new high spot on the tape, money was cheap, pessimism at a discount.

Unfortunately bears are learning that the fathers of this country established an institution in which it is safer to buy than to sell.

MISS RYAN and Mary K. Browne of California beat all the foreign women at Wimbledon, and will bring back the tennis championship to the United States.

Bobby Jones, a young Georgian who represents the energy and nervous concentration of his state admirably, arrived home yesterday, bringing Great Britain's open golf championship.

We have bootleggers, late hours, jazz and lounge lizards. But we also have young people that count.

THE Van Sweringen plan to combine five railroads—Erie, Nickel Plate, Chesapeake & Ohio, Hocking Valley and Pere Marquette—will probably go through.

Such combinations represent economy, if properly managed, and should be encouraged, especially if the people get part of the economy.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF TREASURY READY TO QUIT PROHIBITION JOB

ACCEPTED PLACE ONE YEAR AGO

Tells Secretary Mellon That His Work in Reorganization of Prohibition Service Virtually Has Been Completed.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury and head of the government's prohibition machine, submitted his resignation to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today.

Effective August 11.

No statement was forthcoming from Mellon's office as to what action would be taken. It was understood, however, that the resignation would be "accepted with regret."

Andrews, in a long conference with Mellon, informed the secretary that his work in reorganizing the prohibition service virtually has been completed.

He accepted the position more than a year ago on the understanding that when the service was reorganized he would be relieved from duty.

Andrews asked that the resignation be effective soon after he returns from London on August 11. It was understood that a conference of administrators would be called immediately after Andrews' return and that following this conference he would turn the job over to a successor.

The names of Major General John F. O'Ryan, of New York, commander of the 77th division in the A. E. F.; Franklin D. Olier, of Philadelphia, former head of the American Legion, and Herbert H. White, ex-army officer and prohibition administrator for Texas and Oklahoma, were suggested to Mellon as possible successors to Andrews.

No Statement From Andrews

Andrews declined to make any statement on his resignation. His friends, however, declared that he was not retiring because of discouragement over failure of congress to enact prohibition legislation, but that he considered that his work had been completed and that he now desires to return to private life.

At Andrews' office a statement was given out declaring that it seems rea-

J. H. Brookes Gets Thrill When Ocean Liner Kills Whale

Attorney and Mrs. Jason H. Brookes, of Pennsylvania avenue, en route to Europe for a continental tour, were among scores of passengers given a real thrill when the trans-Atlantic liner Berengaria killed a whale at sea last week.

Six whales crossed the bows of the steamer, but one turned back and the liner struck it. The impact caused the vessel to tremble from stem to stern. A man in the bow was nearly thrown overboard.

FOUR FLEE AS $5,000 BLAZE DESTROYS HOME

Fire Sweeps George Haudenschilt Dwelling in Maplewood.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

Wife, Awakened by Child's Call, Discovers Flames.

Four members of the George Haudenschilt family, Maplewood avenue, were forced to flee partly dressed when fire of undetermined origin destroyed their one-story five-room frame home at 2 o'clock this morning.

The loss estimated at $5,000 is said to be fully covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Haudenschilt, who was awakened when her 10-year-old grandson, Cecil Byers, who makes his home with his grandparents, asked for a drink. She scented smoke and, making an investigation, found the front part of the house afire. The blaze, it is believed, originated in the cellar and had eaten its way through the floor when discovered.

Mrs. Haudenschilt awakened her husband and son, and, with her grandson, fled from the house.

The fire department was called, and although the place was outside the city limits, the truck from the Central station responded but the house was doomed when the firemen arrived.

A green house, conducted by Haudenschilt, located near the house, was damaged by the intense heat from the burning building.

Mr. and Mrs. Haudenschilt and other members of the family were quartered today in the homes of friends and relatives.

New York City Is In Throes of Great Subway Strike

Motormen and Switchmen of Interborough Rapid Transit Walk Out in Demand for Higher Wages.

NEW YORK, July 6.—New York city was today in the throes of a great subway strike.

At 12:01 this morning motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit, one of the New York's two big subway lines, went on strike for higher wages.

By 9 o'clock, peak hour of the morning rush, service on the Interborough, which operates from the city limits of New York to the limits of Brooklyn, was seriously crippled. Some trains were running—at half speed, and manned by strikebreakers imported from Chicago, Cleveland and other points west.

Police guarded all stations to prevent violence.

More than 2,000 policemen were assigned to duty at stations and on the trains guarding the strike-breakers.

Several arrests were made up to 9 o'clock, but no violence was reported.

Neither the company nor strike leaders had authentic figures on the number of men affected. Leaders of the strike insisted that service on the line was practically at a standstill. Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interborough, declared the service was 50 per cent normal. Earlier in the day he had announced that service was 75 per cent normal.

Confusion prevailed on all sides as the hundreds of thousands tried to get to their places of employment.

During the month 139 criminal charges were filed, of which 110 were for violation of city ordinance and 29 for infraction of state statutes. Fifty-three civil cases were also entered. Thirteen others were disposed of. There were no affirmations or reversals by the higher courts.

Moore Memorial.

The memorial that will be presented the brother and sisters of Judge Moore follows:

"Judge James Green Moore was born in New Castle county, Delaware, 1853, and at an early age came with his parents, William and Annie Moore to Wayne township, Columbiana county, and settled on a farm. He attended the old fashioned district school and became enamored with a desire to prepare himself for a professional life. He attended the Lisbon high school and when quite young he was granted a certificate to teach in district schools. While teaching he read law with John W. and Harvey Morrison and in the autumn of 1874 was admitted to the bar and at once opened an office in Salineville, where by his diligence and abilities he built up a lucrative practice.

"At the general election of 1884 he was elected probate judge of Columbiana county, and served in that capacity two terms. As such officer he was courteous, painstaking and popular. At the end of his terms of probate judge in 1891, he formed a law partnership with W. S. Potts, which lasted 11 years. Later, in 1910, he was elected to the common pleas bench of this county and served in that capacity until death, July 2, 1926.

"In 1876 he married Miss Elizabeth Forbes, to which union no children were born.

He was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and an Elk.

"We cannot do too much in honor of our departed brother. Let us speak of him as a lawyer, a man and judge "It does seem indeed that "death loves a shining mark, a signal blow." The departed one has left a life account closed without a single blot or stain to mar its fair page, and in every relation of life he has proved himself, in the highest and best sense, a man. Firm and sincere in his convictions, true to his friends, liberal toward his opponents, and conscientious in the discharge of every duty, he has left behind him an example worthy the emulation of all.

Former Diplomat is Top Man With $1,500.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—While the senate slush fund committee wrangled today over the question of disregarding the wishes of Wayne B. New York City Is In Throes of Great Subway Strike

Motormen and Switchmen of Interborough Rapid Transit Walk Out in Demand for Higher Wages.

NEW YORK, July 6.—New York city was today in the throes of a great subway strike.

At 12:01 this morning motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit, one of the New York's two big subway lines, went on strike for higher wages.

By 9 o'clock, peak hour of the morning rush, service on the Interborough, which operates from the city limits of New York to the limits of Brooklyn, was seriously crippled. Some trains were running—at half speed, and manned by strikebreakers imported from Chicago, Cleveland and other points west.

Police guarded all stations to prevent violence.

More than 2,000 policemen were assigned to duty at stations and on the trains guarding the strike-breakers.

Several arrests were made up to 9 o'clock, but no violence was reported.

Neither the company nor strike leaders had authentic figures on the number of men affected. Leaders of the strike insisted that service on the line was practically at a standstill. Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interborough, declared the service was 50 per cent normal. Earlier in the day he had announced that service was 75 per cent normal.

Confusion prevailed on all sides as the hundreds of thousands tried to get to their places of employment.

BAR ASSOCIATION PAYS HOMAGE TO MEMORY OF JUDGE JAMES G. MOORE AND J. FRANK SPENCE

The funeral of the late Common Pleas Judge James G. Moore was held at his residence in East Washington street, Lisbon, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, following a meeting of the Columbiana County Bar association, court room No. 1, at which homage was paid his memory as well as that of J. Frank Spence, also of the Lisbon district, who was killed in an automobile accident last week.

Members of the bar association attended the Moore funeral, marching in a body from the court house to the home.

The Rev. J. M. Cameron of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church and the Rev. Peter W. Macaulay of the Lisbon Presbyterian church had charge of the services.

Honorary pallbearers selected by Judge N. B. Billingsley, president of the bar association, were: Judge Nathan McClure of Medina county; former Judge Carl Smith of Steubenville; Appellate Judge Louis T. Farr of Lisbon; former Probate Judge Samuel W. Crawford, East Liverpool; former Probate Judge J. C. Boone and L. P. Metzger of Salem; Lafayette M. Kyes, East Palestine; W. F. Lones, Wellsville and Wilson S. Potts of Lisbon, the former law partner of Judge Moore.

Active pallbearers were Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine, C. H. Blackburn, Gomer Lewis, Fred C. Davis, George S. Brandt, W. F. Bye, William H. Hepburn, Randall Hamilton.

Tribute was paid Judge Moore and Mr. Spence by the following speakers at the bar association memorial services: Judge L. T. Farr, Judge McClure, Judge [illegible] Riddle, Wilson S. Potts, Frank E. Grosshans, L. P. Metzgar, Judge R. C. Huey and Attorney J. V. Starrs of Youngstown; Judge Carl Smith, of Steubenville, and Attorney John Morgan, of Youngstown, a former member of the bar association here.

Moore Memorial.

The memorial that will be presented the brother and sisters of Judge Moore follows:

"Judge James Green Moore was born in New Castle county, Delaware, 1852, and at an early age came with his parents, William and Annie Moore to Wayne township, Columbiana county, and settled on a farm. He attended the old fashioned district school and became enamored with a desire to prepare himself for a professional life. He attended the Lisbon high school and when quite young he was granted a certificate to teach in district schools. While teaching he read law with John W. and Harvey Morrison and in the autumn of 1874 was admitted to the bar and at once opened an office in Salineville, where by his diligence and abilities he built up a lucrative practice.

"At the general election of 1884 he was elected probate judge of Columbiana county, and served in that capacity two terms. As such officer he was courteous, painstaking and popular. At the end of his terms of probate judge in 1891, he formed a law partnership with W. S. Potts, which lasted 11 years. Later, in 1910, he was elected to the common pleas bench of this county and served in that capacity until death, July 2, 1926.

"In 1876 he married Miss Elizabeth Forbes, to which union no children were born.

He was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and an Elk.

"We cannot do too much in honor of our departed brother. Let us speak of him as a lawyer, a man and judge

"It does seem indeed that "death loves a shining mark, a signal blow." The departed one has left a life account closed without a single blot or stain to mar its fair page, and in every relation of life he has proved himself, in the highest and best sense, a man. Firm and sincere in his convictions, true to his friends, liberal toward his opponents, and conscientious in the discharge of every duty, he has left behind him an example worthy the emulation of all.

ANNA NILSSON AT AMERICAN

Rises From Poverty to Wealth in "Greater Glory."

From a lowly scrubwoman to the toast of Vienna is the spectacular rise effectd by Anna Q. Nilsson, who plays the leading role in "The Greater Glory," June Mathis' colossal film epic now showing at the American theatre here.

More than a year was spent on the production by Miss Mathis and a vast company of stars. It is an adaptation of the celebrated novel, "Viennese Medley," by Edith O'Shaughnessy, wife of the American ambassador in Vienna. First National releases the picture.

The story follows the fortunes of a fine old Austrian family. After the war Miss Nilsson, who is a member of this family, is reduced by circumstances to accept a menial position. Then she is discovered by a former shopkeeper, who has reaped untold wealth as a result of war profiteering. In a short time she is the idol of Vienna's new multi-millionaires.

The drama is a poignant recital of the downfal and ultimate rehabilitation of what was once the gayest city of the Austrian empire.

A side of the war not hitherto revealed is brought to light in "The Greater Glory.' Miss Mathis, who is responsible for "The Four Horsemen" and other screen masterpieces, has put a realism into this picture that is wholly new.

Other principals in the cast besides Miss Nilsson are Conway Tearle, May Allison, Ian Keith, Jean Hersholt and Lucy Beaumont. There are more than a score of well known players in the supporting cast. About 1,600 "extras" were used.

So Many Servants—for so low a wage

WHEN you write the check for your next electric service bill, just stop a moment and recall to mind all the conveniences that money is paying for.

You have had light in every room, instantly, at the mere push of a button. There has been no need for matches, no fumbling in the dark, no kerosene or cleaning of lamps and chimneys.

Electrical servants have swept the floor, washed and ironed the clothes, percolated coffee, toasted bread, curled your hair and have done many other tasks too numerous to mention.

It is surprising, isn't it?—when you think of all the service your electrical servants give for so low a wage. May we suggest that you increase your staff of electrical servants since you realize how little they really cost to operate.

Amending Primary Election Plan

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, independent Democratic newspaper, editorially, urges that "It is high time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination," in supporting the proposed submission of an amendment at the November election to abolish the present primary election system in Ohio.

Petitions calling for a place on the fall ballot for the proposal, which is aimed to reduce the enormous expense of primary campaigns and at the same time permit the selection of better government officials, are to be circulated at once.

After referring to the fact that New Jersey Republicans in convention last week adopted an anti-primary plank, and that neither Ohio party platform has yet been prepared, the Plain Dealer says:

"The primary is no more a party issue now than it was fourteen years ago. It is not a question of democracy, but one of efficient government. There can be no party position on the adverse side of such a proposal.

"As framed by the New Jersey Republicans the purpose is to provide 'machinery by which the direct primary can be made effective and become a voters' primary instead of a candidates' primary.' Under the plan proposed primaries will still be held; not for nominating candidates, however, but for the election of delegates to nominating conventions. This would restore a measure of deliberation to the act of choosing nominees; it would re-establish a degree of party responsibility, now sadly lacking.

"It would, thoughtful citizens believe, raise the caliber of candidates for important offices, and thus improve the quality of the public service.

"No one, we assume, would care to go back to the old nominating conventions controlled gènerally as they were by professional politicians. The taste for power engendered by the primary would make any such restoration as impossible as it would be unwise. The new convention, unlike the old, must be controlled by popular opinion. Delegates must be chosen in the open by orderly process, not in dark-room caucuses operated by bosses.

"There is promise of a real issue in the Ohio campaign this year if the proposed amendment, now being perfected at Columbus, is brought to a vote—not a party issue, but an issue of stronger, more representative, more competent public administration. It is time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination."

France Wants More Loans

With the return of Caillaux to the French ministry of finance, final disposition of the French debt to America seems farther off than ever.

Caillaux, who is a shrewd bargainer as well as a keen financier, is encouraging delay in the French parliament. He objects to making any agreement to pay this country until he is assured of extensive new loans. He would take the Berenger-Mellon arrangement as the basis for new discussion, make various changes in the terms and then say, in effect:

"Let America lend France enough cash to meet the early payments, with a lot more to bolster up the French franc, and then we'll agree to pay."

Naturally this doesn't make much of a hit in America. There is a strong feeling in this country that the terms of the recent settlement were liberal, and there is little disposition at present to lend Europe more money.

More Electric Power

Here are two more big power projects going forward:

The Philadelphia Electric Power company is going to build on the Susquehanna river, in Maryland, a dam nearly a mile long, forming a reservoir of 8,000 acres, and a power plant to develop 350,000 horsepower. That is more power than the Muscle Shoals plant has. The current will be sent, at 220,000 volts, for 75 miles to Philadelphia.

The Gatineau Power company, by a contract signed with the Hydro-Electric commission of Ontario, will furnish 230,000 horsepower produced on the Gatineau river, transmitting it 240 miles to Toronto. This is not an entirely new project, but present facilities are to be greatly extended, with an ultimate development of perhaps 400,000 horsepower.

Electrification of this continent is coming on more rapidly than the public realizes. Add to the "white coal" projects the coal-burning plants being established in or near the coal fields, and the present development is tremendous.

The Swedish Crown Prince's American explorations are now complete. He has seen a home run.

Now that Charley Ross has been found, there may be some hope of the fellow who borrowed your ten dollars turning up some day.

Cowardice in war, a British psychologist explains, is a matter of nerves. The coward is nervous. The hero has "nerve" because he hasn't any nerves.

A lot of drivers don't seem to care where they're going, as long as they get there quick. And a lot of others don't seem to be going anywhere.

West Toonerville News Item— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 6.—As a chronic sun-dodger, those ruddy cheeked fellows who climb out of the feathers at dawn, leap into plus fours and bowl away to the golf courses around New York have excited my curiosity—if not admiration.

Saluting dawn with a snore seems preferable to whacking a silly little white ball. Perhaps it is because earlier days found me at dawn thawing out the pump, chaperoning pails of slop to pigs and tidying up Old Dobbins' bed chamber. I've had my early rising fun. No end!

At sun up on every fair day there is a stream of gold-clad figures hurrying from New York hotels and apartment houses. It has been estimated that 60 per cent of New York's adult male population plays golf casually or with the usual fervor.

It has been estimated also the city expends a half billion dollars annually on golf togs, dues and golf accessories. In 1899 a society weekly listed 124 persons who had taken up the game. In those days it was considered a little sissified.

It had about the same sporting standing as rolling hoops. Now it is the most popular form of athletic sport in America. Dues at the highest priced golf club, exclusive of initiation fees, are $2,000 a year and a super exclusive club is organizing with a $5,000 initiation fee and $10,000 annual dues.

I have been so annoyed by golf and golf talk that I decided to take it up in self defense. I prepared myself for the usual symptoms of the notive—swinging a cane around the house at imaginary balls or a spool of thread. And prettying up before the mirror in plus fours.

I arrived at the golf course at 9 o'clock which was elegant for me. I broke two borrowed clubs, achieved a buckeye blister on my right heel and strained something or other that gives me a skip to my walk. I bequeath my interest in the game to the public. It may have it for its very own.

Apropos of "that guiltiest feeling" riding home from the golf course the car gave one of those despairing lurches and halted in front of a huge bill-board which bore the sign: "Perspire normally but odorlessly."

An ironic note is to be found at the base of the bronze Fifth Avenue towers which guide auto traffic with the blinking fish-eyed lights. The obsolescent motif is a horse's hoof. There is nothing quite so undignified as climbing a ladder. I've often wanted to be around when the austere and nattily uniformed signalmen mount their perches. And the monotony of their task must be terrific, just sitting in a cramped position for hours waiting for the signal to release or check traffic. They don't even have the fun of bawling out autoists and jay-walkers.

Big city firemen have their thrills but suffer a high average of monotonous tedium. I had one tell me that while he was fond of his fellows he often grew so tired looking at them that he quit speaking for days. I thought only husbands did that.

While motoring today we came upon a thoroughfare near town with the rustic name of Sawmill River Road. One turns suddenly from suburban splendor to behold a vista of old farm houses with dove cotes, sheep folds and old fashioned wells. It seemed to be hundreds of miles from New York instead of less than an hour's journey.

The Business of Advertising.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—The latest panacea for curing the economic ills of the world is declared to be advertising. Advertising men from the four corners of the earth have been spending some time in the United States recenly in connection with the annual meeting of the Associationed Advertising Clubs of the World. The principal sessions of the convention were held at the Sesquicentennial Exposition at Philadelphia and speakers there outlined various ideas of progress through the medium of advertising.

The art of advertising may be claimed as an American invention. It is in this attractive ways of bringing to the attention of the buying public the wares of manufacturers and merchants. England has followed in the steps of the American pioneers largely by the guidance of American advertising experts. The first great British agencies employed Americans to show them the tricks of the trade and Americans still occupy a leading position in the British advertising world.

In this generation far more is spent for advertising than many manufacturers ever dreamed a few years ago. The advance was steady and rapid. The advertiser who ran a paragraph thirty years ago began using a quarter page twenty years ago. In another decade he was using a half page and perhaps five years later had been educated up to the idea of employing a full newspaper or magazine page. This same man now is occasionally using the entire sections of newspapers and magazines to make the public acquainted with his ware.

Outdoor advertising has grown by leaps and bounds until some property is more valuable for the advertising space it offers than for any other use. The electric sign has lengthened the hours during which an outdoor advertisement is working. All this costs a tremendous amount of mony. Many corporations have regular appropriations of a million dollars or more for advertising. These same companies bu t a few years ago would have been amazed at the prospect of doing a gross business of that much.

With the industry becoming so large it is not surprising that it is attracting more and more attention and receiving study from experts in finance, economics, distribution, and politics. At the Philadelphia meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, Dr. Julius Klein, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, made one of the principal addresses and showed to what extent the principal Government agency having to do with business is studying advertising. Dr. Klein discussed the subject from two principal angles: waste in advertising, and trade extension through its judicious use.

The Department of Commerce has spent much effort in studying the general subject of waste in industry. Its investigations have covered nearly every important industry, including advertising. In making up a list of the fifteen major causes of waste in American business Secretary Hoover, as a result of these studies, has included mismanaged advertising.

Study of Markets.

Many millions of dollars are spent annually by American producers and traders for advertising space both in the United States and in foreign countries. Analyses of these expenditures and what returns they produce in the way of new business show that great savings could be effected by more careful study of markets. Apparently on the theory that it is merely enough to talk loudly about a product is all that is needed in advertising, many national advertisers have thrown away millions uselessly.

Dr. Klein pointed out that every market should receive careful study before it is invaded by an advertiser. In many instances the maker of a product which has sold well in America and England will assume that, by the same token, advertising will cause the product to sell in Italy or Greece. This may not be the case at all and by enlisting the cooperation of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the advertiser can ascertain the facts before spending his money and wasting it in fruitless effort.

O. Henry tells a story about how an inexperienced Yankee went to a Central American country and set up a shoe store. A little investigation would have made it known to him that no market existed because the natives did not wear shoes. This merchant adventurer resorted to the ingenious device of importing some cockle burrs from the United States and surreptitiously sprinkling the roads and lanes with them. The natives were forced to buy shoes to protect their feet and he got rid of his stock without loss. However, not every American adventurer into foreign lands can hit upon so novel a device to recoup his losses. Dr. Klein points out that the American advertiser who advertises unwanted products in a foreign market is doing the same thing as the Yankee who took shoes to Central America. He encounters a clear waste which will sap his profits and subtract from the aggregate of business volume.

A heavy responsibility lies upon the men who conduct the big advertising agencies. Too many of them, Dr. Klein believes, are too eager to write contracts for the sake of the immediate business. In this way they use up their clients' advertising appropriations and obtain slight returns. Where they to study their markets carefully and place their advertising more ju-

SPEAKING OF CARRIER PIGEONS

Speaking of carrier pigeons—although no one has done so lately—reminds me of a yarn that may not be true—it sounds almost too good to be true—that was related at the front in 1918. The version frequently told had it that a half company of a regiment in the Rainbow Division, on going forward early one morning in a heavy fog a raid across No Man's Land, carried along with the rest of the customary equipment a homing pigeon. The pigeon in its wicker cage swung on the arm of a private, who likewise was burdened with the rifle, his extra rounds of ammunition, his trenching tool, his pair of wire cutters, his steel helmet, his gas mask, his emegerency ration and quite a number of other more or less cumbersome items.

It was to be a surprise attack behind a cloak of the fog, so there was no artillery preparation beforehand, nor barrage fire as the squads climbed over the top and advanced into the mist hidden beyond. Behind, in the posts of observation and in the post of command the Colonel and his aides and his intelligence officers waited for the sound of firing. When after some minutes the distant rattle of the rifle fire came to their ears they began calculating how long reasonably it might be before word reached them by one or another medium of communication touching on the results of the foray. But the ground telephone remained mute, and no runner returned through the fog with tidings. The suspense increased as time passed.

Suddenly a pigeon sped into view, flying close to the earth. With eager eyes following it in its course the winged messenger circled until it located its portable cote just behind the Colonel's position and fluttering down it entered its familiar shelter.

An athletic member of the staff hustled up the ladder. In half a minute he was tumbling down again, clutching in one hand the little scroll of paper that he had found fastened about the pigeon's leg. With fingers that trembled in anxiety the Colonel unrolled the paper and read aloud what was written upon it.

What he read, in the hurried chirography of a kid private, was the following succinct statement: "I'm tired of carrying this damn bird."

Amending Primary Election Plan

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, independent Democratic newspaper, editorially, urges that "It is high time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination," in supporting the proposed submission of an amendment at the November election to abolish the present primary election system in Ohio.

Petitions calling for a place on the fall ballot for the proposal, which is aimed to reduce the enormous expense of primary campaigns and at the same time permit the selection of better government officials, are to be circulated at once.

After referring to the fact that New Jersey Republicans in convention last week adopted an anti-primary plank, and that neither Ohio party platform has yet been prepared, the Plain Dealer says:

"The primary is no more a party issue now than it was fourteen years ago. It is not a question of democracy, but one of efficient government. There can be no party position on the adverse side of such a proposal.

"As framed by the New Jersey Republicans the purpose is to provide 'machinery by which the direct primary can be made effective and become a voters' primary instead of a candidates' primary.' Under the plan proposed primaries will still be held; not for nominating candidates, however, but for the election of delegates to nominating conventions. This would restore a measure of deliberation to the act of choosing nominees; it would re-establish a degree of party responsibility, now sadly lacking.

"It would, thoughtful citizens believe, raise the caliber of candidates for important offices, and thus improve the quality of the public service.

"No one, we assume, would care to go back to the old nominating conventions controlled generally as they were by professional politicians. The taste for power engendered by the primary would make any such restoration as impossible as it would be unwise. The new convention, unlike the old, must be controlled by popular opinion. Delegates must be chosen in the open by orderly process, not in dark-room caucuses operated by bosses.

"There is promise of a real issue in the Ohio campaign this year if the proposed amendment, now being perfected at Columbus, is brought to a vote—not a party issue, but an issue of stronger, more representative, more competent public administration. It is time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination."

France Wants More Loans

With the return of Caillaux to the French ministry of finance, final disposition of the French debt to America seems farther off than ever.

Caillaux, who is a shrewd bargainer as well as a keen financier, is encouraging delay in the French parliament. He objects to making any agreement to pay this country until he is assured of extensive new loans. He would take the Berenger-Mellon arrangement as the basis for new discussion, make various changes in the terms and then say, in effect:

"Let America lend France enough cash to meet the early payments, with a lot more to bolster up the French franc, and then we'll agree to pay."

Naturally this doesn't make much of a hit in America. There is a strong feeling in this country that the terms of the recent settlement were liberal, and there is little disposition at present to lend Europe more money.

More Electric Power

Here are two more big power projects going forward:

The Philadelphia Electric Power company is going to build on the Susquehanna river, in Maryland, a dam nearly a mile long, forming a reservoir of 8,000 acres, and a power plant to develop 350,000 horsepower. That is more power than the Muscle Shoals plant has. The current will be sent, at 220,000 volts, for 75 miles to Philadelphia.

The Gatineau Power company, by a contract signed with the Hydro-Electric commission of Ontario, will furnish 230,000 horsepower produced on the Gatineau river, transmitting it 240 miles to Toronto. This is not an entirely new project, but present facilities are to be greatly extended, with an ultimate development of perhaps 400,000 horsepower.

Electrification of this continent is coming on more rapidly than the public realizes. Add to the "white coal" projects the coal-burning plants being established in or near the coal fields, and the present development is tremendous.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 6.—As a chronic sun-dodger, those ruddy cheeked fellows who climb out of the feathers at dawn, leap into plus fours and bowl away to the golf courses around New York have excited my curiosity—if not admiration.

Saluting dawn with a snore seems preferable to whacking a silly little white ball. Perhaps it is because earlier days found me at dawn thawing out the pump, chaperoning pails of slop to pigs and tidying up Old Dobbins' bed chamber. I've had my early rising fun. No end!

At sun up on every fair day there is a stream of gold-clad figures hurrying from New York hotels and apartment houses. It has been estimated that 60 per cent of New Yorks adult male population plays golf casually or with the usual fervor.

It has been estimated also the city expends a half billion dollars annually on golf togs, dues and golf accessories. In 1899 a society weekly listed 124 persons who had taken up the game. In those days it was considered a little sissified.

It had about the same sporting standing as rolling hoops. Now it is the most popular form of athletic sport in America. Dues at the highest priced golf club, exclusive of initiation fees, are $2,000 a year and a super exclusive club is organizing with a $5,000 initiation fee and $10,000 annual dues.

I have been so annoyed by golf and golf talk that I decided to take it up in self defense. I prepared myself for the usual symptoms of the notive—swinging a cane around the house at imaginary balls or a spool of thread. And prettying up before the mirror in plus fours.

I arrived at the golf course at 9 o'clock which was elegant for me. I broke two borrowed clubs, achieved a buckeye blister on my right heel and strained something or other that gives me a skip to my walk. I bequeath my interest in the game to the public. It may have it for its very own.

Apropos of "that guiltiest feeling" riding home from the golf course the car gave one of those despairing lurches and halted in front of a huge bill-board which bore the sign: "Perspire normally but odorlessly."

An ironic note is to be found at the base of the bronze Fifth Avenue towers which guide auto traffic with the blinking fish-eyed lights. The obsolescent motif is a horse's hoof. There is nothing quite so undignified as climbing a ladder. I've often wanted to be around when the austere and nattily uniformed signalmen mount their perches. And the monotony of their task must be terrific, just sitting in a cramped position for hours waiting for the signal to release or check traffic. They don't even have the fun of bawling out autoists and jay-walkers.

Big city firemen have their thrills but suffer a high average of monotonous tedium. I had one tell me that while he was fond of his fellows he often grew so tired looking at them that he quit speaking for days. I thought only husbands did that.

While motoring today we came upon a thoroughfare near town with the rustic name of Sawmill River Road. One turns suddenly from suburban splendor to behold a vista of old farm houses with dove cotes, sheep folds and old fashioned wells. It seemed to be hundreds of miles from New York instead of less than an hour's journey.

HASKIN'S LETTER

The Business of Advertising.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—The latest panacea for curing the economic ills of the world is declared to be advertising. Advertising men from the four corners of the earth have been spending some time in the United States recenly in connection with the annual meeting of the Associationed Advertising Clubs of the World. Soul-Maddening Despair Follows a Midnight Adventure

LOOKING back on those terrible events now, Leonora feels that the cause of all her trouble was a foolish desire for excitement and thrills.

At sixteen she joined the chorus of a musical comedy. Then she met Carlos Mendosa and took the first fatal step that was to lead to tragedy. He attended the show nightly—sent her flowers and invitations to dinner. She was warned against Mendosa, but she was deaf to these warnings.

One night, she slipped away and met Mendosa at a little private dinner. What happened to her following that midnight adventure will rend your heart with pity—and fill you with rage that such things can be.

Leonora tells her story under the title, "Dark Secrets," in the August issue of True Story Magazine — one of the most gripping that has ever appeared in the pages of this great publication.

"As I stood there, shuddering, I saw a man approaching. I shrank deeper into the shadow of the palm grove, when suddenly—"

"Life's Current"—They told Ruth that her sweetheart was a crook, but she refused to believe. They planned to run away—and what happened in the days that followed is an object lesson that no girl can forget.

"Double-Crossed"—They met at a party. It was love at first sight for both. The weeks that followed were like a dream. Then came the awakening. A true life narrative fairly packed with heart-throbs.

"Bonds That Cannot Break"—When they married, she loved him too intensely to be jealous of the wife he had recently divorced. She was to learn that a hasty marriage may exact a penalty that few hearts are prepared to pay.

Uses True Story for Sermons On Life

Dear Sirs: Wolcott, White Co., Ind.

Long life to such a publication as True Story Magazine. My confidence in and admiration for Bernarr Macfadden is great enough to justify my saying—any publication bearing his name is proof sufficient that it is of a high moral character.

I find my vocabulary inadequate to express how manifold are the helps I have secured from True Story's pages. Many of the sermons listed in the enclosed pamphlet can be traced to inspiration found in the many issues of True Story I have read.

I have two other reasons for endorsing True Story, Mary Elizabeth and Frances Leda—my daughters. I unhesitatingly recommend it to clergymen, fathers, mothers, young people, and appeal in its behalf for a place in every church library.

Soul-Maddening Despair Follows a Midnight Adventure

LOOKING back on those terrible events now, Leonora feels that the cause of all her trouble was a foolish desire for excitement and thrills.

At sixteen she joined the chorus of a musical comedy. Then she met Carlos Mendosa and took the first fatal step that was to lead to tragedy. He attended the show nightly—sent her flowers and invitations to dinner. She was warned against Mendosa, but she was deaf to these warnings.

One night, she slipped away and met Mendosa at a little private dinner. What happened to her following that midnight adventure will rend your heart with pity—and fill you with rage that such things can be.

Leonora tells her story under the title, "Dark Secrets," in the August issue of True Story Magazine — one of the most gripping that has ever appeared in the pages of this great publication.

"As I stood there, shuddering, I saw a man approaching. I shrank deeper into the shadow of the palm grove, when suddenly—"
From "Dark Secrets," in True Story Magazine for August

"Double-Crossed"—They met at a party. It was love at first sight for both. The weeks that followed were like a dream. Then came the awakening. A true life narrative fairly packed with heart-throbs.

"Bonds That Cannot Break"—When they married, she loved him too intensely to be jealous of the wife he had recently divorced. She was to learn that a hasty marriage may exact a penalty that few hearts are prepared to pay.

Uses True Story for Sermons On Life

Dear Sirs: Wolcott, White Co., Ind.

Long life to such a publication as True Story Magazine. My confidence in and admiration for Bernarr Macfadden is great enough to justify my saying—any publication bearing his name is proof sufficient that it is of a high moral character.

I find my vocabulary inadequate to express how manifold are the helps I have secured from True Story's pages. Many of the sermons listed in the enclosed pamphlet can be traced to inspiration found in the many issues of True Story I have read.

I have two other reasons for endorsing True Story, Mary Elizabeth and Frances Lede—my daughters. I unhesitatingly recommend it to clergymen, fathers, mothers, young people, and appeal in its behalf for a place in every church library.

Q. What music was played during "The Big Parade?" J. H.

A. The musical score was adapted and arranged by David Mendoza and William Axt, of the Capitol Theatre New York City Staff. The score contains many of the well-known Army songs, which were so popular during the war, and which are used in the original form and later on, adapted in a symphonic style to the emotional or dramatic requirements of the screen. Q. Can woodchucks be kept for pets? O. H.

Q. What became of the Lincoln funeral car? T. H. C.

A. The Lincoln funeral car was preserved for many years and then broken up by the Pullman company. When Pedro became King he had the body of Inez taken from the grave, placed on a magnificent throne, arrayed in all the royal robes and crowned Queen of Portugal.

There are, also, quite a few original compositions in the score, by William Axt, including a March entitled The Big Parade.

Q. Can woodchucks be kept for pets? O. H.

A. The Biological Survey says woodchucks make very interesting pets and are easily cared for. They should be given roomy quarters with a den and material for a nest in which they can retire in the fall for hibernation. They eat a variety of green food.

Q. What became of the Lincoln funeral car? T. H. C.

A. The Lincoln funeral car was preserved for many years and then broken up by the Pullman company. One of the marked features of the car was a series of landscapes painted on wooden panels between the car windows. Mr. Pullman preserved some of the best of them, and presented them to his friends. So far as is known no other parts of the car remain.

Q. Does the word Zend in connection with the Avesta or sacred books of the Parsees mean the language in which the books are written? H. S. M.

A. The word Zend actually in the opinion of scholars means translation or commentary but is commonly used to define the language which is akin to Sanskrit and the Afghan tongue.

Q. What Queen was crowned with a ceremony after her death? L. K.

A. The Queen who was enthroned after her death was Iben de Castro, who was married to Pedro I of Portugal. The marriage was performed clandestinely on January 1, 1347, before his accession to the throne. His father objected to the union and three years later at his instigation Inez was murdered. When Pedro became King he had the body of Inez taken from the grave, placed on a magnificent throne, arrayed in all the royal robes and crowned Queen of Portugal.

Q. If both parents have blue eyes, what percentage of their children might be expected to have brown eyes? O. N.

Q. The Carnegie Institution says that if the parents have clear blue eyes none of the children would be expected to have clear brown eyes, regardless of the possibility that some of the grandparents had brown eyes.

Q. What is the smallest fraction of an inch that can be measured? M. P. S.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that in high grade tool and gage shops measurements are regularly made to ten-thousandths and hundred-thousandths of an inch. At the Bureau of Standards precision gage blocks are tested to an accuracy of from one to five millionths of an inch, by light interference methods. The "ultra-micrometer" is capable of detecting differences of one billionth of an inch.

Q. How long will a drowned person stay under water? J. S. W.

A. Gas forms in the cavities of the body causing it to rise to the surface after drowning. The length of time a person will stay under water is dependent upon the individual. Sometimes it takes from three days to two weeks, according to the chemical content and temperture of the water.

Q. How many candle power are cast off by the sun? I. S.

A. The late Camille Flammarion stated that photometric measures of solar light show that it is equivalent to 1,575,000,000,000,000,000,000 wax candles.

Many Visit Park.

Large crowd visited Rock Springs park yesterday. Dancing, boating and bathing were the chief diversions. Elaborate display of fireworks was given in the evening by the park management.

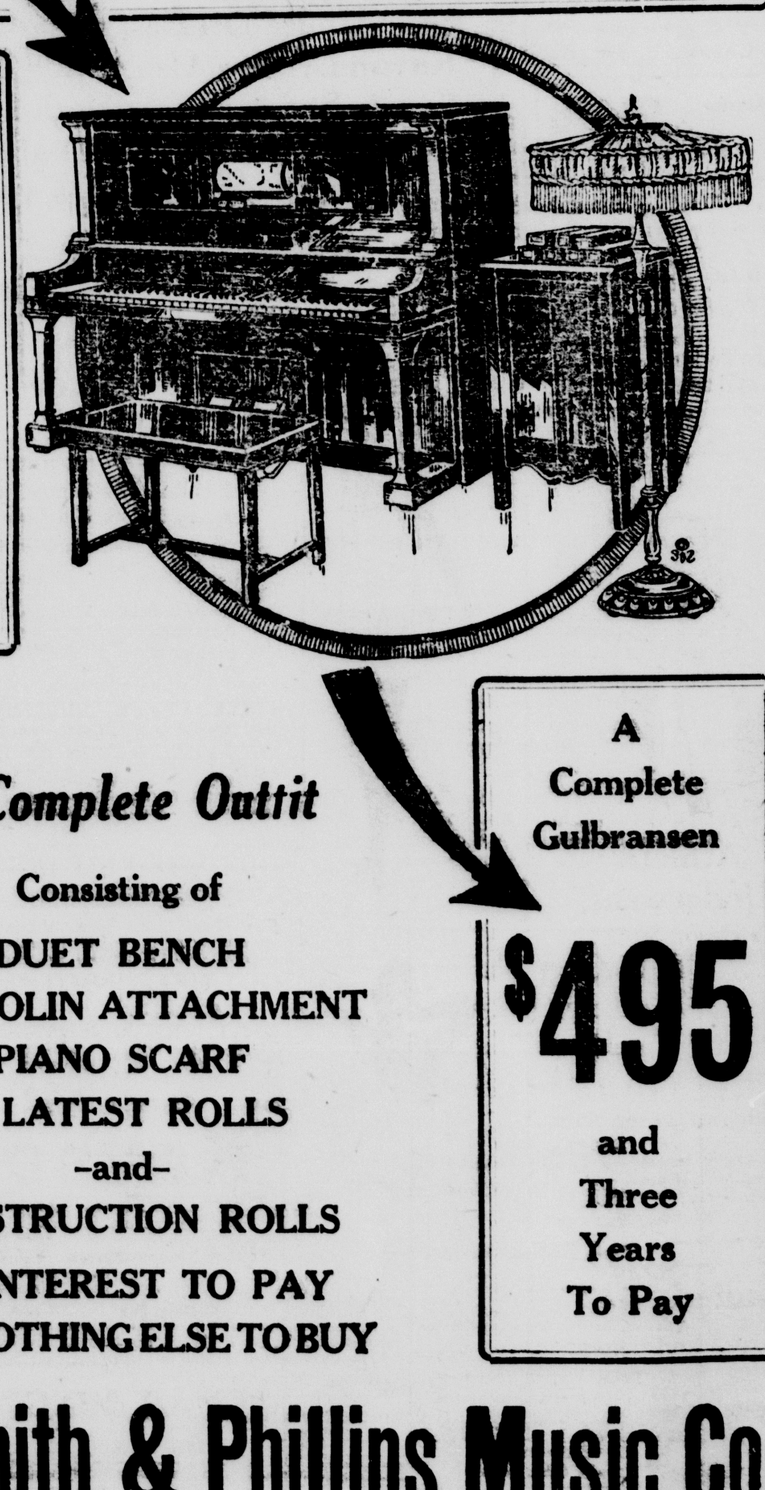

Union Services.

Rev. W. T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, spoke at the union services Sunday night in the First United Presbyterian church. Congregations of three churches are taking part in the meetings.

REPORT CROPS IN GOOD CONDITION

Crops in West Virginia were reported in good condition during the week ending June 29, by the U. S. department of agriculture, weather bureau office, Parkersburg. The weather was reported continually cool and generally dry, with adequate sunshine for crops.

Although cool, all crops apparently made fair to good growth, owing to the lateness of the season.

"Corn is from two three weeks late, but has made fair growth and has a good color. Its cultivation is general.

"Potatoes made excellent growth and are in good condition, with the crop generally in bloom. Early varieties are being marketed in a few localities.

"Pastures and meadows are improved but continue short. Most meadows are very short. Tobacco plants are being set out, and large crop of cherries has been secured. The apples continue to fall but the crop is apparently large."

CAMP TRAINING BEGINS TOMORROW

Newell and Hancock county youths who has been accepted for military training will report tomorrow at Camp Knox, K. More than 1,600 will attend this camp from West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Everything is in readiness at Camp Knox for the reception of the candidates. Regular and reserve officers who will act as instructors have been on duty since June 25, and the camp has been "policed" by the regular army organizations which will train the candidates. These include the third battalion of the Eleventh infantry and the third field artillery from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and Troop F. Sixth Cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

Upon their arrival at Camp Knox, the candidates will first undergo a physical examination, the results of which will be sent to their parents. Those who survive this careful scrutiny will be given clothing valued at approximately $25 and personal equipment amounting to about $60.

HOMER LAUGHLIN TO MEET CHESTER

Homer Laughlin China and Chester will meet in a play off game to decide the winner of the first half of the Industrial league season.

Both West Virginia clubs were victorious in the final contests Saturday. Laughlin won two games from Victory Motors, the first by forfeit, while Chester had no trouble, trimming Knowles, Taylor and Knowles.

Date of the game will probably be fixed at a meeting of the league managers tonight.

Return From Trips.

Number of local residents returned last evening from holiday vacation trips at other places. Many visited parks in Eastern Ohio, while others attended the baseball games in Pittsburgh. Several industrial plants resumed operations today.

Mid Week Services.

Mid week prayer services will be held tomorrow evening in several of the local churches. Pastors will be in charge of the devotionals. Cottage prayer meetings for members of the Church of Nazarene will be held this evening.

After making several successful raids in one night two men unwittingly broke into the home of a detective at Romford, England, and were arrested.

S-51 WITH ITS CARGO OF DEAD ON WAY HOME

33 HEROES LOST

Nine Months' Battle With Sea is Not Yet Over.

ABOARD U. S. S. VESTAL, OFF NEW LONDON, CONN., July 6. — Resurrected submarine S-51 with its cargo of dead heroes was homeward bound today.

Raised from its muddy bier at the bottom of the sea off Block Island by an American naval engineering feat unprecedented in salvage history, the submarine was being towed toward Brooklyn navy yard where its grim story will be unsealed.

The gaping wound in her side bound tight with buoyant pontoons, the vessel cut down last September by a steamer with the loss of 33 of the submarine's crew was being nursed through Long Island sound on its voyage of 140 miles to the navy yard dry dock in New York.

To Run Hell Gate Gauntlet.

The nine months' old battle with the sea is not yet over as the towing of the submarine is fraught with danger. With the sea growing more choppy today under an increasing wind the popping of one or more of the supporting pontoons might send the recovered S-51 to the bottom again and perhaps work havoc amid the escorting fleet of vessels.

The towing fleet will face its greatest crisis other than stormy weather when it reaches Execution Rock opposite New Rochell, New York, where it will prepare to run the gauntlet of Hell Gate with its treacherous tide and turbulent water.

Before setting out on its slow journey, expected to consume 48-hours, the towing fleet anchored in shallow water off Point Judith, Conn., where through the night the towing bridles on the submarine were examined and the eight pontoons readjusted. The giant naval derrick United States, ready for an emergency, joined the fleet there.

Navy Reclaims Dead.

The navy is proud that it has won the desperate fight to reclaim its dead. When the sea foamed green bubbles and surrendered the submarine to the sunlight, a mighty cheer burst forth from the thousand men of the salvage fleet. Lieut-Commander Edward Ellsburg, construction expert, tossed his hat overboard in exultation when his months of labor was finally rewarded.

Chief Torpedo Man Jean Paradis, veteran diver and compression room expert, paid tribute to the heroism of the score of divers who risked their lives in the raising operation.

Paradis, according to officers, merits praise himself for pulling through many a dangerous case of "bends" and "groundhog's itch" among the divers. Paradis estimated that more than a thousand dives were made since the S-51 was sunk.

Strange Cortege.

Daybreak saw a strange cortege looming against the skyline. Moving imperceptibly at three knots an hour, an Indian file of naval vessels eased a stricken sister toward her haven of rest.

The motor ship Vestal led the procession with her masthead flying the international signal to clear traffic for a submerged wreck under tow. Next steamed the naval tugs Iuka and Sagamore, one behind the other, drawing the tow line to the floating tomb. Behind came the diving ship Falcon serving as buffer with a cable to the S-51's stern. A score of air lines ran from the Falcon to the hull and pontoons of the submarine.

Fate willing, the S-51 should be delivered into dry dock at the Brooklyn navy yard where it will be drained of water and its unexplored compartments entered. A score of bodies are expected to be found within. There is one body inextricable under water wedged into the machinery of the engine room it was revealed today by divers who were forced to creep of it.

Naval Diver in Hospital.

"The raising of the S-51 marks the first successful deep sea diving in submarine salvage work," said Paradis. The submarine was buried in 130 feet of water."

"Tug" Wilson, a naval diver in the hospital with appendicitis induced by the bends, glowed over the news of the submarine's raising. "I'm glad the boys did it but I'm sorry I missed seeing her come up," "Tug" said today.

The old "gobs" in the salvage fleet today attributed the success of the operation to the fact that Mother Carey's chickens were seen hovering over the wreck, they seldom being seen so close to shore.

Charles Jackson, Colored, is Given 30-day Jail Stay

Charles Jackson, colored, of Fairmont, W. Va., was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley, Monday morning, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny filed against him by the police.

Jackson was arrested by Patrolman Roth Saturday afternoon upon complaint of the manager of a Fifth street store. The manager told police he became suspicious when he saw the shopper slip several pieces of female lingerie into a paper shopping bag which he carried.

The manager followed the man into the street and held him until the arrival of the police. Nearly a dozen pieces of silk and satin undergarments were found in the bag, police said.

TODAY

Europe compete as single units, and we need units of at least equal size.

BELGIAN and French francs fell yesterday to a new low price for all time. The situation is most serious.

FRENCH statesmanship is in a dilemma. Unless the enormous gold reserve of France is used to steady the franc, it may fade away like the cat in "Alice in Wonderland." If the gold is used, France fears the metal will be sent out of the country, leaving France stripped of gold.

Nobody really knows anything about finance, and therefore France, one of the most industrious countries in the world, produces nobody with a plan to protect the national currency.

SALEM LAWYER ROTARY GUEST

H. M. McCarthy is Speaker at Noon Luncheon.

A patriotic address, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, by Attorney H. M. McCarthy, member of the law firm of Metzgar & McCarthy, Salem, was delivered at the noon luncheon meeting today of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A. McCarthy's subject was "Democracy."

Malcolm Thompson presided at the meeting, attended by about 40 members. The chorus singing was led by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist. Wilson F. Smith will be chairman of next week's meeting at which State Forester Edmund H. Seacrist, Wooster, will be the speaker.

McCarthy was introduced by Frederick W. Herche, Sixth street druggist.

"Almost every democracy in the world today is being rocked by internal trouble," he said. "Even in our own country there are rumblings which lead us to believe that this democracy, founded by our forefathers 150 years ago, is not as safe as it was at one time.

"Seven years have not passed since the last shot was fired in France to make the world safe for democracy. And yet the world is not safe for democracy and democracy is not safe for the world.

There can be no doubt as to the patriotism of the American people in time of war for they have been tried in fire and found to be true. Yet the American people are lacking in patriotism in times of peace. William McKinley, our martyred president, once said 'There is no class distinction in this country of ours.' Every man is born free and equal and each citizen is guaranteed equal protection under the laws of the land."

ped his car and arranged for the man's removal to the hospital, where he was attended by Dr. C. H. Bailey. McCormick's condition is not serious.

Mrs. White and her husband were traveling toward East Liverpool at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when their car is said to have been sideswiped by another automobile traveling in the opposite direction. The woman's head and right knee were cut by broken glass from the windshield. She was brought to the City hospital where her injuries were dressed by Dr. W. N. Gilmore. Other occupants in the two cars were unhurt.

Coupe Overturns Twice.

Brady Fetty, Dixonville, and Mrs. Ethel McKenzie, Broadway, narrowly escaped injury when Fetty's Chevrolet coupe, went over a 25-foot embankment, just south of Ross Meadows, on the Lincoln highway at 8:15 o'clock last night. Fetty claims the accident occurred when he was forced off the road by a large car.

The Fetty coupe overturned twice and landed on its side. Fetty and his companion, who were in the car when it came to a stop, were extricated through a window. Neither of them was seriously hurt. The coupe was pulled to the road by wrecking equipment from the Earl Grate garage at Stop 55.

Benjamin Marsh, who is said to be a member of the Allegheny county planning commission, Pittsburgh, escaped unhurt when his automobile was sideswiped by a car driven by Edward Keeper, West Ninth street, along the Wellsville-East Liverpool road just west of the corporate limits at 9:30 o'clock Sunday night.

Keeper was arrested by Captain Conley, charged with fast and reckless driving. He was later charged with intoxication. Upon arraignment before Judge Hanley Monday morning, he was fined $10 and costs upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon Keeper's promise that he would pay for the damages done to Marsh's car. Keeper said that he was blinded by the glaring headlights of another automobile in the road just in front of Marsh, who had stopped his car when the light globes burned out.

Crash West of Lisbon.

W. H. Taylor and wife, 613 Belmont avenue, Youngstown, were unhurt when their Star sedan, went over a steep embankment on the Lincoln highway, near the county home road, west of Lisbon, at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Taylor claims that he was blinded by the lights of another car. His sedan was towed to the Lincoln Highway garage, Lisbon.

A Columbia sedan, owned by Mrs. Rachael Smith, West Sixth street, this city, and driven by Victor Madel, who traveling south on the Salem-Lisbon road, collided with an Oldsmobile sedan, operated by Frank Rainiak, Salem, early Sunday evening. The Smith car was ditched at one side of the road. The Salem sedan lost a wheel and its left running board and fenders were damaged. No one was injured. The Smith car was driven back to East Liverpool under its own power, but the other was towed to a Salem garage for repairs.

Auto-Street Car Crash.

PIQUA, O., July 6.—One person is dead today, one is being held on a charge of manslaughter and six others are injured as the result of an auto-street car crash here yesterday.

The accident is said to have occurred when a large touring car driven by John Ryan, 18, of Troy, crashed into the front end of a city street car which was being operated by Motorman Harley Higgins, of Piqua.

Police charged occupants of the Ryan car, Wade Ferguson, of Troy, and Dallis Sarrey, also of Troy, with intoxication.

sonable to believe that at the next session of congress consideration of the entire legislative program proposed by the treasury to strengthen enforcement will be completed."

To Sail for Europe.

Andrews was appointed April 1, 1925. He was a West Point graduate and distinguished himself as a reorganizer of the military police in France after the war. Retiring from the army immediately after the war, he became receiver for a number of bankrupt New York state railroads.

The prohibition chief will devote himself to winding up the affairs of the bankrupt railroads, and later become offiliated with a nationally known corporation.

Andrews left Washington this afternoon for New York and tonight will sail for London in an effort to negotiate a new anti-rum smuggling agreement with great Britain.

During his incumbancy as prohibition chief, Andrews made a number of radical changes in government enforcement methods. He sought to remove prohibition appointments from politics, proposed that the government buy up all the existing whiskey and distribute it to the consumers, drafted an executive order conferring on state and city enforcement officers powers of the federal government, and brought about other changes which threw the politicians into a turmoil.

Before the senate committee investigating prohibition, he created a sensation by declaring that legalization of 2.75 per cent beer would make enforcement easier.

Andrews proposed a number of radical amendments to the Volstead Act which failed of passage in the last congress.

Two Appointments Made.

WASHINGTON, July 6. — John D. Pennington, a retired naval officer, was today appointed prohibition commissioner for the western district of Pennsylvania, succeeding E. R. Ray, who resigned after making charges that "influence" impeded his work.

At the same time, the treasury announced the appointment of Vincent Symington, an attorney in the prohibition bureau, as chief of intelligence.

2,400,000 Persons Directly Affected By Subway Strike

NEW YORK, July 6.—Motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit company went on strike today because of refusal of the company to grant them a raise in pay.

Motormen wanted $1 per hour; switchmen 75 cents per hour.

They had been getting; Motormen, first year, 69 cents per hour; second year, 75 cents; third year and thereafter, 82 cents. Switchmen, 58 cents first year; 61 cents second year and thereafter until promoted to motormen.

The number of passengers directly affected by the strike is estimated at 2,400,000. Hundreds of others were inconvenienced and delayed to work because these people used other means of transportation, crowding surface trains, "L" lines, busses and the other main subway line — the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, which there is no strike.

Transportation schedules on all lines were thrown into disorder.

New York Strike

Under normal conditions 2,400,000 habitually use the Interborough.

The huge throngs of workers used every means of conveyance to get to work. They took street cars, taxicabs, automobiles and busses and the "L" lines. Some even used bicycles. The other main subway, the Brooklyn-Manhattan transit, was running as usual but it was taxed far beyond capacity. Thousands of workers walked to their places of employment.

Thousands milled in confusion at the principal subway stations, unable to get on the few trains that were running on the Interborough line.

A drizzling rain fell during the morning, adding to the inconveniences of the thousands struggling to get to work.

Office routine was disrupted, as almost every employe in the city was late in getting to work, some of those who had to walk being several hours men and switchmen of the subway late.

Early reports were that 752 motor had responded 100 per cent to the strike call. Leaders of the union declared that the strike would spread. Some of them asserted that a total of 1,500 employes of the Interborough, including power-house men, station ors, had joined the ranks of the agents, porters, guards and conduct strikers.

The Interborough issued a statement saying that their line was in operation; that trains were being taken out by regular employes of the road; that only minor disturbances were reported.

Burial was made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Senate Committee Acts as J. M. Morin Ignores Summons

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The senate slush fund committee today ordered the sergeant-at-arms of the senate to "require the presence" of Representative John M. Morin, (R) of Pennsylvania at the senate hearings.

The order, tantamount to placing Morin under arrest, was issued after the congressman three times failed to respond to a committee subpoena.

"The sergeant-at-arms has been instructed to immediately require the presence of Congressman Morin," Senator King (D), of Utah acting chairman, announced. "If necessary, he will go to the home of Morin at Atlantic City and bring him here."

Homage Paid Jurist

"He was the noblest type of American manhood, self-reliant and self-made, incorruptible in public life and pure in private conduct.

"As a lawyer he was firm and uncompromising as an adversary, but was just and courteous to the bitterest opponent.

"Personal integrity, great kindness of heart, a wide human sympathy and a pure home life were virtues that all accorded him. As a lawyer he was among the best at the bar. He possessed the capacity to grasp a case and hold it in all its details. His perceptive faculties were well developed and during the course of a trial he could see a certain turn in a case before he reached it, and possessed the tact to meet an unfavorable circumstance and to turn it to his advantage. His powers of analysis were large, yet fully equalled by those of combination and construction.

"As a judge he was remarkably courteous to the members of the bar and seldom got out of temper. He was a just judge. He, like other judges, sometimes made a mistake as to the law, but his mistakes were those of the head and not of the heart.

"We, the members of the bar, are grief-stricken at the loss of our beloved judge.

"Resolved, that in the death of Judge Moore, the bar has lost an able member and the county has lost a just judge; that a copy of this memorial and resolution be spread upon the record of the common pleas court of Columbiana county, and a copy delivered to the brother and sisters of the deceased.

Spence Memorial.

The memorial upon the death of Mr. Spence follows:

"J. Frank Spence was born in Elkrun township, this county, December 15, 1858, the son of John and Luretta M. Spence. He was educated in the township schools, the schools at Lisbon, then New Lisbon, and later at Mt. Union college and Oberlin college. After the completion of his collegiate course he read law as a student in the offices of John and Harvey Morrison, then one of the more prominent law firms of this county. He was admitted to the bar and for some years practiced in East Liverpool and at Lisbon in association with his brother, the Hon. W. H. Spence.

"The profession of civil engineer, however, seemed to have more attraction for him than did the law and he soon turned his attention to that profession, following in the footsteps of his father, with whom he worked as a boy.

"While he always maintained his connection at the bar, and was a member in good standing at the time of his death, for many years past his time and energies were largely devoted to civil engineering and surveying. In this profession he attained and long held an enviable position. As a mining engineer perhaps no man in this section had a wider or more varied experience. The coal development about Lisbon and in the West Point field was almost entirely under his engineering supervision. The Y. & O. railroad constructed under his direction and over a route surveyed and recommended by him. His general engineering work took him into every township in the county and in each municipality in the county are one or more additions laid out and platted by him.

"He took particular delight in working upon and had a happy faculty for the successful solution of problems arising out of the platting of old surveys, the location of disputed property lines and the re-establishment of lost corner stones and monuments. Association with him in this class of work was particularly helpful, because of his understanding of legal principals involved.

"Politically he was a staunch and rugged Democrat, standing high in the party organization, and actively interested in all its political issues. It was his political misfortune, however, to live his entire life in a strongly Republican county, so that he never achieved, perhaps never seriously sought, political preferment.

"He had a wide personal acquaintance extending over this and adjoining counties. He knew more people perhaps than does the average man and was known by more than he knew. To meet him was a remember him. Interested in many subjects, he had his own opinion about them all. He loved to visit with his friends. Of anecdotes, pertinent, well told and to the point he had no end. Wit, humor, sarcasm, repartee, each seemed instantly and equally available to him to sustain or illustrate the point he sought to make. And points he did make and many heated discussions were ended in a laugh because of his —"that reminds me of a story—".

"He never married and for years lived with his brother, David, and his unmarried sisters on the farm where he died on the 28th of June this year.

This adjoins the farm on which he was born. His entire life was spent at practically the same place and with the same people. His intimate home life, known best and of course, appreciated most by his own family, is the best indication of his true character. Therein a kindly consideration and unswerving loyalty has been exhibited throughout a life of unfailing service to those with whom he lived—for himself no thought of personal success or achievement—for them comfort and happiness. And in this he did not fail. His people have lost a kindly brother, their loss the harder to bear because of the shock of the manner of his going; the county has lost a useful citizen; the members of the bar an associate and friend.

"On behalf of the bar of this county, this committee extends to the surviving brothers and sisters our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

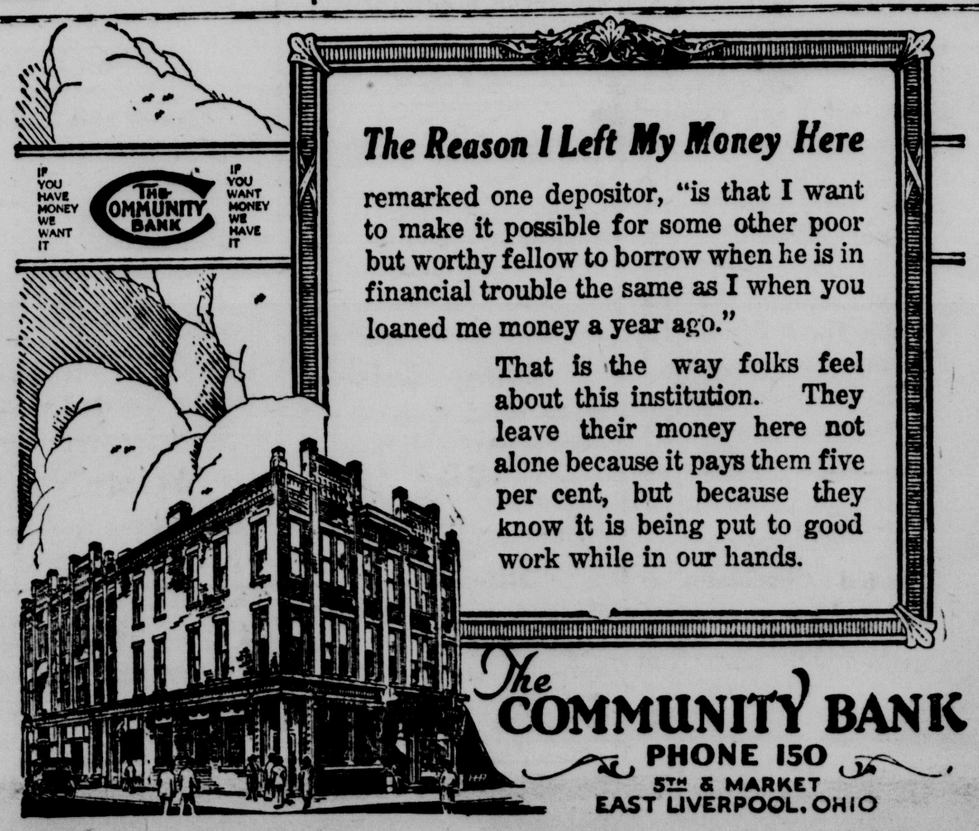

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.

S-51 WITH ITS CARGO OF DEAD ON WAY HOME

Resurrected Submarine is Being Towed to Brooklyn.

33 HEROES LOST

Nine Months' Battle With Sea is Not Yet Over.

ABOARD U. S. S. VESTAL, OFF NEW LONDON, CONN., July 6. — Resurrected submarine S-51 with its cargo of dead heroes was homeward bound today.

Raised from its muddy bier at the bottom of the sea off Block Island by an American naval engineering feat unprecedented in salvage history, the submarine was being towed toward Brooklyn navy yard where its grim story will be unsealed.

The gaping wound in her side bound tight with buoyant pontoons, the vessel cut down last September by a steamer with the loss of 33 of the submarine's crew was being nursed through Long Island sound on its voyage of 140 miles to the navy yard dry dock in New York.

To Run Hell Gate Gauntlet.

The nine months' old battle with the sea is not yet over as the towing of the submarine is fraught with danger. With the sea growing more choppy today under an increasing wind the popping of one or more of the supporting pontoons might send the recovered S-51 to the bottom again and perhaps work havoc amid the escorting fleet of vessels.

The towing fleet will face its greatest crisis other than stormy weather when it reaches Execution Rock opposite New Rochell, New York, where it will prepare to run the gauntlet of Hell Gate with its treacherous tide and turbulent water.

Before setting out on its slow journey, expected to consume 48-hours, the towing fleet anchored in shallow water off Point Judith, Conn., where through the night the towing bridles on the submarine were examined and the eight pontoons readjusted. The giant naval derrick United States, ready for an emergency, joined the fleet there.

Navy Reclaims Dead.

The navy is proud that it has won the desperate fight to reclaim its dead. When the sea foamed green bubbles and surrendered the submarine to the sunlight, a mighty cheer burst forth from the thousand men of the salvage fleet. Lieut-Commander Edward Ellsburg, construction expert, tossed his hat overboard in exultation when his months of labor was finally rewarded.

Chief Torpedo Man Jean Paradis, veteran diver and compression room expert, paid tribute to the heroism of the score of divers who risked their lives in the raising operation.

Paradis, according to officers, merits praise himself for pulling through many a dangerous case of "bends" and "groundhog's itch" among the divers. Paradis estimated that more than a thousand dives were made since the S-51 was sunk.

Strange Cortege.

Daybreak saw a strange cortege looming against the skyline. Moving imperceptibly at three knots an hour, an Indian file of naval vessels eased a stricken sister toward her haven of rest.

The motor ship Vestal led the procession with her masthead flying the international signal to clear traffic for a submerged wreck under tow. Next steamed the naval tugs Iuka and Sagamore, one behind the other, drawing the tow line to the floating tomb. Behind came the diving ship Falcon serving as buffer with a cable to the S-51's stern. A score of air lines ran from the Falcon to the hull and pontoons of the submarine.

Fate willing, the S-51 should be delivered into dry dock at the Brooklyn navy yard where it will be drained of water and its unexplored compartments entered. A score of bodies are expected to be found within. There is one body inextricable under water wedged into the machinery of the engine room it was revealed today by divers who were forced to creep of it.

Naval Diver in Hospital.

"The raising of the S-51 marks the first successful deep sea diving in submarine salvage work," said Paradis. The submarine was buried in 130 feet of water."

"Tug" Wilson, a naval diver in the hospital with appendicitis induced by the bends, glowed over the news of the submarine's raising. "I'm glad the boys did it but I'm sorry I missed seeing her come up," "Tug" said today.

The old "gobs" in the salvage fleet today attributed the success of the operation to the fact that Mother Carey's chickens were seen hovering over the wreck, they seldom being seen so close to shore.

Charles Jackson, Colored, is Given 30-day Jail Stay

Charles Jackson, colored, of Fairmont, W. Va., was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley, Monday morning, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny filed against him by the police.

Jackson was arrested by Patrolman Roth Saturday afternoon upon complaint of the manager of a Fifth street store. The manager told police he became suspicious when he saw the shopper slip several pieces of female lingerie into a paper shopping bag which he carried.

The manager followed the man into the street and held him until the arrival of the police. Nearly a dozen pieces of silk and satin undergarments were found in the bag, police said.

TODAY

Europe compete as single units, and we need units of at least equal size.

BELGIAN and French francs fell yesterday to a new low price for all time. The situation is most serious.

FRENCH statesmanship is in a dilemma. Unless the enormous gold reserve of France is used to steady the franc, it may fade away like the cat in "Alice in Wonderland." If the gold is used, France fears the metal will be sent out of the country, leaving France stripped of gold.

Nobody really knows anything about finance, and therefore France, one of the most industrious countries in the world, produces nobody with a plan to protect the national currency.

SALEM LAWYER ROTARY GUEST

H. M. McCarthy is Speaker at Noon Luncheon.

A patriotic address, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, by Attorney H. M. McCarthy, member of the law firm of Metzgar & McCarthy, Salem, was delivered at the noon luncheon meeting today of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A. McCarthy's subject was "Democracy."

Malcolm Thompson presided at the meeting, attended by about 40 members. The chorus singing was led by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist. Wilson F. Smith will be chairman of next week's meeting at which State Forester Edmund H. Seacrist, Wooster, will be the speaker.

McCarthy was introduced by Frederick W. Herche, Sixth street druggist.

"Almost every democracy in the world today is being rocked by internal trouble," he said. "Even in our own country there are rumblings which lead us to believe that this democracy, founded by our forefathers 150 years ago, is not as safe as it was at one time.

"Seven years have not passed since the last shot was fired in France to make the world safe for democracy. And yet the world is not safe for democracy and democracy is not safe for the world.

There can be no doubt as to the patriotism of the American people in time of war for they have been tried in fire and found to be true. Yet the American people are lacking in patriotism in times of peace. William McKinley, our martyred president, once said 'There is no class distinction in this country of ours.' Every man is born free and equal and each citizen is guaranteed equal protection under the laws of the land."

ped his car and arranged for the man's removal to the hospital, where he was attended by Dr. C. H. Bailey. McCormick's condition is not serious.

Mrs. White and her husband were traveling toward East Liverpool at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when their car is said to have been sideswiped by another automobile traveling in the opposite direction. The woman's head and right knee were cut by broken glass from the windshield. She was brought to the City hospital where her injuries were dressed by Dr. W. N. Gilmore. Other occupants in the two cars were unhurt.

Coupe Overturns Twice.

Brady Fetty, Dixonville, and Mrs. Ethel McKenzie, Broadway, narrowly escaped injury when Fetty's Chevrolet coupe, went over a 25-foot embankment, just south of Ross Meadows, on the Lincoln highway at 8:15 o'clock last night. Fetty claims the accident occurred when he was forced off the road by a large car.

The Fetty coupe overturned twice and landed on its side. Fetty and his companion, who were in the car when it came to a stop, were extricated through a window. Neither of them was seriously hurt. The coupe was pulled to the road by wrecking equipment from the Earl Grate garage at Stop 55.

Benjamin Marsh, who is said to be a member of the Allegheny county planning commission, Pittsburgh, escaped unhurt when his automobile was sideswiped by a car driven by Edward Keeper, West Ninth street, along the Wellsville-East Liverpool road just west of the corporate limits at 9:30 o'clock Sunday night.

Keeper was arrested by Captain Conley, charged with fast and reckless driving. He was later charged with intoxication. Upon arraignment before Judge Hanley Monday morning, he was fined $10 and costs upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon Keeper's promise that he would pay for the damages done to Marsh's car. Keeper said that he was blinded by the glaring headlights of another automobile in the road just in front of Marsh, who had stopped his car when the light globes burned out.

Crash West of Lisbon.

W. H. Taylor and wife, 613 Belmont avenue, Youngstown, were unhurt when their Star sedan, went over a steep embankment on the Lincoln highway, near the county home road, west of Lisbon, at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Taylor claims that he was blinded by the lights of another car. His sedan was towed to the Lincoln Highway garage, Lisbon.

A Columbia sedan, owned by Mrs. Rachael Smith, West Sixth street, this city, and driven by Victor Madel, who traveling south on the Salem-Lisbon road, collided with an Oldsmobile sedan, operated by Frank Rainiak, Salem, early Sunday evening. The Smith car was ditched at one side of the road. The Salem sedan lost a wheel and its left running board and fenders were damaged. No one was injured. The Smith car was driven back to East Liverpool under its own power, but the other was towed to a Salem garage for repairs.

sonable to believe that at the next session of congress consideration of the entire legislative program proposed by the treasury to strengthen enforcement will be completed."

"Most of the proposals have been favorably reported by their respective committees and given place in the calandars," the statement said.

To Sail for Europe.

Andrews was appointed April 1, 1925. He was a West Point graduate and distinguished himself as a reorganizer of the military police in France after the war. Retiring from the army immediately after the war, he became receiver for a number of bankrupt New York state railroads.

The prohibition chief will devote himself to winding up the affairs of the bankrupt railroads, and later become offiliated with a nationally known corporation.

Andrews left Washington this afternoon for New York and tonight will sail for London in an effort to negotiate a new anti-rum smuggling agreement with great Britain.

During his incumbancy as prohibition chief, Andrews made a number of radical changes in government enforcement methods. He sought to remove prohibition appointments from politics, proposed that the government buy up all the existing whiskey and distribute it to the consumers, drafted an executive order conferring on state and city enforcement officers powers of the federal government, and brought about other changes which threw the politicians into a turmoil.

Before the senate committee investigating prohibition, he created a sensation by declaring that legalization of 2.75 per cent beer would make enforcement easier.

Andrews proposed a number of radical amendments to the Volstead Act which failed of passage in the last congress.

Two Appointments Made.

WASHINGTON, July 6. — John D. Pennington, a retired naval officer, was today appointed prohibition commissioner for the western district of Pennsylvania, succeeding E. R. Ray, who resigned after making charges that "influence" impeded his work.

At the same time, the treasury announced the appointment of Vincent Symington, an attorney in the prohibition bureau, as chief of intelligence.

2,400,000 Persons Directly Affected By Subway Strike

NEW YORK, July 6.—Motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit company went on strike today because of refusal of the company to grant them a raise in pay.

Motormen wanted $1 per hour; switchmen 75 cents per hour.

They had been getting; Motormen, first year, 69 cents per hour; second year, 75 cents; third year and thereafter, 82 cents. Switchmen, 58 cents first year; 61 cents second year and thereafter until promoted to motormen.

The number of passengers directly affected by the strike is estimated at 2,400,000. Hundreds of others were inconvenienced and delayed to work because these people used other means of transportation, crowding surface trains, "L" lines, busses and the other main subway line — the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, which there is no strike.

Transportation schedules on all lines were thrown into disorder.

New York Strike

Under normal conditions 2,400,000 habitually use the Interborough.

The huge throngs of workers used every means of conveyance to get to work. They took street cars, taxicabs, automobiles and busses and the "L" lines. Some even used bicycles. The other main subway, the Brooklyn-Manhattan transit, was running as usual but it was taxed far beyond capacity. Thousands of workers walked to their places of employment.

Thousands milled in confusion at the principal subway stations, unable to get on the few trains that were running on the Interborough line.

A drizzling rain fell during the morning, adding to the inconveniences of the thousands struggling to get to work.

Office routine was disrupted, as almost every employe in the city was late in getting to work, some of those who had to walk being several hours men and switchmen of the subway late.

Early reports were that 752 motorhad responded 100 per cent to the strike call. Leaders of the union declared that the strike would spread. Some of them asserted that a total of 1,500 employes of the Interborough, including power-house men, stationors, had joined the ranks of the agents, porters, guards and conductstrikers.

The Interborough issued a statement saying that their line was in operation; that trains were being taken out by regular employes of the road; that only minor disturbances were reported.

Senate Committee Acts as J. M. Morin Ignores Summons

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The senate slush fund committee today ordered the sergeant-at-arms of the senate to "require the presence" of Representative John M. Morin, (R) of Pennsylvania at the senate hearings.

The order, tantamount to placing Morin under arrest, was issued after the congressman three times failed to respond to a committee subpoena.

"The sergeant-at-arms has been instructed to immediately require the presence of Congressman Morin," Senator King (D), of Utah acting chairman, announced. "If necessary, he will go to the home of Morin at Atlantic City and bring him here."

Homage Paid Jurist

"He was the noblest type of American manhood, self-reliant and self-made, incorruptible in public life and pure in private conduct.

"As a lawyer he was firm and uncompromising as an adversary, but was just and courteous to the bitterest opponent.

"Personal integrity, great kindness of heart, a wide human sympathy and a pure home life were virtues that all accorded him. As a lawyer he was among the best at the bar. He possessed the capacity to grasp a case and hold it in all its details. His perceptive faculties were well developed and during the course of a trial he could see a certain turn in a case before he reached it, and possessed the tact to meet an unfavorable circumstance and to turn it to his advantage. His powers of analysis were large, yet fully equalled by those of combination and construction.

"As a judge he was remarkably courteous to the members of the bar and seldom got out of temper. He was a just judge. He, like other judges, sometimes made a mistake as to the law, but his mistakes were those of the head and not of the heart.

"We, the members of the bar, are grief-stricken at the loss of our beloved judge.

"Resolved, that in the death of Judge Moore, the bar has lost an able member and the county has lost a just judge; that a copy of this memorial and resolution be spread upon the record of the common pleas court of Columbiana county, and a copy delivered to the brother and sisters of the deceased.

Spence Memorial.

The memorial upon the death of Mr. Spence follows:

"J. Frank Spence was born in Elkrun township, this county, December 15, 1858, the son of John and Luretta M. Spence. He was educated in the township schools, the schools at Lisbon, then New Lisbon, and later at Mt. Union college and Oberlin college. After the completion of his collegiate course he read law as a student in the offices of John and Harvey Morrison, then one of the more prominent law firms of this county. He was admitted to the bar and for some years practiced in East Liverpool and at Lisbon in association with his brother, the Hon. W. H. Spence.

"The profession of civil engineer, however, seemed to have more attraction for him than did the law and he soon turned his attention to that profession, following in the footsteps of his father, with whom he worked as a boy.

"While he always maintained his connection at the bar, and was a member in good standing at the time of his death, for many years past his time and energies were largely devoted to civil engineering and surveying. In this profession he attained and long held an enviable position. As a mining engineer perhaps no man in this section had a wider or more varied experience. The coal development about Lisbon and in the West Point field was almost entirely under his engineering supervision. The Y. & O. railroad constructed under his direction and over a route surveyed and recommended by him. His general engineering work took him into every township in the county and in each municipality in the county are one or more additions laid out and platted by him.

"He took particular delight in working upon and had a happy faculty for the successful solution of problems arising out of the platting of old surveys, the location of disputed property lines and the re-establishment of lost corner stones and monuments. Association with him in this class of work was particularly helpful, because of his understanding of legal principals involved.

"Politically he was a staunch and rugged Democrat, standing high in the party organization, and actively interested in all its political issues. It was his political misfortune, however, to live his entire life in a strongly Republican county, so that he never achieved, perhaps never seriously sought, political preferment.

"He had a wide personal acquaintance extending over this and adjoining counties. He knew more people perhaps than does the average man and was known by more than he knew. To meet him was a remember him. Interested in many subjects, he had his own opinion about them all. He loved to visit with his friends. Of anecdotes, pertinent, well told and to the point he had no end. Wit, humor, sarcasm, repartee, each seemed instantly and equally available to him to sustain or illustrate the point he sought to make. And points he did make and many heated discussions were ended in a laugh because of his —"that reminds me of a story—".

"He never married and for years lived with his brother, David, and his unmarried sisters on the farm where he died on the 28th of June this year.

This adjoins the farm on which he was born. His entire life was spent at practically the same place and with the same people. His intimate home life, known best and of course, appreciated most by his own family, is the best indication of his true character. Therein a kindly consideration and unswerving loyalty has been exhibited throughout a life of unfailing service to those with whom he lived—for himself no thought of personal success or achievement—for them comfort and happiness. And in this he did not fail. His people have lost a kindly brother, their loss the harder to bear because of the shock of the manner of his going; the county has lost a useful citizen; the members of the bar an associate and friend.

"On behalf of the bar of this county, this committee extends to the surviving brothers and sisters our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy.

REAL BUCKERS WITH 101 RANCH

Frontiersman Gets Goats of Many Daring Caballeros.

They brought one of the 101 Ranch frontiersmen to New York last year to lend atmospbere as a Texas Ranger to a Broadway hit. He brought back the line, "I'm the best damned caballero in all Mexico!" spoken in the play by a Mex grandee. So, that's the gag line among the three hundred Real Wild West and Great Far East, cowboys and cowgirls with 101 Ranch coming to Columbian park on Saturday, July 17, when one of their number gets "policed" by a pitching bronco. Above we see Silver Tip Baker fooling "Nose Dive," the black demon, and chagrinning the boys who, with Tex Cooper, were ready to chant, "I'm the best damned caballero in all Mexico!" There are 1,200 arena performers, counting the Indians and the Russian Cossack circus, with 101 and when they get a cowhand's goat, it's awful, especially as the 101 outlaw string of bronchos get the goats of many champions at each performance. The India rubber, high voltage, sky skimming bronchos have learned to somersault, you know.

JAM AND JELLY MAKING MADE EASY AND SURE

Today it is no more necessary for you to make your jams and jellies by the old, long-boil method than it is for you to light your house with candles or spend the morning washing lamp chimneys.

The reason for the old-fashioned method of "boiling fruit down" was that no fruit contains enough jelly-substance to jellify all of its juice. Therefore a large amount of juice had to be boiled away.

But now with Certo (the jellying substance of fruit refined and bottled) you can use any fruit you like—even one which has never jelled before—boil it only one or two minutes, and get a perfect tender "set."

This short boil with Certo saves all of your fruit and juice—its fresh flavor—its bright color—its bulk. You get half again more jam or jelly. It takes less time to make it and it tastes better, looks better and cannot fail to jell.

A recipe book comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. State Law Governing Granting of Teachers' Certificates Cited

Contrary to the view entertained by many who have planned to enter the County Normal school at Lisbon next fall, section 7832-2 of the general code of Ohio does not provide that two years of normal work is required before a teachers' certificate can be granted. In fact, such certificate is granted following one year study at the county normal. The section of the code under which such certificates are granted reads:

"The county board of school examiners shall grant elementary certificates valid for one year to graduates of first grade high schools, or those with equivalent preparation as determined by the director of education, who have completed in addition a one-year course approved by the director of education, and have proved such standards of attainment as he may prescribe. Such certificates may be renewed for periods of one year or three years, each upon conditions prescribed by the director of education."

Applications for entrance to the county normal next fall are now being received by County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard, and early indications are that the largest class ever registered will enter this school next September.

CLUBS WILL NOT EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Franklin township boys' sheep club and the boys' potato club of Fairfield township will not have exhibits at the county fair next September, it was announced today by County Agent Floyd Lower.

The Franklin township club members this season are going in for experience and not for prize purposes, but will stage an exhibit at Millport next fall, at which time prizes may be offered for the best stock by local interests.

Business men of Columbiana are backing the Fairfield township potato club this season, and all of the young growers will have exhibits at the Columbiana street fair, which is held the Saturday following the county fair. Prizes will be awarded all winners who show at this event as in former years.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

July meeting of the council of the village of Lisbon will be held in the office of Mayor Robert B. Clark this Tuesday evening. On account of Monday being observed as a holiday, and this being the regular night of meeting, the session was continued one day. Only routine business is to be considered at this session, although a report may be presented by the street committee having to do with the improvement of a number of unpaved streets.

STATE ENGINEER INSPECTS ROADS

W. C. Fawcett, locating engineer for the state highway department, has concluded journeys over the present and proposed routes of the new Lisbon-Clarkson road from Lisbon east and the Lisbon-Salineville road from Gavers south.

Both of these projects are to be taken care of under the recent $950,000 road bond issue, and early preliminary work on these roads is expected to begin this year, although the matter of actual construction will not be made a matter of record until next year.

The Lisbon-Clarkson road will connect east of Clarkson with the new East Liverpool - Youngstown road, which is now under construction.

Mr. Fawcett was former division engineer for the state highway department for this district, which several months ago was revised.

Active Glands Gave Napoleon Fighting Force

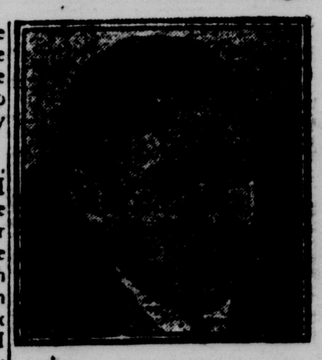

ACCORDING to a noted scientist, who has analyzed the action of the glands, Napoleon, one of the greatest fighters of all history, owed his courage and fighting force to large and extremely active adrenal glands.

Not only have the glands an important influence on the mind and character of the individual, but they also largely control health, energy and vitality, and it is by maintaining the normal functioning of the glands that we may combat sickness and ill health, according to eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

State Law Governing Granting of Teachers' Certificates Cited

Contrary to the view entertained by many who have planned to enter the County Normal school at Lisbon next fall, section 7832-2 of the general code of Ohio does not provide that two years of normal work is required before a teachers' certificate can be granted. In fact, such certificate is granted following one year study at the county normal. The section of the code under which such certificates are granted reads:

"The county board of school examiners shall grant elementary certificates valid for one year to graduates of first grade high schools, or those with equivalent preparation as determined by the director of education, who have completed in addition a one-year course approved by the director of education, and have proved such standards of attainment as he may prescribe. Such certificates may be renewed for periods of one year or three years, each upon conditions prescribed by the director of education."

Applications for entrance to the county normal next fall are now being received by County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard, and early indications are that the largest class ever registered will enter this school next September.

CLUBS WILL NOT EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Franklin township boys' sheep club and the boys' potato club of Fairfield township will not have exhibits at the county fair next September, it was announced today by County Agent Floyd Lower.

The Franklin township club members this season are going in for experience and not for prize purposes, but will stage an exhibit at Millport next fall, at which time prizes may be offered for the best stock by local interests.

Business men of Columbiana are backing the Fairfield township potato club this season, and all of the young growers will have exhibits at the Columbiana street fair, which is held the Saturday following the county fair. Prizes will be awarded all winners who show at this event as in former years.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

July meeting of the council of the village of Lisbon will be held in the office of Mayer Robert B Clark this Tuesday evening. On account of Monday being observed as a holiday, and this being the regular night of meeting, the session was continued one day. Only routine business is to be considered at this session, although a report may be presented by the street committee having to do with the improvement of a number of unpaved streets.

ARTHUR BRISBANE'S
famous daily editorial
"TODAY"

MEN AT THE HEAD of large affairs everywhere recognize day after day in Arthur Brisbane's forceful editorial utterances the reflection of experience gained at first hand in the realms of business and investment. Among the leaders of industry and finance who follow "TODAY" in more than one hundred newspapers are the men most aware of its author's great range of investment interests. This setting to work by Arthur Brisbane of the surplus of his large earnings in American enterprises and futures is only one expression of his faith in the ideals and institutions which make America the outstanding nation of the world. Its fullest expression is made in his brilliant and many-sided "TODAY," which appears daily in this newspaper. Readers enjoy and profit by this famous column, because it is a sure guide to a sound knowledge of America and a constant inspiration to the highest duties of citizenship.

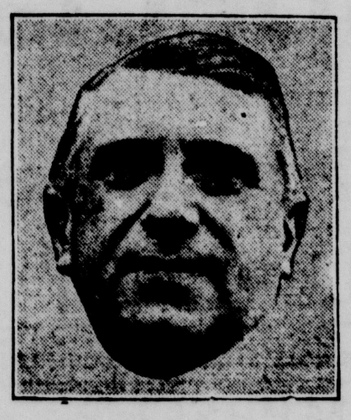

FORD

Everybody ought to read Arthur Brisbane's "To-day" column. He is a great writer, and with a news-gathering organization to supply him with material, he writes what I like to read.

HENRY FORD

SCHWAB

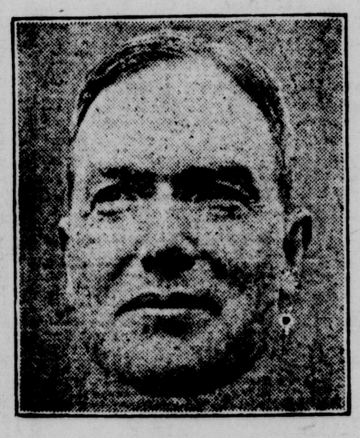

"We need more Brisbanes"

The breadth of imagination shown in his daily comment opens windows on the current parade of events which would pass unnoticed without his unique, human viewpoint.

Many, who may not agree with all of Arthur Brisbane's conclusions, read his daily column for the mental stimulus which comes from association with an active mind whose words seldom fail to leave a picture in the memory of the reader.

We need more Brisbanes, more men with the ability to see new thoughts in daily routine and old lessons in timely events.

ROCKEFELLER

"'TODAY' is one of the really unique features of American journalism."

I take great pleasure in saying that I regard Mr. Brisbane as one of the most brilliant of American journalists, and that, while, perhaps, I cannot agree with him in all his views, I feel that his purpose is constructive, his writings are always most interesting and suggestive, and his column "Today" is one of the really unique features of American journalism.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR.

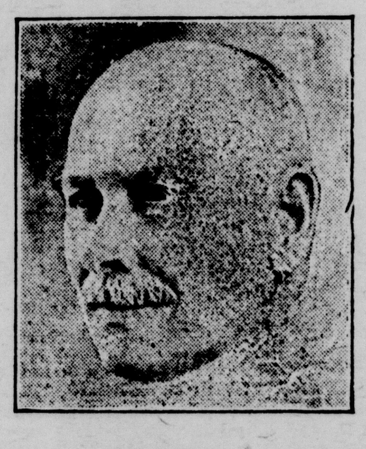

MELLON

"One of the important figures in this democratic form of government of ours."

The editor of a great daily paper exercises a tremendous influence, which carries with it commensurate responsibilities in helping to form an intelligent public opinion regarding the issues of the day. Mr. Brisbane's extraordinary facility for presenting even the most complicated subject in language that is clear and easily understood makes him one of the important figures in this democratic form of government of ours.

A. W. MELLON

GARY

"This instructive, fascinating column is a force and influence that is far-reaching"

I read regularly and with increasing interest Arthur Brisbane's column entitled "TODAY."

It contains a clear, comprehensive and condensed statement of current events. It briefly analyzes the daily discussions relating to the principal topics under consideration. It provides a fund of information, useful and valuable for every department of American life. It expresses opinions of the editor concerning religion, finance, commerce, education and politics, that are based on good authority or sound logic, or both, which are of decided advantage to every one interested in any of these topics.

Mr. Brisbane is or has been an omnivorous reader; probably both. He has a large, well-balanced brain that seems to be at work at least twelve or fifteen hours per day. This instructive, fascinating column is a force and influence that is far-reaching. It is not difficult to understand why Mr. Brisbane is the largest salaried man in the newspaper world.

like,' added Lou, hospitably. "There's plenty of gin."

The idea caught hold. There was a bustling about for hats and coats. Delia heard the guardedly caressing voice of Arthur Rockwell close in her ear. It appeared that he was sitting on the arm of her chair.

"I'm not going to let go of you, Delia, now that I've found you. Have you seen 'The Gondaliers?'"

Her head moved softly in the negative.

"Then we'll slip in there for the performance. I'll bring you around here afterward."

She glanced timidly about as if to consult Bee. Then the arresting thought came—a stirring thought—that she needn't consult her. Needn't consult anybody. Bee would be busy. And they all went cheerfully their own ways. She could, at least, follow every whim. So she murmured, "I'd love to.' And then, as a memory of Bee's dry little warning arose, nearly giggled right out.

Others appeared after the theater. A girl with straight red hair who, some one whispered, painted magazine covers. And an extraordinarily handsome and gay girl from the cast of "The Gondaliers" who after a few cocktails insisted on practicing dance steps which she executed prettily. It hadn't occurred to Delia before that there was a serious technique to that sort of thing. After one o'clock the singing and chatter subsided and the party settled back by twos in intimate whisperings. The couch was crowded. No couple appeared aware of the others. Delia found herself appropriated by Arthur. He took it casually for granted that she would respond to his quick interest in her. And she couldn't resist. It was odd and pleasantly stirring that she should wish to. Her spirit was floating dreamily through the experience. Arthur, close to her, suggested: "We'll have dinner together tomorrow. What do you say? I know a charming Italian place over in Bleecker street.' In a flutter she assqueisced. For this was Arthur Rockwell. She had one of his books in her suitcase. Timidly she asked if he would write his name in it, "Of course, child!" And added, "Drop in at my place about five-forty. The girls needn't know." That was true. They needn't know.

It was long after that when Lou, with her pleasant grin, took the floor. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, standing in the center of the room in the manner of one who addresses an audience, "but I have to be at my desk at nine o'clock and I'm going to bed right now."

And so, regretfully, by couples they looked about for their things. Leslie Perkins found the alarm clock in the bedroom and merrily set it off.

"For Heaven's sake!" cried Bee. "Do be quiet! Do you want us to be put out of the house?"

Then they went, in some confusion. The dancing girl had to be restrained from sliding down the bannisters.

Leslie Perkins stood with Lou in the doorway. "I'll lug Wilbur over to my place," he said, "if you'll call a taxi, Lou. His mother musn't see him like this. She'd be nagging him the rest of his life."

"No, don't bother. I'm going to keep him here for a few days."

"But my word! Honest, now—"

"Don't be silly, Less. The poor kid's going through the crisis of his life. And I'm responsigle. Got him on my hands. And take my word for it, it's a probem. But something simpy had to be done. He was cracking. Les. I nerved him up today"—she smiled—"to break with his mother."

"Well, I say, just how do you expect me to take this!"

"Sensibly."

"But keeping him here overnight!"

"Oh, Les, don't be Victorian! And you must go. Really."

"That's it! I have to go!"

"We'll talk it over tomorrow, dear. We've all had too much to drink tonight.'

"My head is prefectly clear."

"Then keep your voice down. You don't want us to be put out."

"You've never let me stay here."

"Of course not. When you've thought it over you'll see how different it is."

He took her in his arms. "Damn it, Lou, let's get married. Will you marry me?"

"You know that's out of the question."

"I don't know any such thing."

"You simply must be quiet." She reached behind her and drew the door to. "There are people trying to sleep here on this floor.'

Buy Balloon Tire, Use it as Extra, Says D. W. Blazy

Most automobile owners have the impression that they must buy a complete set of new tires to change from the high pressure tires to balloons. D. W. Blazy of 216 East 4th St., says this is not necessary. When you need a tire, buy a balloon tire and carry it as a spare. You can use it opposite a high-pressure tire in an emergency without inconvenience or hindrance in your driving. When it becomes time to use it regularly, buy another balloon and put the pair on the two rear wheels. Then you can start with the spare again until you have a pair of balloons on the front wheels, too. This method has been tried and found to be very satisfactory.

Blazy reports the result of a test which shows that Michelin balloons will cost the user less, per mile of service, than high-pressure tires. Michelin made the world's first display of balloons at the Paris auto salon in 1923.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

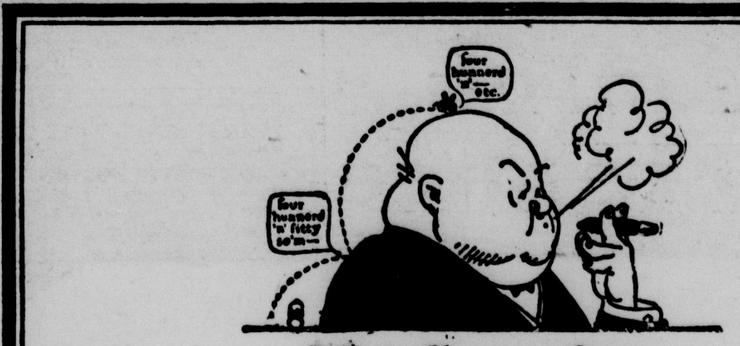

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of success. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the freedom-seeker, invites her to share their apartment-ment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. Before the first evening is well under way Delia has met Wilbur, a young artist who is suffering from "too much mother" and whom Lou has undertaken to rescue; and Leslie, intimate of Lou; and Aahhur Rockwell the poet whose work Delia knows and admires; and various others of the Village crowd. For there is a gay party in the little apartment.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

Brisk little Bee was the first to rise. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, "but I've got to get a bite of dinner and go to work."

"That's a thought!" cried Leslie. "If I drink one more cocktail there won't be but half a king in the show tonight. Why don't we have dinner together? Over at Salmi's."

BUT Flit will quickly put a stop to the fly's travels.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

A Scientific Insecticide

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

like,' added Lou, hospitably. "There's plenty of gin."

The idea caught hold. There was a bustling about for hats and coats. Delia heard the guardedly caressing voice of Arthur Rockwell close in her ear. It appeared that he was sitting on the arm of her chair.

"I'm not going to let go of you, Delia, now that I've found you. Have you seen 'The Gondaliers?'"

Her head moved softly in the negative.

"Then we'll slip in there for the performance. I'll bring you around here afterward."

She glanced timidly about as if to consult Bee. Then the arresting thought came—a stirring thought—that she needn't consult her. Needn't consult anybody. Bee would be busy. And they all went cheerfully their own ways. She could, at least, follow every whim. So she murmured, "I'd love to.' And then, as a memory of Bee's dry little warning arose, nearly giggled right out.

Others appeared after the theater. A girl with straight red hair who, some one whispered, painted magazine covers. And an extraordinarily handsome and gay girl from the cast of "The Gondaliers" who after a few cocktails insisted on practicing dance steps which she executed prettily. It hadn't occurred to Delia before that there was a serious technique to that sort of thing. After one o'clock the singing and chatter subsided and the party settled back by twos in intimate whisperings. The couch was crowded. No couple appeared aware of the others. Delia found herself appropriated by Arthur. He took it casually for granted that she would respond to his quick interest in her. And she couldn't resist. It was odd and pleasantly stirring that she should wish to. Her spirit was floating dreamily through the experience. Arthur, close to her, suggested: "We'll have dinner together tomorrow. What do you say? I know a charming Italian place over in Bleecker street.' In a flutter she asquiesced. For this was Arthur Rockwell. She had one of his books in her suitcase. Timidly she asked if he would write his name in it, "Of course, child!" And added, "Drop in at my place about five-forty. The girls needn't know." That was true. They needn't know.

It was long after that when Lou, with her pleasant grin, took the floor. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, standing in the center of the room in the manner of one who addresses an audience, "but I have to be at my desk at nine o'clock and I'm going to bed right now."

And so, regretfully, by couples they looked about for their things. Leslie Perkins found the alarm clock in the bedroom and merrily set it off.

"For Heaven's sake!" cried Bee. "Do be quiet! Do you want us to be put out of the house?"

Then they went, in some confusion. The dancing girl had to be restrained from sliding down the bannisters.

Leslie Perkins stood with Lou in the doorway. "I'll lug Wilbur over to my place," he said, "if you'll call a taxi, Lou. His mother musn't see him like this. She'd be nagging him the rest of his life."

"No, don't bother. I'm going to keep him here for a few days."

"But my word! Honest, now—"

"Don't be silly, Less. The poor kid's going through the crisis of his life. And I'm responsigle. Got him on my hands. And take my word for it, it's a probem. But something simpy had to be done. He was cracking. Les. I nerved him up today"—she smiled—"to break with his mother."

"Well, I say, just how do you expect me to take this!"

"Sensibly."

"But keeping him here overnight!"

"Oh, Les, don't be Victorian! And you must go. Really."

"That's it! I have to go!"

"We'll talk it over tomorrow, dear. We've all had too much to drink tonight.'

"My head is prefectly clear."

"Then keep your voice down. You don't want us to be put out."

"You've never let me stay here."

"Of course not. When you've thought it over you'll see how different it is."

He took her in his arms. "Damn it, Lou, let's get married. Will you marry me?"

"You know that's out of the question."

"I don't know any such thing."

"You simply must be quiet." She reached behind her and drew the door to. "There are people trying to sleep here on this floor."

Buy Balloon Tire, Use it as Extra, Says D. W. Blazy

Most automobile owners have the impression that they must buy a complete set of new tires to change from the high pressure tires to balloons. D. W. Blazy of 216 East 4th St., says this is not necessary. When you need a tire, buy a balloon tire and carry it as a spare. You can use it opposite a high-pressure tire in an emergency without inconvenience or hindrance in your driving. When it becomes time to use it regularly, buy another balloon and put the pair on the two rear wheels. Then you can start with the spare again until you have a pair of balloons on the front wheels, too. This method has been tried and found to be very satisfactory.

Blazy reports the result of a test which shows that Michelin balloons will cost the user less, per mile of service, than high-pressure tires. Michelin made the world's first display of balloons at the Paris auto salon in 1923.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of sucess. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the freedom-seeker, invites her to share their apartment-ment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. Before the first evening is well under way Delia has met Wilbur, a young artist who is suffering from "too much mother" and whom Lou has undertaken to rescue; and Leslie, intimate of Lou; and Aahhur Rockwell the poet whose work Delia knows and admires; and various others of the Village crowd. For there is a gay party in the little apartment.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

Brisk little Bee was the first to rise. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, "but I've got to get a bite of dinner and go to work."

"That's a thought!" cried Leslie. "If I drink one more cocktail there won't be but half a king in the show tonight. Why don't we have dinner together? Over at Salmi's."

FIVE WOMEN, TWO MEN TRAIN FOR ADVANCE ON ENGLISH CHANNEL

GERTRUDE EDERLE

The greatest advance on the tempting English channel in the history of swimming is to be made within the next few months. No less than five women are now in active training for attempts to paddle their way against wicked seas, cold water, chilling winds and heart-breaking tides from one side of the channel to the other. Two men have announced their intentions.

Those who have already announced their intentions of attempting the 20-mile swim this summer are:

GERTRUDE EDERLE.
MISS LILLIAN CANNON.
CLARIBELLE BARRETT.
MME. JEANNE SION.
MISS MILLE GADE.
SHAK HELMY.
W. C. JACKSON.

All But Two Yanks.

Of these all but Mme. Sion and Helmy are Americans. Mme. Sion is a French swimmer. Helmy is a giant Egyptian who helped Miss Ederle train for her attempt last season.

The effort of Miss Ederle looms up as the most interesting. It will be her second effort. The American girl swam to within a few miles of the British coast from Cape Griz-Nez, France, last summer. It was announced when her attempt failed that her trainer, Jabez Wolffe, ordered her lifted into the boat when she appeared nauseated by the salt water and cold. Miss Ederle later stated that she was not ready to give up the struggle. Miss Ederle had trained diligently for the attempt.

Revises Plans

Her start was postponed for a time due to unusually rough weather. In her training she took on some added poundage as resistance against the biting cold of the water, which rarely rises above fifty degrees. This year she is adding more weight. This would indicate that she has revised her plan of attack. Five men have swam the channel. All were sturdy, chunky fellows, large barrelled and with plenty of warm fat about their torso and legs. Their time for the feat was slow, they depending upon main strength and endurance, rather than speed.

Miss Ederle last year hoped to triumph mainly through speed. Gauging her endurance she believed that with her speed she could "beat the tide," swimming with it the second half of the journey and reaching her destination before the tide turned against her. She was cautioned repeatedly at the start for her desire to "sprint" in her efforts to cut down the time.

This year she will take a steadier pace, under the watchful eye of William Burgess, a conqueror of the channel years ago.

Baltimore Lass to Try.

Miss Cannon, a Baltimore maid, is also training at Camp Griz-Nez, Miss Ederle's camp. Miss Cannon attracted attention last summer when she swam the 22 miles across Chesapeake Bay in the remarkable time of 11 hours. She is 23.

Mme. Sion attempted to swim last year. She swam to within a mile and a half of the British shore from the continent and was then forced to give up. She had been in the water 13 hours and 15 minutes.

Millie Gade, who in private life is Mrs. Clemington Corson, has won nation-wide attention through her feat in swimming the Hudson and in other endurance events.

Miss Barrett, a teacher of swimming in the James Monron High school in New York city, has won much fame as a long distance swimmer and holds many medals for such feats.

Jackson Latest Aspirant.

W. O. Jackson, the latest announced aspirant for the honor of swimming the cnannel, is the chap who recently swam from Mobile, Ala., to Sand Point, off Fort Morgan, at the mouth of Mobile bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours, 9 minutes. His swim is believed to be the longest ever achieved in salt water in America.

Helmy is perhaps the most picturesque aspirant. This husky stands six feet, three inches tall. He weighs 240 pounds. He is large about the waist and hopes to remain that way until after the swim—because the fat will help him fight the cold.

Helmy trained with Miss Ederle last summer and planned to attempt the swim late that season but didn't.

It'll be a wise lighthouse keeper who knows a channel swimmer from an unlucky bather this summer.

Chester, Laughlin Win Final Games and Tie for League Lead

Riley Nine Hammers Four K.T.K. Pitchers

Wilde Fans 10 Pottery Club Batters and Laces Out Three Hits in Four Times up, Including Homer With One on in Fifth.

HITTING four pitchers that were sent into the breach, Chester defeated K. T. K. in the necessary play-off contest between the two clubs at Columbian park Saturday afternoon by the score of 12 to 0.

Wilde fanned ten men and had three hits in four times up. He hit a home run with P. Cebula on in the fifth when his team had five bingles that netted four runs.

Evans also swatted at a .750 clip with three singles in four tries.

Accordingly the victory, with the two which Laughlin annexed off Victory Motor places both Chester and Laughlin at the top with 14 wins and six losses each for a mark of .700.

Both clubs, following mutual arrangements coincided upon by league officials, will play the tie off at the earliest possible date.

Mahoning Valley Country Club to Entertain Hagen

YOUNGSTOWN, July 3.—Walter Hagen, greatest of all professional golfers, will appear here in an exhibition match this month, if plans of the Mahoning Valley Country club officials materialize.

They are in communication with Hagen and expect to secure his acceptance this week. The date has not been definitely settled upon until Hagen gives his answer.

The suggestion has been made that Hagen be paired with Oscar Deibel, the Valley veterans, against Tom Rackletts, Valley professional, and Christy Deibel, Youngstown Country club star.

Hagen, debonair hero of countless tournaments, is easily the most popular of all the professionals and his visit will attract keen interest here.

If it can be arranged, Hagen will come here immediately upon his return from England.

BILLY MEWHA RACE WINNER

Negotiates 50-mile Event in One Hour, 19 Minutes.

DRIVING a Rajo Special, William "Billy" Mewha, of Wellsburg, former Chester youth, won the half-century auto race yesterday afternoon at the Lisbon Fairgrounds, negotiating tne 100 laps in 79 minutes. He drove a steady race from the outset and was fortunate to go through without any engine or tire trouble.

Charles F. Green, of Steubenville, who also drove a Rajo Special, finished second in 89 minutes and Jack Martin of Massillon, who got away to a flying start but who had to go to the pit four times, was third. His time was one hour and 44 minutes.

Eight drivers qualified for the event but only the three finished.

Over 3,000 persons saw the race which was marred by only two accidents.

On the last turn of the first lap, E. Watson, of East Liverpool, lost control of his Buick racer and went through the outside fence, headed for the old floral hall building. His car gave a lurch as it was rounding the east turn, jumped up over the embankment and tore away about 40 feet of the fence. While Watson escaped injury, his car was so badly jammed that it could not again be placed on the track.

While Frank Klier of Weirton, driving a Hudson, named the "Weirton Wonder," was rounding the west curce of the track, beginning his 55th. lap, he tore through the inside fence about the spot where machines enter the oval during fair time. Splinters of lumber flew into the air, and Decker, sitting low in his car, escaped any injury as his car struck the fence, turned around and headed back on the track dead. A car was run to the spot from the judges stand and pulled from the track back into the oval.

Unusual bursts of speed was shown by Martin who was driving a "Princess Pat" special. Every time Martin went on the track after coming out of the pit he gained lap after lap on his lost record, and when Mewha was given the flag at the end of the race Martin was then only 10 laps behind him.

During the first 24 laps in the race the drivers held a neck and neck record. Gradually, however one after the other showed car trouble and the process of self elimination followed.

City League Rivals Will Battle Tomorrow At Patterson Field For First Half Title

Crucial Contest to be Waged on Neutral Diamond, Beginning at 5:45; Will go Seven Innings.

THE real classic of the district baseball season to date is scheduled for tomorrow evening at Patterson Field when Chester and Laughlin, finishing the regular schedule in a dead heat, will battle for the position that insures a place in the "baby world's series" at the cose of the 1926 campaign.

The rivals will clash in a seven-inning regulation contest, beginning at 5:45 o'clock.

Patterson Field was selected as the site for the event because of its neutrality. In addition, as the most centrally located diamond in the league, it possesses advantages from the spectators' standpoint.

Laughlin, after a day or so in second place, jumped to an equal footing with Chester by winning two games Saturday from Victory Motors.

Chester held its ground by taking over K. T. K.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON, Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The actions of the wrists makes or mars the golf shot. I believe that correct wrist action is by far the most important phase of the golf swing and the action most to be studied. The wrists so greatly control the good shot that the expert golfer is invariably heard to caution the learning player to "put the wrists into it." The big obstacle, however, is that most players get the wrist action in at the wrong time, or, worse, they have too much wrist action. "Putting the wrists into it" does not imply that the entire club action is to be governed by the wrists. Peculiarly enough, the right wrist action is a somewhat delayed action against the club. In subsequent discussions I will try to show you just what the wrists do, when they do it and where.

THE WRISTS GREATLY CONTROL THE GOOD SHOT.

Jackson Called Off Mound in Third as Stork Makes Visit

The wily stork probably was a factor, to some extent, in deciding the first half pennant of the City Industrial league.

While "Hap" Jackson, who elected himself to hold Chester, was concluding the third inning of Saturday's contest at Columbian park, he had to quit to greet the arrival of an eight-pound daughter in his home which swelled his total posterity to six children.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

DESPITE excellent pitching by Shawkey, the Yanks lost to the Athletics, 2 to 1, as Lefty Grove fanned 12, because of Koenig's errors. Ward replaced Koenig in the nightcap, but the A's were seeing red and won again.

Johnson and Marberry pitched the Red Sox to death, 7 to 4 and 3 to 2, and the Senators climbed to fifth place. It was the first time this season that Marberry had started a game.

Vangilder and Zachary officiated at Detroit's double funeral, the Browns winning both games by scores of 4 to 3 and 6 to 3. In the second game the Browns scored all their runs in one inning.

Leyson, of Cleveland, won a 4 to 2 decision over Lyons of the White Sox, but Al Thomas of the pale hose blanked the Indians in the second game, 8 to 0, when the Sox knocked Buckeye and Benge silly.

The Reds kept their lead over the Pirates intact by splitting a double-header with the Cardinals. Pete Donohue applied an artistic coat of whitewash to the Cardinals in the opener, 4 to 0, but a homer by Southworth enabled Jess Haines to hang up a 7 to 5 victory in the nightcap.

After beating the Cubs 4 to 1 with Songer in the box, the Pirates lost a 10 to 7 slugfest in which Adams and Hack Wilson got nine of Chicago's 13 hits.

The spirit of '76 triumphed in New York when Carlson and Mitchell, the venerable Quaker, starred in a double victory over the Giants, 6 to 3, and 5 to 4. Greenfield and Barnes were driven from the box.

The Braves gained a clear title to last place by losing the second game of a double header to Brooklyn, 14 to 5. They beat Jess Petty in the first game, 5 to 4. Babe Herman collected seven hits during the day.

New York A. C. Figured to Capture Team Trophy In All-Around Test

Hollywood A. C., Yesterday's Point Winners, Expected to be Outdistanced by Eastern Combine.

By Davis J. Walsh.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Strategically placed for the final sortie against the title, the New York A. C. seemed destined to fall heir to the team trophy today when the national championships in track and field were to sponsor an all-around test and a series of relays, and call it a meeting. The all-star cast of the Hollywood A. C. scored most of the points and furnished most of the records in yesterday's games but the coast entry, having made this gesture, was thereupon all over and done with.

It hadn't a nominee today for any of the relay championships at 44 yards, 880 yards, one mile, two miles, and four miles, while the New York outfit not only was down on the books with a starter at each distance but was favored to win most, if not all the races. You get the answer to this by adding two and two.

But regardless of what happens, it will be a large and a spacious day. It was due to start at 10 o'clock this morning when the field was to be called for the 110-meter hurdles, opening event of the decathlon program. The boys guarantee to finish before midnight or they won't claim the marble.

Harold Osborne, the 1925 champion and world's record holder, will not be among those present, unfortunately or otherwise, but the field was far from unprepossessing. Among those scheduled to go to the post were S. Harrison Thompson, a former champion; Emerson Norton, runner-up to Osborne at the Paris Olympics; Cliff Hoffman, of the Olympic club, San Francisco; Tom Plansky, of Georgetown, and Edward Miller and Verne McDermott, of the Los Angeles A. C.

Question Norton's Form

There also were a few long shots in the field, including Charley Rogers, the Pennsylvania football man; Albert Rogan, of the Boston A. A., Dona D. Foote, the Baltimore policeman and Nathan Klein of the Emerywood A. C.

If the young man can claim the form he knew at Paris in 1924, Norton will win going away. However, it was a moot point whether Norton was the same man who forced Osborne to break a world's record to win the Olympic title. He probably won't have to be that good today.

Plansky, Hoffman and Thompson figured to be the men he had to beat and none of them are in Osborne's class as all around competitors. Another detail made it look like Norton's title was the fact that the decathlon program happens to be right down his alley.

The list of events includes the 110-meter hurdles, the 1500 meter run, the running broad jump, the 100-meter dash, the 400-meter run, the running high jump, shotput, discus, pole vault and javelin.

Norton probably will give only one really sour performance in the list, and that the 1500-meter run.

On the other hand he was good for several inches more in the high jump, twelve or better in the pole vault, at least 19 in the broad jump and twelve feet or better in weight events.

Swimming Feat Prompts Him to Attempt Channel

W. C. Jackson, 28 years old, of Mobile and Flomaton, Ala., swam from Mobile to Sand Island off Fort Morgan at the mouth of Mobile Bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours and 9 minutes, Jackson is now planning to attempt to swim the English channel.

Laughlin Lands Two From Victory Motor

Awarded Opening Tilt by Forfeit Route But go Out and Club in 11 to 7 Conquest in Wind-up With Suder on Slab; Several Players Missing.

LAUGHLIN took two City Industrial games from Victory Motors in the double header event at Newell, W. Va., Saturday afternoon, the first being forfeited, 9 to 0, and the second won, 11 to 7.

Because many of their regular men are away on their holiday vacations Victory Motor had not sufficient players to fill the nine positions at the time for beginning play. Umpire McKernan accordingly forfeited the contest.

Until the players would arrive an exhibition game was begun which was called the moment the Victory Motor absentees arrived on the field and the second contest begun. This was done so as to dodge threatened rain.

Suder pitched for Laughlin and struck out seven men. He had the additional record of fanning the first four men that faced him in the first inning and one batter of the second in the exhibition contest which made 11 for the day.

Baker pitched three and W. Mundy four innings for the Victory Motor. The latter swatted at a .750 clip with a double, single and a home run in four attempts.

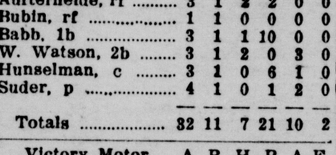

V. Bailey had to catch for his team. He threw well to bases, but missed a couple of third strikes. Numerous boots and wild throws swelled the losers' error column. They rallied in the seventh and scored five runs on a hit player, four safe hits and an error.

LIMBER UP FOR NATIONAL OPEN

Pro-amateur Stars in Best Ball Foursome at Scioto.

COLUMBUS, O., July 6.—Team best ball foursome match is scheduled to take place over the golf course of the Scioto Country club near here this afternoon. Contestants will comprise 24 of the best professionals and amateurs numbering among the approximately 150 players who will participate in the three day national open golf championship tournament which starts Thursday on the Scioto course.

The contestants in this afternoon's team match include 12 pros and a dozen amateurs tentatively lined up as follows:

First foursome—Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn against Willie MacFarlane and Water Hagen.

Second Foursome—Max Marston and George Von Elm against Macdonald Smith and Harry Cooper.

Third foursome—Chick Evans and D. Clarke Cochrane against Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel.

Fourth foursome—Roland Mackenzie and Keefe Carter against Al. Watrous and Bill Mehlhorn.

Fifth Foursome—Harrison Johnson and Densmore Shute against Bobby Cruikshank and Jock Hutchinson.

Sixth foursome—Eddie Held and Clarence Wolff against Gene Sarazen and Willie Hunter.

The match is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time.

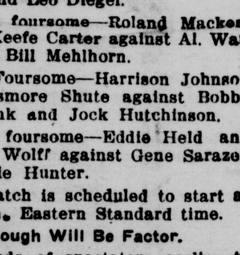

Rough Will Be Factor.

Hundreds of spectators earlier in the day watched the experts participate in practice rounds on the Scioto course. Dozens of pros and amateurs went through their paces, many experiencing considerable trouble with the rough. Some professionals were forced to pick up several times during a round because of the shaggy rough.

Professionals and amateurs join in the frank admission that the rough, in all probability, will be a potent factor in determining the championship winner. Most predictions are that at the least 292 will be needed to win it. One professional voiced belief that "297 or 298 might win it."

Players who will take part in the tourney will spend today and Wednesday limbering up on the course.

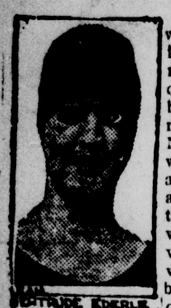

Spectators at this afternoon's team match will be asked to donate $1 each to the benevolent fund of the Professional Golfers' association.

FIVE WOMEN, TWO MEN TRAIN FOR ADVANCE ON ENGLISH CHANNEL

GERTRUDE EDERLE

The greatest advance on the tempting English channel in the history of swimming is to be made within the next few months. No less than five women are now in active training for attempts to paddle their way against wicked seas, cold water, chilling winds and heart-breaking tides from one side of the channel to the other. Two men have announced their intentions.

Those who have already announced their intentions of attempting the 20-mile swim this summer are:

GERTRUDE EDERLE.
MISS LILLIAN CANNON.
CLARIBELLE BARRETT.
MME. JEANNE SION.
MISS MILLE GADE.
SHAK HELMY.
W. C. JACKSON.

All But Two Yanks.

Of these all but Mme. Sion and Helmy are Americans. Mme. Sion is a French swimmer. Helmy is a giant Egyptian who helped Miss Ederle train for her attempt last season.

The effort of Miss Ederle looms up as the most interesting. It will be her second effort. The American girl swam to within a few miles of the British coast from Cape Griz-Nez, France, last summer. It was announced when her attempt failed that her trainer, Jabez Wolffe, ordered her lifted into the boat when she appeared nauseated by the salt water and cold. Miss Ederle later stated that she was not ready to give up the struggle. Miss Ederle had trained diligently for the attempt.

Revises Plans

Her start was postponed for a time due to unusually rough weather. In her training she took on some added poundage as resistance against the biting cold of the water, which rarely rises above fifty degrees. This year she is adding more weight. This would indicate that she has revised her plan of attack. Five men have swam the channel. All were sturdy, chunky fellows, large barrelled and with plenty of warm fat about their torso and legs. Their time for the feat was slow, they depending upon main strength and endurance, rather than speed.

Miss Ederle last year hoped to triumph mainly through speed. Gauging her endurance she believed that with her speed she could "beat the tide," swimming with it the second half of the journey and reaching her destination before the tide turned against her. She was cautioned repeatedly at the start for her desire to "sprint" in her efforts to cut down the time.

This year she will take a steadier pace, under the watchful eye of William Burgess, a conqueror of the channel years ago.

Baltimore Lass to Try.

Miss Cannon, a Baltimore maid, is also training at Camp Griz-Nez, Miss Ederle's camp. Miss Cannon attracted attention last summer when she swam the 22 miles across Chesapeake Bay in the remarkable time of 11 hours. She is 23.

Mme. Sion attempted to swim last year. She swam to within a mile and a half of the British shore from the continent and was then forced to give up. She had been in the water 13 hours and 15 minutes.

Mille Gade, who in private life is Mrs. Clemington Corson, has won nation-wide attention through her feat in swimming the Hudson and in other endurance events.

Miss Barrett, a teacher of swimming in the James Monron High school in New York city, has won much fame as a long distance swimmer and holds many medals for such feats.

Jackson Latest Aspirant.

W. O. Jackson, the latest announced aspirant for the honor of swimming the cnannel, is the chap who recently swam from Mobile, Ala., to Sand Point, off Fort Morgan, at the mouth of Mobile bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours, 9 minutes. His swim is believed to be the longest ever achieved in salt water in America.

Helmy is perhaps the most picturesque aspirant. This husky stands six feet, three inches tall. He weighs 240 pounds. He is large about the waist and hopes to remain that way until after the swim—because the fat will help him fight the cold.

Helmy trained with Miss Ederle last summer and planned to attempt the swim late that season but didn't.

It'll be a wise lighthouse keeper who knows a channel swimmer from an unlucky bather this summer.

Charles F. Green, of Steubenville, who also drove a Rajo Special, finished second in 89 minutes and Jack Martin of Massillon, who got away to a flying start but who had to go to the pit four times, was third. His time was one hour and 44 minutes.

Eight drivers qualified for the event but only the three finished.

Over 3,000 persons saw the race which was marred by only two accidents.

On the last turn of the first lap, E. Watson, of East Liverpool, lost control of his Buick racer and went through the outside fence, headed for the old floral hall building. His car gave a lurch as it was rounding the east turn, jumped up over the embankment and tore away about 40 feet of the fence. While Watson escaped injury, his car was so badly jammed that it could not again be placed on the track.

While Frank Klier of Weirton, driving a Hudson, named the "Weirton Wonder," was rounding the west curce of the track, beginning his 55th. lap, he tore through the inside fence about the spot where machines enter the oval during fair time. Splinters of lumber flew into the air, and Decker, sitting low in his car, escaped any injury as his car struck the fence, turned around and headed back on the track dead. A car was run to the spot from the judges stand and pulled from the track back into the oval.

Unusual bursts of speed was shown by Martin who was driving a "Princess Pat" special. Every time Martin went on the track after coming out of the pit he gained lap after lap on his lost record, and when Mewha was given the flag at the end of the race Martin was then only 10 laps behind him.

During the first 24 laps in the race the drivers held a neck and neck record. Gradually, however one after the other showed car trouble and the process of self elimination followed.

City League Rivals Will Battle Tomorrow At Patterson Field For First Half Title

Crucial Contest to be Waged on Neutral Diamond, Beginning at 5:45; Will go Seven Innings.

THE real classic of the district baseball season to date is scheduled for tomorrow evening at Patterson Field when Chester and Laughlin, finishing the regular schedule in a dead heat, will battle for the position that insures a place in the "baby world's series" at the cose of the 1926 campaign.

The rivals will clash in a seven-inning regulation contest, beginning at 5:45 o'clock.

Patterson Field was selected as the site for the event because of its neutrality. In addition, as the most centrally located diamond in the league, it possesses advantages from the spectators' standpoint.

Laughlin, after a day or so in second place, jumped to an equal footing with Chester by winning two games Saturday from Victory Motors.

Chester held its ground by taking over K. T. K.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON, Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The actions of the wrists makes or mars the golf shot. I believe that correct wrist action is by far the most important phase of the golf swing and the action most to be studied. The wrists so greatly control the good shot that the expert golfer is invariably heard to caution the learning player to "put the wrists into it." The big obstacle, however, is that most players get the wrist action in it the wrong time, or, worse, they have too much wrist action. "Putting the wrists into it" does not imply that the entire club action is to be governed by the wrists. Peculiarly enough, the right wrist action is a somewhat delayed action against the club. In subsequent discussions I will try to show you just what the wrists do, when they do it and where.

THE WRISTS GREATLY CONTROL THE GOOD SHOT.

Jackson Called Off Mcund in Third as Stork Makes Visit

The wily stork probably was a factor, to some extent, in deciding the first half pennant of the City Industrial league.

While "Hap" Jackson, who elected himself to hold Chester, was concluding the third inning of Saturday's contest at Columbian park, he had to quit to greet the arrival of an eight-pound daughter in his home which swelled his total posterity to six children.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

DESPITE excellent pitching by Shawkey, the Yanks lost to the Athletics, 2 to 1, as Lefty Grove fanned 12, because of Koenig's errors. Ward replaced Koenig in the nightcap, but the A's were seeing red and won again.

Johnson and Marberry pitched the Red Sox to death, 7 to 4 and 3 to 2, and the Senators climbed to fifth place. It was the first time this season that Marberry had started a game.

Vangilder and Zachary officiated at Detroit's double funeral, the Browns winning both games by scores of 4 to 3 and 5 to 3. In the second game the Browns scored all their runs in one inning.

Levson, of Cleveland, won a 4 to 2 decision over Lyons of the White Sox, but Al Thomas of the pale hose blanked the Indians in the second game, 8 to 0, when the Sox knocked Buckeye and Benge silly.

The Reds kept their lead over the Pirates intact by splitting a double-header with the Cardinals. Pete Donohue applied an artistic coat of whitewash to the Cardinals in the opener, 4 to 0, but a homer by Southworth enabled Jess Haines to hang up a 7 to 5 victory in the nightcap.

After beating the Cubs 4 to 1 with Songer in the box, the Pirates lost a 10 to 7 slugfest in which Adams and Hack Wilson got nine of Chicago's 13 hits.

The spirit of '76 triumphed in New York when Carlson and Mitchell, the venerable Quaker, starred in a double victory over the Giants, 6 to 3, and 5 to 4. Greenfield and Barnes were driven from the box.

The Braves gained a clear title to last place by losing the second game of a double header to Brooklyn, 14 to 5. They beat Jess Petty in the first game, 5 to 4. Babe Herman collected seven hits during the day.

New York A. C. Figured to Capture Team Trophy In All-Around Test

Hollywood A. C., Yesterday's Point Winners, Expected to be Outdistanced by Eastern Combine.

By Davis J. Walsh.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Strategically placed for the final sortie against the title, the New York A. C. seemed destined to fall heir to the team trophy today when the national championships in track and field were to sponsor an all-around test and a series of relays, and call it a meeting. The all-star cast of the Hollywood A. C. scored most of the points and furnished most of the records in yesterday's games but the coast entry, having made this gesture, was thereupon all over and done with.

It hadn't a nominee today for any of the relay championships at 44 yards, 880 yards, one mile, two miles, and four miles, while the New York outfit not only was down on the books with a starter at each distance but was favored to win most, if not all the races. You get the answer to this by adding two and two.

But regardless of what happens, it will be a large and a spacious day. It was due to start at 10 o'clock this morning when the field was to be called for the 110-meter hurdles, opening event of the decathlon program. The boys guarantee to finish before midnight or they won't claim the marble.

Harold Osborne, the 1925 champion and world's record holder, will not be among those present, unfortunately or otherwise, but the field was far from unprepossessing. Among those scheduled to go to the post were S. Harrison Thompson, a former champion; Emerson Norton, runner-up to Osborne at the Paris Olympics; Cliff Hoffman, of the Olympic club, San Francisco; Tom Plansky, of Georgetown, and Edward Miller and Verne McDermott, of the Los Angeles A. C.

Question Norton's Form

There also were a few long shots in the field, including Charley Rogers, the Pennsylvania football man; Albert Rogan, of the Boston A. A., Dona D. Foote, the Baltimore policeman and Nathan Klein of the Emerywood A. C.

If the young man can claim the form he knew at Paris in 1924, Norton will win going away. However, it was a moot point whether Norton was the same man who forced Osborne to break a world's record to win the Olympic title. He probably won't have to be that good today.

Plansky, Hoffman and Thompson figured to be the men he had to beat and none of them are in Osborne's class as all around competitors. Another detail made it look like Norton's title was the fact that the decathlon program happens to be right down his alley.

The list of events includes the 110-meter hurdles, the 1500 meter run, the running broad jump, the 100-meter dash, the 400-meter run, the running high jump, shotput, discus, pole vault and javelin.

Norton probably will give only one really sour performance in the list, and that the 1500-meter run.

On the other hand he was good for several inches more in the high jump, twelve or better in the pole vault, at least 19 in the broad jump and twelve feet or better in weight events.

Swimming Feat Prompts Him to Attempt Channel

W. C. Jackson, 28 years old, of Mobile and Flomaton, Ala., swam from Mobile to Sand Island off Fort Morgan at the mouth of Mobile Bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours and 9 minutes, Jackson is now planning to attempt to swim the English channel.

Fight Results

AT CLEVELAND — Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, outpointed Ted Blatt, of Chicago, in a 10-round go.

Floyd Hyber, Buffalo, middleweight, knocked out Rapid Waters, Kentucky, in the second round.

AT JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—Osk Till, Rochester, N. Y., middleweight, beat Augie Ratner, New York, 10 rounds.

AT WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — Yale Okun, New York heavyweight, won from Ray Fay, Pittsburgh, 10 rounds.

AT TAMPA, FLA.—Hilario Martinez, Spanish lightweight champion, drew with Frankie Osner, Tulsa, Okla., 10 rounds.

Laughlin Lands Two From Victory Motor

Awarded Opening Tilt by Forfeit Route But go Out and Club in 11 to 7 Conquest in Wind-up With Suder on Slab; Several Players Missing.

LAUGHLIN took two City Industrial games from Victory Motors in the double header event at Newell, W. Va., Saturday afternoon, the first being forfeited, 9 to 0, and the second won, 11 to 7.

Because many of their regular men are away on their holiday vacations Victory Motor had not sufficient players to fill the nine positions at the time for beginning play. Umpire McKernan accordingly forfeited the contest.

Until the players would arrive an exhibition game was begun which was called the moment the Victory Motor absentees arrived on the field and the second contest begun. This was done so as to dodge threatened rain.

Suder pitched for Laughlin and struck out seven men. He had the additional record of fanning the first four men that faced him in the first inning and one batter of the second in the exhibition contest which made 11 for the day.

Baker pitched three and W. Mundy four innings for the Victory Motor. The latter swatted at a .750 clip with a double, single and a home run in four attempts.

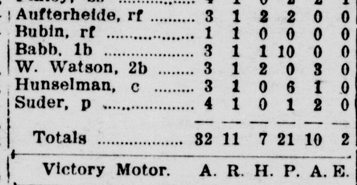

V. Bailey had to catch for his team. He threw well to bases, but missed a couple of third strikes. Numerous boots and wild throws swelled the losers' error column. They rallied in the seventh and scored five runs on a hit player, four safe hits and an error.

LIMBER UP FOR NATIONAL OPEN

Pro-amateur Stars in Best Ball Foursome at Scioto.

COLUMBUS, O., July 6.—Team best ball foursome match is scheduled to take place over the golf course of the Scioto Country club near here this afternoon. Contestants will comprise 24 of the best professionals and amateurs numbering among the approximately 150 players who will participate in the three day national open golf championship tournament which starts Thursday on the Scioto course.

The contestants in this afternoon's team match include 12 pros and a dozen amateurs tentatively lined up as follows:

First foursome—Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn against Willie MacFarlane and Water Hagen.

Second Foursome—Max Marston and George Von Elm against Macdonald Smith and Harry Cooper.

Third foursome—Chick Evans and D. Clarke Cochrane against Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel.

Fourth foursome—Roland Mackenzie and Keefe Carter against Al. Watrous and Bill Mehlhorn.

Fifth Foursome—Harrison Johnson and Densmore Shute against Bobby Cruikshank and Jock Hutchinson.

Sixth foursome—Eddie Held and Clarence Wolff against Gene Sarazen and Willie Hunter.

The match is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time.

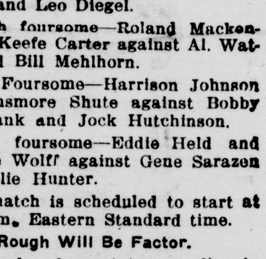

Rough Will Be Factor.

Hundreds of spectators earlier in the day watched the experts participate in practice rounds on the Scioto course. Dozens of pros and amateurs went through their paces, many experiencing considerable trouble with the rough. Some professionals were forced to pick up several times during a round because of the shaggy rough.

Professionals and amateurs join in the frank admission that the rough, in all probability, will be a potent factor in determining the championship winner. Most predictions are that at the least 292 will be needed to win it. One professional voiced belief that "297 or 298 might win it."

Players who will take part in the tourney will spend today and Wednesday limbering up on the course.

Spectators at this afternoon's team match will be asked to donate $1 each to the benevolent fund of the Professional Golfers' association.

Standard Goods Imperative

The United States Government is anxious to have fair and honest methods used in advertising American products to foreign countries as well as to the domestic market to insure a continuing good name for American made goods. The exporter who ships out goods falling below the standard advertised not only ruins injures the foreign market for lall other American exporters. The foreigner is not likely to differentiate between exporters and brands. If he finds one shipment from the United States to be below standard he is inclined to assume that it is typical of all American exports.

The farmers' interest in world-wide advertising was outlined to the world conference by Lloyd S. Tenney, Acting Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture. He pointed out that while for many years the efforts of the Government had been to increase production, to make two blades of grass grow where but one had grown before, that has been accomplished and now the problem is to sell in the export trade that second blade of grass. That is where the farmer's profit must spring from. Judicious and carefully placed advertising by cooperatives and exporters can accomplish this and go far toward solving the farm problem.

Thus advertising can be used by American business men to bring the people of the whole world closer together by producing a mutual understanding and trust. It is the advertising man's responsibility to insure this by employing only the best methods.

Standard Goods Imperative

The United States Government is anxious to have fair and honest methods used in advertising American products to foreign countries as well as to the domestic market to insure a continuing good name for American made goods. The exporter who ships out goods falling below the standard advertised not only ruins injures the foreign market for lall other American exporters. The foreigner is not likely to differentiate between exporters and brands. If he finds one shipment from the United States to be below standard he is inclined to assume that it is typical of all American exports.

The farmers' interest in world-wide advertising was outlined to the world conference by Lloyd S. Tenney, Acting Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture. He pointed out that while for many years the efforts of the Government had been to increase production, to make two blades of grass grow where but one had grown before, that has been accomplished and now the problem is to sell in the export trade that second blade of grass. That is where the farmer's profit must spring from. Judicious and carefully placed advertis'ng by cooperatives and exporters can accomplish this and go far toward solving the farm problem.

Thus advertising can be used by American business men to bring the people of the whole world closer together by producing a mutual understanding and trust. It is the advertising man's responsibility to insure this by employing only the best methods.

Why Our Furniture Looks Like New

"No, it is not really new furniture. It looks new because Jack and I spent a few chummy evenings last week giving some of our old treasures a beautiful new surface with Marietta paints. Why don't you and Dick try it?"

MARIETTA ART STAINS

Remember there's an easy way to preserve these treasured pieces, a way to bring back their original lustre—and you can do it all yourself within a few hours with Spartana Varnish Stain, (a Marietta product) the kind that flows easily and without "pull" from your brush, spreads generously, giving to every article a smooth, uniform surface.

BEBE DANIELS AT CERAMIC

Star Travels at High Speed in New Comedy.

The things that happen to men who go down to the sea in ships are as nothing compared to the thrilling experiences that befall a country girl who goes down to the bay in speed boats. This can easily be verified by a visit to the Ceramic theatre, where Bebe Daniels in the title role of "The Palm Beach Girl" churns up the Florida waters at 60 miles an hour.

Here is a comedy that was build for speed and laughs. With Bebe cast as the chief speed-maniac and mirth-provoker, there is plenty of both. As the little country girl suddenly thrust into the society maze of Palm Beach, Bebe has a splendid opportunity to make ample use of her inimitable comedy gifts. Needless to say, her performance is perfection itself, for she plays her part with a blithe buoyancy that is delightful and a seemingly reckless disregard for life and limb that is startling.

From the moment she arrives in Florida to visit her wealthy aunts and is mistaken for a colored girl because her face is smudged, Bebe's troubles begin. Thereafter, they multiply rapidly as she tries to adapt herself to the ways of the smart set, falls in with bootleggers and attempts to operate a speed boat. The high point of hilarity and excitement is reached in the big race, which she wins despite the fact that her boat runs wild and almost wrecks everything in sight.

Interwoven with the strenuous action is a pleasing little romance which comes to a happy climax when Bebe captures the most eligible millionaire bachelor in Palm Beach. Lawrence Gray gives an excellent account of himself as the wealthy and handsome society youth.

Eric Kenton, the director, has given the production a fine finish and dash in keeping with its expensive atmosphere, and the Florida backgrounds are pictorially beautiful. The picture is based on the story by Byron Morgan and the play, "Please Help Emily" by H. M. Harwood. Forrest Halsey is to be congratulated for a smooth and snappy scenario.

IN New York recently, William Fox exhibited talking and singing moving pictures, important to every one in the great industry and to the public. The combination of sound, motion and expression was not merely good, it was absolutely perfect.

The words and music are perforated at the edge of the film so that action and words cannot possibly be separated by mechanical defect.

Such a machine makes it possible to give a vaudeville performance, the audience seeing the actors, hearing the singing and speaking without action or music. It is impossible to exaggerate the effect produced by hearing the actual voice and seeing the face and expression of the actor at the same time.

DETROIT plans a building of 81 stories, 873 feet high, another record broken by Detroit.

J. B. Book, Jr., responsible for the building, is to be congratulated. This mechanical age should show what it really can do, and get ready for the flying age, when machines will land on buildings a mile high and elevators will go down from the roof, not up from the ground.

IN Luling, small Texas town of 1,500 population, the inhabitants suddenly find themselves possessed of $2,000,000 cash in bonus money, paid by Edgar B. Davis, generous oil man. Davis got something over $12,000,000 at one time recently, and decided to divide, which is the Texas manner.

Those that got the money hurried out to buy good automobiles, and they were wise.

If a hoptoad suddenly got money and were wise, he would buy wings, and become a bird, instead of remaining a hoptoad.

If you haven't a car, buy one. Ownership of a car makes the brain work faster, and faster brain work will soon pay for a car.

YESTERDAY brokers and speculators started on a three-day holiday, in cheerful mood, with prices going up. Steel reached a new high spot on the tape, money was cheap, pessimism at a discount.

Unfortunately bears are learning that the fathers of this country established an institution in which it is safer to buy than to sell.

MISS RYAN and Mary K. Browne of California beat all the foreign women at Wimbledon, and will bring back the tennis championship to the United States.

Bobby Jones, a young Georgian who represents the energy and nervous concentration of his state admirably, arrived home yesterday, bringing Great Britain's open golf championship.

We have bootleggers, late hours, jazz and lounge lizards. But we also have young people that count.

THE Van Sweringen plan to combine five railroads—Erie, Nickel Plate, Chesapeake & Ohio, Hocking Valley and Pere Marquette—will probably go through.

Such combinations represent economy, if properly managed, and should be encouraged, especially if the people get part of the economy.

The time has gone by for being afraid of "big units." The nations of

Swimming Is Ideal Exercise

Swimming is the most perfect exercise from the standpoint of its health-promoting value.

It stimulates the circulation of the blood, brings practically every large muscle into harmonious play, and develops fine healthy lungs.

If you can not swim you are missing one of the most valuable and enjoyable sports.

GEN. L. C. ANDREWS, DRY CZAR, RESIGNS

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF TREASURY READY TO QUIT PROHIBITION JOB

Dispatch Says Resignation of Leader of War on Bootleggers Will be "Accepted With Regret" by Chieftain.

ACCEPTED PLACE ONE YEAR AGO

Tells Secretary Mellon That His Work in Reorganization of Prohibition Service Virtually Has Been Completed.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—General Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary of the treasury and head of the government's prohibition machine, submitted his resignation to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today.

Effective August 11.

No statement was forthcoming from Mellon's office as to what action would be taken. It was understood, however, that the resignation would be "accepted with regret."

Andrews, in a long conference with Mellon, informed the secretary that his work in reorganizing the prohibition service virtually has been completed.

He accepted the position more than a year ago on the understanding that when the service was reorganized he would be relieved from duty.

FOUR FLEE AS $5,000 BLAZE DESTROYS HOME

Fire Sweeps George Haudenschilt Dwelling in Maplewood.

CAUSE UNKNOWN

Wife, Awakened by Child's Call, Discovers Flames.

Four members of the George Haudenschilt family, Maplewood avenue, were forced to flee partly dressed when fire of undetermined origin destroyed their one-story five-room frame home at 2 o'clock this morning.

The loss estimated at $5,000 is said to be fully covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Haudenschilt, who was awakened when her 10-year-old grandson, Cecil Byers, who makes his home with his grandparents, asked for a drink. She scented smoke and, making an investigation, found the front part of the house afire. The blaze, it is believed, originated in the cellar and had eaten its way through the floor when discovered.

Mrs. Haudenschilt awakened her husband and son, and, with her grandson, fled from the house.

The fire department was called, and although the place was outside the city limits, the truck from the Central station responded but the house was doomed when the firemen arrived.

A green house, conducted by Haudenschilt, located near the house, was damaged by the intense heat from the burning building.

Mr. and Mrs. Haudenschilt and other members of the family were quartered today in the homes of friends and relatives.

At 12:01 this morning motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit, one of the New York's two big subway lines, went on strike for higher wages.

More than 2,000 policemen were assigned to duty at stations and on the trains guarding the strike-breakers.

Several arrests were made up to 9 o'clock, but no violence was reported.

Neither the company nor strike leaders had authentic figures on the number of men affected. Leaders of the strike insisted that service on the line was practically at a standstill. Moore Memorial.

The memorial that will be presented the brother and sisters of Judge Moore follows:

"Judge James Green Moore was born in New Castle county, Delaware, 1852, and at an early age came with his parents, William and Annie Moore to Wayne township, Columbiana county, and settled on a farm. He attended the old fashioned district school and became enamored with a desire to prepare himself for a professional life. He attended the Lisbon high school and when quite young he was granted a certificate to teach in district schools. While teaching he read law with John W. and Harvey Morrison and in the autumn of 1874 was admitted to the bar and at once opened an office in Salineville, where by his diligence and abilities he built up a lucrative practice.

"At the general election of 1884 he was elected probate judge of Columbiana county, and served in that capacity two terms. As such officer he was courteous, painstaking and popular. At the end of his terms of probate judge in 1891, he formed a law partnership with W. S. Potts, which lasted 11 years. Later, in 1919, he was elected to the common pleas bench of this county and served in that capacity until death, July 2, 1926.

"In 1876 he married Miss Elizabeth Forbes, to which union no children were born.

He was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and an Elk.

"We cannot do too much in honor of our departed brother. Let us speak of him as a lawyer, a man and judge

"It does seem indeed that "death loves a shining mark, a signal blow." The departed one has left a life account closed without a single blot or stain to mar its fair page, and in every relation of life he has proved himself, in the highest and best sense, a man. Firm and sincere in his convictions, true to his friends, liberal toward his opponents, and conscientious in the discharge of every duty, he has left behind him an example worthy the emulation of all.

IN New York recently, William Fox exhibited talking and singing moving pictures, important to every one in the great industry and to the public. The combination of sound, motion and expression was not merely good, it was absolutely perfect.

The words and music are perforated at the edge of the film so that action and words cannot possibly be separated by mechanical defect.

Such a machine makes it possible to give a vaudeville performance, the audience seeing the actors, hearing the singing and speaking without action or music. It is impossible to exaggerate the effect produced by hearing the actual voice and seeing the face and expression of the actor at the same time.

DETROIT plans a building of 81 stories, 873 feet high, another record broken by Detroit.

J. B. Book, Jr., responsible for the building, is to be congratulated. This mechanical age should show what it really can do, and get ready for the flying age, when machines will land on buildings a mile high and elevators will go down from the roof, not up from the ground.

IN Luling, small Texas town of 1,500 population, the inhabitants suddenly find themselves possessed of $2,000,000 cash in bonus money, paid by Edgar B. Davis, generous oil man. Davis got something over $12,000,000 at one time recently, and decided to divide, which is the Texas manner.

Those that got the money hurried out to buy good automobiles, and they were wise.

If a hoptoad suddenly got money and were wise, he would buy wings, and become a bird, instead of remaining a hoptoad.

If you haven't a car, buy one. Ownership of a car makes the brain work faster, and faster brain work will soon pay for a car.

YESTERDAY brokers and speculators started on a three-day holiday, in cheerful mood, with prices going up. Steel reached a new high spot on the tape, money was cheap, pessimism at a discount.

THE Van Sweringen plan to combine five railroads—Erie, Nickel Plate, Chesapeake & Ohio, Hocking Valley and Pere Marquette—will probably go through.

Such combinations represent economy, if properly managed, and should be encouraged, especially if the people get part of the economy.

The time has gone by for being afraid of "big units." The nations of Several arrests were made up to 9 o'clock, but no violence was reported.

Neither the company nor strike leaders had authentic figures on the number of men affected. Leaders of the strike insisted that service on the line was practically at a standstill. Frank Hedley, president and general manager of the Interborough, declared the service was 50 per cent normal. Earlier in the day he had announced that service was 75 per cent normal.

Confusion prevailed on all sides as the hundreds of thousands tried to get to their places of employment.

CARS IN CRASHES

Other Ohio Cities Report Independence Day Casualties.

"Safe and sane" Fourth of July observance in the East Liverpool district was marred by seven automobile accidents in which three persons were injured, one of them seriously.

No casualties from the use of fireworks were reported at the City hospital or to local physicians, although several persons suffered minor burns from the use of explosives.

One person was charged for violation of the city ordinance prohibiting the use of fireworks. He was Arthur Scott who was arrested in East Sixth street by Patrolman Roth at 9:45 o'clock last night. Scott was discharged after a lecture by Municipal Judge Hanley this morning.

Roads leading out of the city were jammed Sunday and Monday with outgoing and incoming motorists.

The injured are:

Mrs. Dehlia Ensinger, Grandview avenue, Pleasant Heights; right shoulder and nose broken and head and face lacerated in crash against guard railing at approach to bridge at Hanoverton.

Gallie McCormick, 45, East End, head and face cut when struck by an automobile driven by A. E. Harris, Smithfield street, on Harvey avenue near state line.

Mrs. Earl White, 40, Stop 33, Y. & O. railroad, forehead and right knee cut.

Mrs. Ensinger, accompanied by her husband, A. W. Ensinger, her son, Arley Ensinger, St. George street, and her brother, John Hyder, Hazel street, were on their way home from a holiday visit with relatives in the southeastern part of the state, at 2 o'clock this morning when they were blinded by a dense fog.

Arley Ensinger, at the wheel of the car, failed to notice the guard railing at the approach to the bridge and when the car struck it, his mother, in the rear seat, was thrown part way out of the machine. He and the other passengers were unhurt.

Mrs. Ensinger was assisted to the home of Dr. Pelly in Hanoverton. The Miller ambulance was called from where she received medical attention, this city and the woman later removed to her home. Upon her arrival there she was attended by Dr. Clyde Larkins.

BAR ASSOCIATION PAYS HOMAGE TO MEMORY OF JUDGE JAMES G. MOORE AND J. FRANK SPENCE

The funeral of the late Common Pleas Judge James G. Moore was held at his residence in East Washington street, Lisbon, Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, following a meeting of the Columbiana County Bar association, court room No. 1, at which homage was paid his memory as well as that of J. Frank Spence, also of the Lisbon district, who was killed in an automobile accident last week.

Members of the bar association attended the Moore funeral, marching in a body from the court house to the home.

The Rev. J. M. Cameron of the Lisbon United Presbyterian church and the Rev. Peter W. Macaulay of the Lisbon Presbyterian church had charge of the services.

Honorary pallbearers selected by Judge N. B. Billingsley, president of the bar asscciation, were: Judge Nathan McClure of Medina county; former Judge Carl Smith of Steubenville; Appellate Judge Louis T. Farr of Lisbon; former Probate Judge Samuel W. Crawford, East Liverpool; former Probate Judge J. C. Boone and L. P. Metzger of Salem; Lafayette M. Kyes, East Palestine; W. F. Lones, Wellsville and Wilson S. Potts of Lisbon, the former law partner of Judge Moore.

Active pallbearers were Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine, C. H. Blackburn, Gomer Lewis, Fred C. Davis, George S. Brandt, W. F. Bye, William H. Hepburn, Randall Hamilton.

Tribute was paid Judge Moore and Mr. Spence by the following speakers at the bar association memorial services: Judge L. T. Farr, Judge McClure, Judge Riddle, Wilson S. Potts, Frank E. Grosshans, L. P. Metzgar, Judge R. C. Huey and Attorney J. V. Starrs of Youngstown; Judge Carl Smith, of Steubenville, and Attorney John Morgan, of Youngstown, a former member of the bar association here.

Moore Memorial.

The memorial that will be presented the brother and sisters of Judge Moore follows:

"Judge James Green Moore was born in New Castle county, Delaware, 1852, and at an early age came with his parents, William and Annie Moore to Wayne township, Columbiana county, and settled on a farm. He attended the old fashioned district school and became enamored with a desire to prepare himself for a professional life. He attended the Lisbon high school and when quite young he was granted a certificate to teach in district schools. While teaching he read law with John W. and Harvey Morrison and in the autumn of 1874 was admitted to the bar and at once opened an office in Salineville, where by his diligence and abilities he built up a lucrative practice.

"At the general election of 1884 he was elected probate judge of Columbiana county, and served in that capacity two terms. As such officer he was courteous, painstaking and popular. At the end of his terms of probate judge in 1891, he formed a law partnership with W. S. Potts, which lasted 11 years. Later, in 1919, he was elected to the common pleas bench of this county and served in that capacity until death, July 2, 1926.

"In 1876 he married Miss Elizabeth Forbes, to which union no children were born.

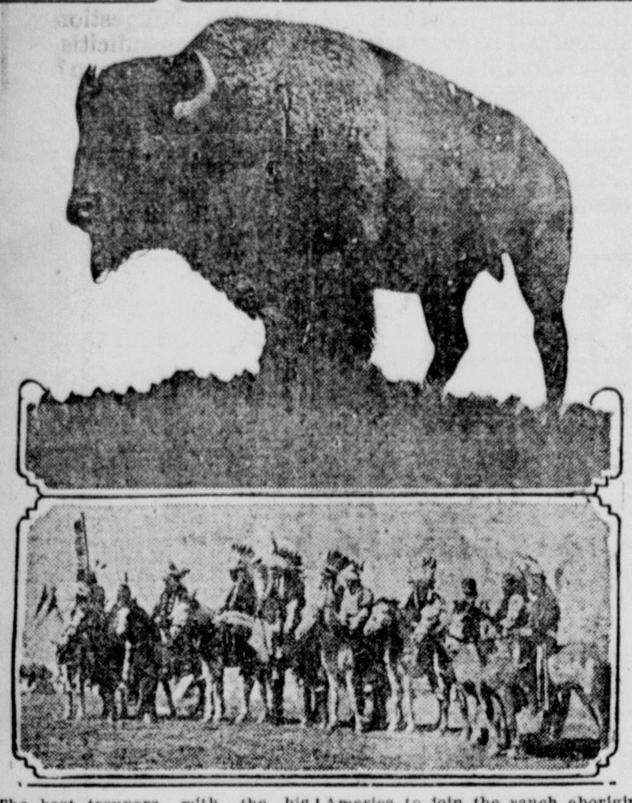

He was a Mason, an Odd Fellow and an Elk.

"We cannot do too much in honor of our departed brother. Let us speak of him as a lawyer, a man and judge

"It does seem indeed that "death loves a shining mark, a signal blow." The departed one has left a life account closed without a single blot or stain to mar its fair page, and in every relation of life he has proved himself, in the highest and best sense, a man. Firm and sincere in his convictions, true to his friends, liberal toward his opponents, and conscientious in the discharge of every duty, he has left behind him an example worthy the emulation of all.

BUFFALO HAPPY ON 101 RANCH REAL WILD WEST AND FAR EAST

The best troupers with the big Miller Brothers' 101 Ranch Real Wild West show, which has taken the road after eight years of preparation, are the buffalo. Out of herds numbering 2,700 bison Colonel J. C. Miller selected the most magnificent specimens, and these animals grow fatter and happier each day. They love to move, and they love to ride the show trains.

The Indians with the big show, and fully 300 of them will be seen in the world's largest street parade, when 101 comes to Columbiana park on Saturday July 17, look at the buffalo growing fatter and sleeker and grunt: "Buffalo like big town. Him like Everything with the big troupe comes from the 101 Ranch, Marland, Oklahoma, except the Far East contingents, with their Asiatic tribesmen, the elephants and camels, and the big Russian Cossack Circus from the London Olympia, the largest and most dazzling feature ever imported by an American amusement enterprise, and it is headed by the Imperial Cossack band of 50 pieces. There are 3,000 Indians on the ranch, and the most picturesque of them are with the show. However, Miller Brothers assembled the chiefs and noted warriors of every tribe in North America to join the ranch aborigines in making the real wild west offerings and pageantry.

ANNA NILSSON AT AMERICAN

Rises From Poverty to Wealth in "Greater Glory."

From a lowly scrubwoman to the toast of Vienna is the spectacular rise effectd by Anna Q. Nilsson, who plays the leading role in "The Greater Glory," June Mathis' colossal film epic now showing at the American theatre here.

More than a year was spent on the production by Miss Mathis and a vast company of stars. It is an adaptation of the celebrated novel, "Viennese Medley," by Edith O'Shaughnessy, wife of the American ambassador in Vienna. First National releases the picture.

The story follows the fortunes of a fine old Austrian family. After the war Miss Nilsson, who is a member of this family, is reduced by circumstances to accept a menial position. Then she is discovered by a former shopkeeper, who has reaped untold wealth as a result of war profiteering. In a short time she is the idol of Vienna's new multi-millionaires.

The drama is a poignant recital of the downfal and ultimate rehabilitation of what was once the gayest city of the Austrian empire.

A side of the war not hitherto revealed is brought to light in "The Greater Glory.' Miss Mathis, who is responsible for "The Four Horsemen" and other screen masterpieces, has put a realism into this picture that is wholly new.

Other principals in the cast besides Miss Nilsson are Conway Tearle, May Allison, Ian Keith, Jean Hersholt and Lucy Beaumont. There are more than a score of well known players in the supporting cast. About 1,600 "extras" were used.

MINISTER, FISHING, IN BOOTS, DROPS TACKLE TO MARRY ANXIOUS PAIR

FORT DODGE, Ia.—With the minister attired in hip boots and a creel slung over his shoulder, and the Des Moines river furnishing the background, Weldon S. Miller, of Des Moines, and Miss Mildred Cory, of Elkhart, were married here.

It was not planned to have an open air meeting, but when the young couple, armed with the license, called at the home of the Rev. W. P. Clark here, they were informed he was on a fishing party. The couple then drove along the river bank until they came up to the minister and a fellow fisherman, Miller called the Rev. Clark from the middle of the stream, where he was casting, displayed the license, and requested that the ceremony be performed at once.

After the wedding the Rev. Clark resumed his fishing and the couple drove away.

So Many Servants— for so low a wage

WHEN you write the check for your next electric service bill, just stop a moment and recall to mind all the conveniences that money is paying for.

You have had light in every room, instantly, at the mere push of a button. There has been no need for matches, no fumbling in the dark, no kerosene or cleaning of lamps and chimneys.

Electrical servants have swept the floor, washed and ironed the clothes, percolated coffee, toasted bread, curled your hair and have done many other tasks too numerous to mention.

It is surprising, isn't it?—when you think of all the service your electrical servants give for so low a wage. May we suggest that you increase your staff of electrical servants since you realize how little they really cost to operate.

Amending Primary Election Plan

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, independent Democratic newspaper, editorially, urges that "It is high time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination," in supporting the proposed submission of an amendment at the November election to abolish the present primary election system in Ohio.

Petitions calling for a place on the fall ballot for the proposal, which is aimed to reduce the enormous expense of primary campaigns and at the same time permit the selection of better government officials, are to be circulated at once.

After referring to the fact that New Jersey Republicans in convention last week adopted an anti-primary plank, and that neither Ohio party platform has yet been prepared, the Plain Dealer says:

"The primary is no more a party issue now than it was fourteen years ago. It is not a question of democracy, but one of efficient government. There can be no party position on the adverse side of such a proposal.

"As framed by the New Jersey Republicans the purpose is to provide 'machinery by which the direct primary can be made effective and become a voters' primary instead of a candidates' primary.' Under the plan proposed primaries will still be held; not for nominating candidates, however, but for the election of delegates to nominating conventions. This would restore a measure of deliberation to the act of choosing nominees; it would re-establish a degree of party responsibility, now sadly lacking.

"It would, thoughtful citizens believe, raise the caliber of candidates for important offices, and thus improve the quality of the public service.

"No one, we assume, would care to go back to the old nominating conventions controlled gênerally as they were by professional politicians. The taste for power engendered by the primary would make any such restoration as impossible as it would be unwise. The new convention, unlike the old, must be controlled by popular opinion. Delegates must be chosen in the open by orderly process, not in dark-room caucuses operated by bosses.

"There is promise of a real issue in the Ohio campaign this year if the proposed amendment, now being perfected at Columbus, is brought to a vote—not a party issue, but an issue of stronger, more representative, more competent public administration. It is time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination."

France Wants More Loans

With the return of Caillaux to the French ministry of finance, final disposition of the French debt to America seems farther off than ever.

Caillaux, who is a shrewd bargainer as well as a keen financier, is encouraging delay in the French parliament. He objects to making any agreement to pay this country until he is assured of extensive new loans. He would take the Berenger-Mellon arrangement as the basis for new discussion, make various changes in the terms and then say, in effect:

"Let America lend France enough cash to meet the early payments, with a lot more to bolster up the French franc, and then we'll agree to pay."

Naturally this doesn't make much of a hit in America. There is a strong feeling in this country that the terms of the recent settlement were liberal, and there is little disposition at present to lend Europe more money.

More Electric Power

Here are two more big power projects going forward:

The Philadelphia Electric Power company is going to build on the Susquehanna river, in Maryland, a dam nearly a mile long, forming a reservoir of 8,000 acres, and a power plant to develop 350,000 horsepower. That is more power than the Muscle Shoals plant has. The current will be sent, at 220,000 volts, for 75 miles to Philadelphia.

The Gatineau Power company, by a contract signed with the Hydro-Electric commission of Ontario, will furnish 230,000 horsepower produced on the Gatineau river, transmitting it 240 miles to Toronto. This is not an entirely new project, but present facilities are to be greatly extended, with an ultimate development of perhaps 400,000 horsepower.

Electrification of this continent is coming on more rapidly than the public realizes. Add to the "white coal" projects the coal-burning plants being established in or near the coal fields, and the present development is tremendous.

The Swedish Crown Prince's American explorations are now complete. He has seen a home run.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 6.—As a chronic sun-dodger, those ruddy cheeked fellows who climb out of the feathers at dawn, leap into plus fours and bowl away to the golf courses around New York have excited my curiosity—if not admiration.

Saluting dawn with a snore seems preferable to whacking a silly little white ball. Perhaps it is because earlier days found me at dawn thawing out the pump, chaperoning pails of slop to pigs and tidying up Old Dobbins' bed chamber. I've had my early rising fun. No end!

At sun up on every fair day there is a stream of gold-clad figures hurrying from New York hotels and apartment houses. It has been estimated that 60 per cent of New Yorks adult male population plays golf casually or with the usual fervor.

It has been estimated also the city expends a half billion dollars annually on golf togs, dues and golf accessories. In 1899 a society weekly listed 124 persons who had taken up the game. In those days it was considered a little sissified.

It had about the same sporting standing as rolling hoops. Now it is the most popular form of athletic sport in America. Dues at the highest priced golf club, exclusive of initiation fees, are $2,000 a year and a super exclusive club is organizing with a $5,000 initiation fee and $10,000 annual dues.

I have been so annoyed by golf and golf talk that I decided to take it up in self defense. I prepared myself for the usual symptoms of the notive—swinging a cane around the house at imaginary balls or a spool of thread. And prettying up before the mirror in plus fours.

I arrived at the golf course at 9 o'clock which was elegant for me. I broke two borrowed clubs, achieved a buckeye blister on my right heel and strained something or other that gives me a skip to my walk. I bequeath my interest in the game to the public. It may have it for its very own.

Apropos of "that guiltiest feeling" riding home from the golf course the car gave one of those despairing lurches and halted in front of a huge bill-board which bore the sign: "Perspire normally but odorlessly."

An ironic note is to be found at the base of the bronze Fifth Avenue towers which guide auto traffic with the blinking fish-eyed lights. The obsolescent motif is a horse's hoof. There is nothing quite so undignified as climbing a ladder. I've often wanted to be around when the austere and nattily uniformed signalmen mount their perches. And the monotony of their task must be terrific, just sitting in a cramped position for hours waiting for the signal to release or check traffic. They don't even have the fun of bawling out autoists and jay-walkers.

Big city firemen have their thrills but suffer a high average of monotonous tedium. I had one tell me that while he was fond of his fellows he often grew so tired looking at them that he quit speaking for days. I thought only husbands did that.

While motoring today we came upon a thoroughfare near town with the rustic name of Sawmill River Road. One turns suddenly from suburban splendor to behold a vista of old farm houses with dove cotes, sheep folds and old fashioned wells. It seemed to be hundreds of miles from New York instead of less than an hour's journey.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Business of Advertising.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—The latest panacea for curing the economic ills of the world is declared to be advertising. Advertising men from the four corners of the earth have been spending some time in the United States recenly in connection with the annual meeting of the Associationed Advertising Clubs of the World. The principal sessions of the convention were held at the Sesquicentennial Exposition at Philadelphia and speakers there outlined various ideas of progress through the medium of advertising.

The art of advertising may be claimed as an American invention. It is in this attractive ways of bringing to the attention of the buying public the wares of manufacturers and merchants. England has followed in the steps of the American pioneers largely by the guidance of American advertising experts. The first great British agencies employed Americans to show them the tricks of the trade and Americans still occupy a leading position in the British advertising world.

In this generation far more is spent for advertising than many manufacturers ever dreamed a few years ago. The advance was steady and rapid. The advertiser who ran a paragraph thirty years ago began using a quarter page twenty years ago. In another decade he was using a half page and perhaps five years later had been educated up to the idea of employing a full newspaper or magazine page. This same man now is occasionally using the entire sections of newspapers and magazines to make the public acquainted with his ware.

Outdoor advertising has grown by leaps and bounds until some property is more valuable for the advertising space it offers than for any other use. The electric sign has lengthened the hours during which an outdoor advertisement is working. All this costs a tremendous amount of mony. Many corporations have regular appropriations of a million dollars or more for advertising. These same companies bu t a few years ago would have been amazed at the prospect of doing a gross business of that much.

With the industry becoming so large it is not surprising that it is attracting more and more attention and receiving study from experts in finance, economics, distribution, and politics. At the Philadelphia meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, Dr. Julius Klein, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, made one of the principal addresses and showed to what extent the principal Government agency having to do with business is studying advertising. Dr. Klein discussed the subject from two principal angles: waste in advertising, and trade extension through its judicious use.

The Department of Commerce has spent much effort in studying the general subject of waste in industry. Its investigations have covered nearly every important industry, including advertising. In making up a list of the fifteen major causes of waste in American business Secretary Hoover, as a result of these studies, has included mismanaged advertising.

Study of Markets.

Many millions of dollars are spent annually by American producers and traders for advertising space both in the United States and in foreign countries. Analyses of these expenditures and what returns they produce in the way of new business show that great savings could be effected by more careful study of markets. Apparently on the theory that it is merely enough to talk loudly about a product is all that is needed in advertising, many national advertisers have thrown away millions uselessly.

Dr. Klein pointed out that every market should receive careful study before it is invaded by an advertiser. In many instances the maker of a product which has sold well in America and England will assume that, by the same token, advertising will cause the product to sell in Italy or Greece. This may not be the case at all and by enlisting the cooperation of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the advertiser can ascertain the facts before spending his money and wasting it in fruitless effort.

O. Henry tells a story about how an inexperienced Yankee went to a Central American country and set up a shoe store. A little investigation would have made it known to him that no market existed because the natives did not wear shoes. This merchant adventurer resorted to the ingenious device of importing some cockle burrs from the United States and surreptitiously sprinkling the roads and lanes with them. The natives were forced to buy shoes to protect their feet and he got rid of his stock without loss. However, not every American adventurer into foreign lands can hit upon so novel a device to recoup his losses. Dr. Klein points out that the American advertiser who advertises unwanted products in a foreign market is doing the same thing as the Yankee who took shoes to Central America. He encounters a clear waste which will sap his profits and subtract from the aggregate of business volume.

A heavy responsibility lies upon the men who conduct the big advertising agencies. Too many of them, Dr. Klein believes, are too eager to write contracts for the sake of the immediate business. In this way they use up their clients' advertising appropriations and obtain slight returns. Where they to study their markets carefully and place their advertising more ju-

SPEAKING OF CARRIER PIGEONS

Speaking of carrier pigeons—although no one has done so lately—reminds me of a yarn that may not be true—it sounds almost too good to be true—that was related at the front in 1918. The version frequently told had it that a half company of a regiment in the Rainbow Division, on going forward early one morning in a heavy fog a raid across No Man's Land, carried along with the rest of the customary equipment a homing pigeon. The pigeon in its wicker cage swung on the arm of a private, who likewise was burdened with the rifle, his extra rounds of ammunition, his trenching tool, his pair of wire cutters, his steel helmet, his gas mask, his emegerency ration and quite a number of other more or less cumbersome items.

It was to be a surprise attack behind a cloak of the fog, so there was no artillery preparation beforehand, nor barrage fire as the squads climbed over the top and advanced into the mist hidden beyond. Behind, in the posts of observation and in the post of command the Colonel and his aides and his intelligence officers waited for the sound of firing. When after some minutes the distant rattle of the rifle fire came to their ears they began calculating how long reasonably it might be before word reached them by one or another medium of communication touching on the results of the foray. But the ground telephone remained mute, and no runner returned through the fog with tidings. The suspense increased as time passed.

Suddenly a pigeon sped into view, flying close to the earth. With eager eyes following it in its course the winged messenger circled until it located its portable cote just behind the Colonel's position and fluttering down it entered its familiar shelter.

An athletic member of the staff hustled up the ladder. In half a minute he was tumbling down again, clutching in one hand the little scroll of paper that he had found fastened about the pigeon's leg. With fingers that trembled in anxiety the Colonel unrolled the paper and read aloud what was written upon it.

What he read, in the hurried chirography of a kid private, was the following succinct statement: "I'm tired of carrying this damn bird."

Amending Primary Election Plan

The Cleveland Plain Dealer, independent Democratic newspaper, editorially, urges that "It is high time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination," in supporting the proposed submission of an amendment at the November election to abolish the present primary election system in Ohio.

Petitions calling for a place on the fall ballot for the proposal, which is aimed to reduce the enormous expense of primary campaigns and at the same time permit the selection of better government officials, are to be circulated at once.

After referring to the fact that New Jersey Republicans in convention last week adopted an anti-primary plank, and that neither Ohio party platform has yet been prepared, the Plain Dealer says:

"The primary is no more a party issue now than it was fourteen years ago. It is not a question of democracy, but one of efficient government. There can be no party position on the adverse side of such a proposal.

"As framed by the New Jersey Republicans the purpose is to provide 'machinery by which the direct primary can be made effective and become a voters' primary instead of a candidates' primary.' Under the plan proposed primaries will still be held; not for nominating candidates, however, but for the election of delegates to nominating conventions. This would restore a measure of deliberation to the act of choosing nominees; it would re-establish a degree of party responsibility, now sadly lacking.

"It would, thoughtful citizens believe, raise the caliber of candidates for important offices, and thus improve the quality of the public service.

"No one, we assume, would care to go back to the old nominating conventions controlled generally as they were by professional politicians. The taste for power engendered by the primary would make any such restoration as impossible as it would be unwise. The new convention, unlike the old, must be controlled by popular opinion. Delegates must be chosen in the open by orderly process, not in dark-room caucuses operated by bosses.

"There is promise of a real issue in the Ohio campaign this year if the proposed amendment, now being perfected at Columbus, is brought to a vote—not a party issue, but an issue of stronger, more representative, more competent public administration. It is time to close the door of high office to men who owe their opportunity solely to an unsound method of nomination."

France Wants More Loans

With the return of Caillaux to the French ministry of finance, final disposition of the French debt to America seems farther off than ever.

Caillaux, who is a shrewd bargainer as well as a keen financier, is encouraging delay in the French parliament. He objects to making any agreement to pay this country until he is assured of extensive new loans. He would take the Berenger-Mellon arrangement as the basis for new discussion, make various changes in the terms and then say, in effect:

"Let America lend France enough cash to meet the early payments, with a lot more to bolster up the French franc, and then we'll agree to pay."

Naturally this doesn't make much of a hit in America. There is a strong feeling in this country that the terms of the recent settlement were liberal, and there is little disposition at present to lend Europe more money.

More Electric Power

Here are two more big power projects going forward:

The Philadelphia Electric Power company is going to build on the Susquehanna river, in Maryland, a dam nearly a mile long, forming a reservoir of 8,000 acres, and a power plant to develop 350,000 horsepower. That is more power than the Muscle Shoals plant has. The current will be sent, at 220,000 volts, for 75 miles to Philadelphia.

The Gatineau Power company, by a contract signed with the Hydro-Electric commission of Ontario, will furnish 230,000 horsepower produced on the Gatineau river, transmitting it 240 miles to Toronto. This is not an entirely new project, but present facilities are to be greatly extended, with an ultimate development of perhaps 400,000 horsepower.

Electrification of this continent is coming on more rapidly than the public realizes. Add to the "white coal" projects the coal-burning plants being established in or near the coal fields, and the present development is tremendous.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 6.—As a chronic sun-dodger, those ruddy cheeked fellows who climb out of the feathers at dawn, leap into plus fours and bowl away to the golf courses around New York have excited my curiosity—if not admiration.

Saluting dawn with a snore seems preferable to whacking a silly little white ball. Perhaps it is because earlier days found me at dawn thawing out the pump, chaperoning pails of slop to pigs and tidying up Old Dobbins' bed chamber. I've had my early rising fun. No end!

At sun up on every fair day there is a stream of gold-clad figures hurrying from New York hotels and apartment houses. It has been estimated that 60 per cent of New Yorks adult male population plays golf casually or with the usual fervor.

It has been estimated also the city expends a half billion dollars annually on golf togs, dues and golf accessories. In 1899 a society weekly listed 124 persons who had taken up the game. In those days it was considered a little sissified.

It had about the same sporting standing as rolling hoops. Now it is the most popular form of athletic sport in America. Dues at the highest priced golf club, exclusive of initiation fees, are $2,000 a year and a super exclusive club is organizing with a $5,000 initiation fee and $10,000 annual dues.

I have been so annoyed by golf and golf talk that I decided to take it up in self defense. I prepared myself for the usual symptoms of the notive—swinging a cane around the house at imaginary balls or a spool of thread. And prettying up before the mirror in plus fours.

I arrived at the golf course at 9 o'clock which was elegant for me. I broke two borrowed clubs, achieved a buckeye blister on my right heel and strained something or other that gives me a skip to my walk. I bequeath my interest in the game to the public. It may have it for its very own.

Apropos of "that guiltiest feeling" riding home from the golf course the car gave one of those despairing lurches and halted in front of a huge bill-board which bore the sign: "Perspire normally but odorlessly."

An ironic note is to be found at the base of the bronze Fifth Avenue towers which guide auto traffic with the blinking fish-eyed lights. The obsolescent motif is a horse's hoof. There is nothing quite so undignified as climbing a ladder. I've often wanted to be around when the austere and nattily uniformed signalmen mount their perches. And the monotony of their task must be terrific, just sitting in a cramped position for hours waiting for the signal to release or check traffic. They don't even have the fun of bawling out autoists and jay-walkers.

Big city firemen have their thrills but suffer a high average of monotonous tedium. I had one tell me that while he was fond of his fellows he often grew so tired looking at them that he quit speaking for days. I thought only husbands did that.

While motoring today we came upon a thoroughfare near town with the rustic name of Sawmill River Road. One turns suddenly from suburban splendor to behold a vista of old farm houses with dove cotes, sheep folds and old fashioned wells. It seemed to be hundreds of miles from New York instead of less than an hour's journey.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The Business of Advertising.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—The latest panacea for curing the economic ills of the world is declared to be advertising. Advertising men from the four corners of the earth have been spending some time in the United States recenly in connection with the annual meeting of the Associationed Advertising Clubs of the World. The principal sessions of the convention were held at the Sesquicentennial Exposition at Philadelphia and speakers there outlined various ideas of progress through the medium of advertising.

The art of advertising may be claimed as an American invention. It is in this attractive ways of bringing to the attention of the buying public the wares of manufacturers and merchants. England has followed in the steps of the American pioneers largely by the guidance of American advertising experts. The first great British agencies employed Americans to show them the tricks of the trade and Americans still occupy a leading position in the British advertising world.

In this generation far more is spent for advertising than many manufacturers ever dreamed a few years ago. The advance was steady and rapid. The advertiser who ran a paragraph thirty years ago began using a quarter page twenty years ago. In another decade he was using a half page and perhaps five years later had been educated up to the idea of employing a full newspaper or magazine page. This same man now is occasionally using the entire sections of newspapers and magazines to make the public acquainted with his ware.

Outdoor advertising has grown by leaps and bounds until some property is more valuable for the advertising space it offers than for any other use. The electric sign has lengthened the hours during which an outdoor advertisement is working. All this costs a tremendous amount of mony. Many corporations have regular appropriations of a million dollars or more for advertising. These same companies bu t a few years ago would have been amazed at the prospect of doing a gross business of that much.

With the industry becoming so large it is not surprising that it is attracting more and more attention and receiving study from experts in finance, economics, distribution, and politics. At the Philadelphia meeting of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, Dr. Julius Klein, Director of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, made one of the principal addresses and showed to what extent the principal Government agency having to do with business is studying advertising. Dr. Klein discussed the subject from two principal angles: waste in advertising, and trade extension through its judicious use.

The Department of Commerce has spent much effort in studying the general subject of waste in industry. Its investigations have covered nearly every important industry, including advertising. In making up a list of the fifteen major causes of waste in American business Secretary Hoover, as a result of these studies, has included mismanaged advertising.

Study of Markets.

Many millions of dollars are spent annually by American producers and traders for advertising space both in the United States and in foreign countries. Analyses of these expenditures and what returns they produce in the way of new business show that great savings could be effected by more careful study of markets. Apparently on the theory that it is merely enough to talk loudly about a product is all that is needed in advertising, many national advertisers have thrown away millions uselessly.

Dr. Klein pointed out that every market should receive careful study before it is invaded by an advertiser. In many instances the maker of a product which has sold well in America and England will assume that, by the same token, advertising will cause the product to sell in Italy or Greece. This may not be the case at all and by enlisting the cooperation of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the advertiser can ascertain the facts before spending his money and wasting it in fruitless effort.

O. Henry tells a story about how an inexperienced Yankee went to a Central American country and set up a shoe store. A little investigation would have made it known to him that no market existed because the natives did not wear shoes. This merchant adventurer resorted to the ingenious device of importing some cockle burrs from the United States and surreptitiously sprinkling the roads and lanes with them. The natives were forced to buy shoes to protect their feet and he got rid of his stock without loss. However, not every American adventurer into foreign lands can hit upon so novel a device to recoup his losses. Dr. Klein points out that the American advertiser who advertises unwanted products in a foreign market is doing the same thing as the Yankee who took shoes to Central America. He encounters a clear waste which will sap his profits and subtract from the aggregate of business volume.

A heavy responsibility lies upon the men who conduct the big advertising agencies. Too many of them, Dr. Klein believes, are too eager to write contracts for the sake of the immediate business. In this way they use up their clients' advertising appropriations and obtain slight returns. Where they to study their markets carefully and place their advertising more ju-

SPEAKING OF CARRIER PIGEONS

Speaking of carrier pigeons—although no one has done so lately—reminds me of a yarn that may not be true—it sounds almost too good to be true—that was related at the front in 1918. The version frequently told had it that a half company of a regiment in the Rainbow Division, on going forward early one morning in a heavy fog a raid across No Man's Land, carried along with the rest of the customary equipment a homing pigeon. The pigeon in its wicker cage swung on the arm of a private, who likewise was burdened with the rifle, his extra rounds of ammunition, his trenching tool, his pair of wire cutters, his steel helmet, his gas mask, his emegerency ration and quite a number of other more or less cumbersome items.

It was to be a surprise attack behind a cloak of the fog, so there was no artillery preparation beforehand, nor barrage fire as the squads climbed over the top and advanced into the mist hidden beyond. Behind, in the posts of observation and in the post of command the Colonel and his aides and his intelligence officers waited for the sound of firing. When after some minutes the distant rattle of the rifle fire came to their ears they began calculating how long reasonably it might be before word reached them by one or another medium of communication touching on the results of the foray. But the ground telephone remained mute, and no runner returned through the fog with tidings. The suspense increased as time passed.

Suddenly a pigeon sped into view, flying close to the earth. With eager eyes following it in its course the winged messenger circled until it located its portable cote just behind the Colonel's position and fluttering down it entered its familiar shelter.

An athletic member of the staff hustled up the ladder. In half a minute he was tumbling down again, clutching in one hand the little scroll of paper that he had found fastened about the pigeon's leg. With fingers that trembled in anxiety the Colonel unrolled the paper and read aloud what was written upon it.

Soul-Maddening Despair Follows a Midnight Adventure

LOOKING back on those terrible events now, Leonora feels that the cause of all her trouble was a foolish desire for excitement and thrills.

At sixteen she joined the chorus of a musical comedy. Then she met Carlos Mendosa and took the first fatal step that was to lead to tragedy. He attended the show nightly—sent her flowers and invitations to dinner. She was warned against Mendosa, but she was deaf to these warnings.

One night, she slipped away and met Mendosa at a little private dinner. What happened to her following that midnight adventure will rend your heart with pity—and fill you with rage that such things can be.

Leonora tells her story under the title, "Dark Secrets," in the August issue of True Story Magazine — one of the most gripping that has ever appeared in the pages of this great publication.

"Life's Current"—They told Ruth that her sweetheart was a crook, but she refused to believe. They planned to run away—and what happened in the days that followed is an object lesson that no girl can forget.

"Double-Crossed"—They met at a party. It was love at first sight for both. The weeks that followed were like a dream. Then came the awakening. A true life narrative fairly packed with heart-throbs.

"Bonds That Cannot Break"—When they married, she loved him too intensely to be jealous of the wife he had recently divorced. She was to learn that a hasty marriage may exact a penalty that few hearts are prepared to pay.

"As I stood there, shuddering, I saw a man approaching. I shrank deeper into the shadow of the palm grove, when suddenly—"

Uses True Story for Sermons On Life

Dear Sirs: Wolcott, White Co., Ind.

Long life to such a publication as True Story Magazine. My confidence in and admiration for Bernarr Macfadden is great enough to justify my saying—any publication bearing his name is proof sufficient that it is of a high moral character.

I find my vocabulary inadequate to express how manifold are the helps I have secured from True Story's pages. Many of the sermons listed in the enclosed pamphlet can be traced to inspiration found in the many issues of True Story I have read.

I have two other reasons for endorsing True Story, Mary Elizabeth and Frances Leda—my daughters. I unhesitatingly recommend it to clergymen, fathers, mothers, young people, and appeal in its behalf for a place in every church library.

REPORT CROPS IN GOOD CONDITION

Crops in West Virginia were reported in good condition during the week ending June 29, by the U. S. department of agriculture, weather bureau office, Parkersburg. The weather was reported continually cool and generally dry, with adequate sunshine for crops.

Although cool, all crops apparently made fair to good growth, owing to the lateness of the season.

"Corn is from two two three weeks late, but has made fair growth and has a good color. Its cultivation is general.

"Potatoes made excellent growth and are in good condition, with the crop generally in bloom. Early varieties are being marketed in a few localities.

"Pastures and meadows are improved but continue short. Most meadows are very short. Tobacco plants are being set out, and large crop of cherries has been secured. The apples continue to fall but the crop is apparently large."

CAMP TRAINING BEGINS TOMORROW

Newell and Hancock county youths who has been accepted for military training will report tomorrow at Camp Knox, K. More than 1,600 will attend this camp from West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Everything is in readiness at Camp Knox for the reception of the candidates. Regular and reserve officers who will act as instructors have been on duty since June 25, and the camp has been "policed" by the regular army organizations which will train the candidates. These include the third battalion of the Eleventh infantry and the third field artillery from Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., and Troop F. Sixth Cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

Upon their arrival at Camp Knox, the candidates will first undergo a physical examination, the results of which will be sent to their parents. Those who survive this careful scrutiny will be given clothing valued at approximately $25 and personal equipment amounting to about $60.

HOMER LAUGHLIN TO MEET CHESTER

Homer Laughlin China and Chester will meet in a play off game to decide the winner of the first half of the Industrial league season.

Both West Virginia clubs were victorious in the final contests Saturday. Laughlin won two games from Victory Motors, the first by forfeit, while Chester had no trouble, trimming Knowles, Taylor and Knowles.

Date of the game will probably be fixed at a meeting of the league managers tonight.

Return From Trips.

Number of local residents returned last evening from holiday vacation trips at other places. Many visited parks in Eastern Ohio, while others attended the baseball games in Pittsburgh. Several industrial plants resumed operations today.

Mid Week Services.

Mid week prayer services will be teld tomorrow evening in several of the local churches. Pastors will be in charge of the devotionals. Cottage prayer meetings for members of the Church of Nazarene will be held this evening.

After making several successful raids in one night two men unwittingly broke into the home of a detective at Romford, England, and were arrested.

S-51 WITH ITS CARGO OF DEAD ON WAY HOME

Resurrected Submarine is Being Towed to Brooklyn.

33 HEROES LOST

Nine Months' Battle With Sea is Not Yet Over.

ABOARD U. S. S. VESTAL, OFF NEW LONDON, CONN., July 6. — Resurrected submarine S-51 with its cargo of dead heroes was homeward bound today.

Raised from its muddy bier at the bottom of the sea off Block Island by an American naval engineering feat unprecedented in salvage history, the submarine was being towed toward Brooklyn navy yard where its grim story will be unsealed.

The gaping wound in her side bound tight with buoyant pontoons, the vessel cut down last September by a steamer with the loss of 33 of the submarine's crew was being nursed through Long Island sound on its voyage of 140 miles to the navy yard dry dock in New York.

To Run Hell Gate Gauntlet.

The nine months' old battle with the sea is not yet over as the towing of the submarine is fraught with danger. With the sea growing more choppy today under an increasing wind the popping of one or more of the supporting pontoons might send the recovered S-51 to the bottom again and perhaps work havoc amid the escorting fleet of vessels.

The towing fleet will face its greatest crisis other than stormy weather when it reaches Execution Rock opposite New Rochell, New York, where it will prepare to run the gauntlet of Hell Gate with its treacherous tide and turbulent water.

Before setting out on its slow journey, expected to consume 48 hours, the towing fleet anchored in shallow water off Point Judith, Conn., where through the night the towing bridles on the submarine were examined and the eight pontoons readjusted. The giant naval derrick United States, ready for an emergency, joined the fleet there.

Navy Reclaims Dead.

The navy is proud that it has won the desperate fight to reclaim its dead. When the sea foamed green bubbles and surrendered the submarine to the sunlight, a mighty cheer burst forth from the thousand men of the salvage fleet. Lieut-Commander Edward Ellsburg, construction expert, tossed his hat overboard in exultation when his months of labor was finally rewarded.

Chief Torpedo Man Jean Paradis, veteran diver and compression room expert, paid tribute to the heroism of the score of divers who risked their lives in the raising operation.

Paradis, according to officers, merits praise himself for pulling through many a dangerous case of "bends" and "groundhog's itch" among the divers. Paradis estimated that more than a thousand dives were made since the S-51 was sunk.

Strange Cortege.

Daybreak saw a strange cortege looming against the skyline. Moving imperceptibly at three knots an hour, an Indian file of naval vessels eased a stricken sister toward her haven of rest.

The motor ship Vestal led the procession with her masthead flying the international signal to clear traffic for a submerged wreck under tow. Next steamed the naval tugs Iuka and Sagamore, one behind the other, drawing the tow line to the floating tomb. Behind came the diving ship Falcon serving as buffer with a cable to the S-51's stern. A score of air lines ran from the Falcon to the hull and pontoons of the submarine.

Fate willing, the S-51 should be delivered into dry dock at the Brooklyn navy yard where it will be drained of water and its unexplored compartments entered. A score of bodies are expected to be found within. There is one body inextricable under water wedged into the machinery of the engine room it was revealed today by divers who were forced to creep of it.

Naval Diver in Hospital.

"The raising of the S-51 marks the first successful deep sea diving in submarine salvage work," said Paradis. The submarine was buried in 130 feet of water."

"Tug" Wilson, a naval diver in the hospital with appendicitis induced by the bends, glowed over the news of the submarine's raising. "I'm glad the boys did it but I'm sorry I missed seeing her come up," "Tug" said today.

The old "gobs" in the salvage fleet today attributed the success of the operation to the fact that Mother Carey's chickens were seen hovering over the wreck, they seldom being seen so close to shore.

Charles Jackson, Colored, is Given 30-day Jail Stay

Charles Jackson, colored, of Fairmont, W. Va., was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley, Monday morning, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny filed against him by the police.

Jackson was arrested by Patrolman Roth Saturday afternoon upon complaint of the manager of a Fifth street store. The manager told police he became suspicious when he saw the shopper slip several pieces of female lingerie into a paper shopping bag which he carried.

The manager followed the man into the street and held him until the arrival of the police. Nearly a dozen pieces of silk and satin undergarments were found in the bag, police said.

Europe compete as single units, and we need units of at least equal size.

BELGIAN and French francs fell yesterday to a new low price for all time. The situation is most serious.

FRENCH statesmanship is in a dilemma. Unless the enormous gold reserve of France is used to steady the franc, it may fade away like the cat in "Alice in Wonderland." If the gold is used, France fears the metal will be sent out of the country, leaving France stripped of gold.

Nobody really knows anything about finance, and therefore France, one of the most industrious countries in the world, produces nobody with a plan to protect the national currency.

SALEM LAWYER ROTARY GUEST

H. M. McCarthy is Speaker at Noon Luncheon.

A patriotic address, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, by Attorney H. M. McCarthy, member of the law firm of Metzgar & McCarthy, Salem, was delivered at the noon luncheon meeting today of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A. McCarthy's subject was "Democracy."

Malcolm Thompson presided at the meeting, attended by about 40 members. The chorus singing was led by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist. Wilson F. Smith will be chairman of next week's meeting at which State Forester Edmund H. Seacrist, Wooster, will be the speaker.

McCarthy was introduced by Frederick W. Herche, Sixth street druggist.

"Almost every democracy in the world today is being rocked by internal trouble," he said. "Even in our own country there are rumblings which lead us to believe that this democracy, founded by our forefathers 150 years ago, is not as safe as it was at one time.

"Seven years have not passed since the last shot was fired in France to make the world safe for democracy. And yet the world is not safe for democracy and democracy is not safe for the world.

There can be no doubt as to the patriotism of the American people in time of war for they have been tried in fire and found to be true. Yet the American people are lacking in patriotism in times of peace. William McKinley, our martyred president, once said 'There is no class distinction in this country of ours.' Every man is born free and equal and each citizen is guaranteed equal protection under the laws of the land."

ped his car and arranged for the man's removal to the hospital, where he was attended by Dr. C. H. Bailey. McCormick's condition is not serious.

Mrs. White and her husband were traveling toward East Liverpool at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when their car is said to have been sideswiped by another automobile traveling in the opposite direction. The woman's head and right knee were cut by broken glass from the windshield. She was brought to the City hospital where her injuries were dressed by Dr. W. N. Gilmore. Other occupants in the two cars were unhurt.

Coupe Overturns Twice.

Brady Fetty, Dixonville, and Mrs. Ethel McKenzie, Broadway, narrowly escaped injury when Fetty's Chevrolet coupe, went over a 25-foot embankment, just south of Ross Meadows, on the Lincoln highway at 8:15 o'clock last night. Fetty claims the accident occurred when he was forced off the road by a large car.

The Fetty coupe overturned twice and landed on its side. Fetty and his companion, who were in the car when it came to a stop, were extricated through a window. Neither of them was seriously hurt. The coupe was pulled to the road by wrecking equipment from the Earl Grate garage at Stop 55.

Benjamin Marsh, who is said to be a member of the Allegheny county planning commission, Pittsburgh, escaped unhurt when his automobile was sideswiped by a car driven by Edward Keeper, West Ninth street, along the Wellsville-East Liverpool road just west of the corporate limits at 9:30 o'clock Sunday night.

Keeper was arrested by Captain Conley, charged with fast and reckless driving. He was later charged with intoxication. Upon arraignment before Judge Hanley Monday morning, he was fined $10 and costs upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon Keeper's promise that he would pay for the damages done to Marsh's car. Keeper said that he was blinded by the glaring headlights of another automobile in the road just in front of Marsh, who had stopped his car when the light globes burned out.

Crash West of Lisbon.

W. H. Taylor and wife, 613 Belmont avenue, Youngstown, were unhurt when their Star sedan, went over a steep embankment on the Lincoln highway, near the county home road, west of Lisbon, at 4 o'clock Monday morning. Taylor claims that he was blinded by the lights of another car. His sedan was towed to the Lincoln Highway garage, Lisbon.

A Columbia sedan, owned by Mrs. Rachael Smith, West Sixth street, this city, and driven by Victor Madel, who traveling south on the Salem-Lisbon road, collided with an Oldsmobile sedan, operated by Frank Rainiak, Salem, early Sunday evening. The Smith car was ditched at one side of the road. The Salem sedan lost a wheel and its left running board and fenders were damaged. No one was injured. The Smith car was driven back to East Liverpool under its own power, but the other was towed to a Salem garage for repairs.

sonable to believe that at the next session of congress consideration of the entire legislative program proposed by the treasury to strengthen enforcement will be completed."

"Most of the proposals have been favorably reported by their respective committees and given place in the calandars," the statement said.

To Sail for Europe.

Andrews was appointed April 1, 1925. He was a West Point graduate and distinguished himself as a reorganizer of the military police in France after the war. Retiring from the army immediately after the war, he became receiver for a number of bankrupt New York state railroads.

The prohibition chief will devote himself to winding up the affairs of the bankrupt railroads, and later become offiliated with a nationally known corporation.

Andrews left Washington this afternoon for New York and tonight will sail for London in an effort to negotiate a new anti-rum smuggling agreement with great Britain.

During his incumbancy as prohibition chief, Andrews made a number of radical changes in government enforcement methods. He sought to remove prohibition appointments from politics, proposed that the government buy up all the existing whiskey and distribute it to the consumers, drafted an executive order conferring on state and city enforcement officers powers of the federal government, and brought about other changes which threw the politicians into a turmoil.

Before the senate committee investigating prohibition, he created a sensation by declaring that legalization of 2.75 per cent beer would make enforcement easier.

Andrews proposed a number of radical amendments to the Volstead Act which failed of passage in the last congress.

Two Appointments Made.

WASHINGTON, July 6. — John D. Pennington, a retired naval officer, was today appointed prohibition commissioner for the western district of Pennsylvania, succeeding E. R. Ray, who resigned after making charges that "influence" impeded his work.

At the same time, the treasury announced the appointment of Vincent Symington, an attorney in the prohibition bureau, as chief of intelligence.

2,400,000 Persons Directly Affected By Subway Strike

NEW YORK, July 6.—Motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit company went on strike today because of refusal of the company to grant them a raise in pay.

Motormen wanted $1 per hour; switchmen 75 cents per hour.

They had been getting: Motormen, first year, 69 cents per hour; second year, 75 cents; third year and thereafter, 82 cents. Switchmen, 58 cents first year; 61 cents second year and thereafter until promoted to motormen.

The number of passengers directly affected by the strike is estimated at 2,400,000. Hundreds of others were inconvenienced and delayed to work because these people used other means of transportation, crowding surface trains, "L" lines, busses and the other main subway line — the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, which there is no strike.

Transportation schedules on all lines were thrown into disorder.

New York Strike

Under normal conditions 2,400,000 habitually use the Interborough.

The huge throngs of workers used every means of conveyance to get to work. They took street cars, taxicabs, automobiles and busses and the "L" lines. Some even used bicycles. The other main subway, the Brooklyn-Manhattan transit, was running as usual but it was taxed far beyond capacity. Thousands of workers walked to their places of employment.

Thousands milled in confusion at the principal subway stations, unable to get on the few trains that were running on the Interborough line.

A drizzling rain fell during the morning, adding to the inconveniences of the thousands struggling to get to work.

Office routine was disrupted, as almost every employe in the city was late in getting to work, some of those who had to walk being several hours men and switchmen of the subway late.

Early reports were that 752 motor had responded 100 per cent to the strike call. Leaders of the union declared that the strike would spread. Some of them asserted that a total of 1,500 employes of the Interborough, including power-house men, station ors, had joined the ranks of the agents, porters, guards and conduct strikers.

The Interborough issued a statement saying that their line was in operation; that trains were being taken out by regular employes of the road; that only minor disturbances were reported.

Funeral Services For Auto Victim Held Here Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Otto Coppage, 25, known as Opal Woodyard, who was struck and killed by an automobile near Portage lake, Akron, were held this afternoon at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Thorne, 1072 Dresden avenue, in charge of Field Major Joseph Hughes, of the Salvation Army. Burial was made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Senate Committee Acts as J. M. Morin Ignores Summons

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The senate slush fund committee today ordered the sergeant-at-arms of the senate to "require the presence" of Representative John M. Morin, (R) of Pennsylvania at the senate hearings.

The order, tantamount to placing Morin under arrest, was issued after the congressman three times failed to respond to a committee subpoena.

"The sergeant-at-arms has been instructed to immediately require the presence of Congressman Morin," Senator King (D), of Utah acting chairman, announced. "If necessary, he will go to the home of Morin at Atlantic City and bring him here."

Body of Wooster Man, Missing Four Months, is Found

WOOSTER, July 6.—The fourth-month-old mystery of the disappearance of Timothy Sheehan, 82, was cleared up today when clothing around a skeleton found in a ravine east of the city was identified as Sheehan's. The aged man is supposed to have rolled down from the top of a 40-foot cliff.

Homage Paid Jurist

"He was the noblest type of American manhood, self-reliant and self-made, incorruptible in public life and pure in private conduct.

"As a lawyer he was firm and uncompromising as an adversary, but was just and courteous to the bitterest opponent.

"Personal integrity, great kindness of heart, a wide human sympathy and a pure home life were virtues that all accorded him. As a lawyer he was among the best at the bar. He possessed the capacity to grasp a case and hold it in all its details. His perceptive faculties were well developed and during the course of a trial he could see a certain turn in a case before he reached it, and possessed the tact to meet an unfavorable circumstance and to turn it to his advantage. His powers of analysis were large, yet fully equalled by those of combination and construction.

"As a judge he was remarkably courteous to the members of the bar and seldom got out of temper. He was a just judge. He, like other judges, sometimes made a mistake as to the law, but his mistakes were those of the head and not of the heart.

"We, the members of the bar, are grief-stricken at the loss of our beloved judge.

"Resolved, that in the death of Judge Moore, the bar has lost an able member and the county has lost a just judge; that a copy of this memorial and resolution be spread upon the record of the common pleas court of Columbiana county, and a copy delivered to the brother and sisters of the deceased.

Spence Memorial.

The memorial upon the death of Mr. Spence follows:

"J. Frank Spence was born in Elkrun township, this county, December 15, 1858, the son of John and Luretta M. Spence. He was educated in the township schools, the schools at Lisbon, then New Lisbon, and later at Mt. Union college and Oberlin college. After the completion of his collegiate course he read law as a student in the offices of John and Harvey Morrison, then one of the more prominent law firms of this county. He was admitted to the bar and for some years practiced in East Liverpool and at Lisbon in association with his brother, the Hon. W. H. Spence.

"The profession of civil engineer, however, seemed to have more attraction for him than did the law and he soon turned his attention to that profession, following in the footsteps of his father, with whom he worked as a boy.

"While he always maintained his connection at the bar, and was a member in good standing at the time of his death, for many years past his time and energies were largely devoted to civil engineering and surveying. In this profession he attained and long held an enviable position. As a mining engineer perhaps no man in this section had a wider or more varied experience. The coal development about Lisbon and in the West Point field was almost entirely under his engineering supervision. The Y. & O. railroad constructed under his direction and over a route surveyed and recommended by him. His general engineering work took him into every township in the county and in each municipality in the county are one or more additions laid out and platted by him.

"He took particular delight in working upon and had a happy faculty for the successful solution of problems arising out of the platting of old surveys, the location of disputed property lines and the re-establishment of lost corner stones and monuments. Association with him in this class of work was particularly helpful, because of his understanding of legal principals involved.

"Politically he was a staunch and rugged Democrat, standing high in the party organization, and actively interested in all its political issues. It was his political misfortune, however, to live his entire life in a strongly Republican county, so that he never achieved, perhaps never seriously sought, political preferment.

"He had a wide personal acquaintance extending over this and adjoining counties. He knew more people perhaps than does the average man and was known by more than he knew. To meet him was a remember him. Interested in many subjects, he had his own opinion about them all. He loved to visit with his friends. Of anecdotes, pertinent, well told and to the point he had no end. Wit, humor, sarcasm, repartee, each seemed instantly and equally available to him to sustain or illustrate the point he sought to make. And points he did make and many heated discussions were ended in a laugh because of his —"that reminds me of a story—".

"He never married and for years lived with his brother, David, and his unmarried sisters on the farm where he died on the 28th of June this year.

This adjoins the farm on which he was born. His entire life was spent at practically the same place and with the same people. His intimate home life, known best and of course, appreciated most by his own family, is the best indication of his true character. Therein a kindly consideration and unswerving loyalty has been exhibited throughout a life of unfailing service to those with whom he lived—for himself no thought of personal success or achievement—for them comfort and happiness. And in this he did not fail. His people have lost a kindly brother, their loss the harder to bear because of the shock of the manner of his going; the county has lost a useful citizen; the members of the bar an associate and friend.

"On behalf of the bar of this county, this committee extends to the surviving brothers and sisters our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy.

FOR Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.

S-51 WITH ITS CARGO OF DEAD ON WAY HOME

Resurrected Submarine is Being Towed to Brooklyn.

33 HEROES LOST

Nine Months' Battle With Sea is Not Yet Over.

ABOARD U. S. S. VESTAL, OFF NEW LONDON, CONN., July 6. — Resurrected submarine S-51 with its cargo of dead heroes was homeward bound today.

Raised from its muddy bier at the bottom of the sea off Block Island by an American naval engineering feat unprecedented in salvage history, the submarine was being towed toward Brooklyn navy yard where its grim story will be unsealed.

The gaping wound in her side bound tight with buoyant pontoons, the vessel cut down last September by a steamer with the loss of 33 of the submarine's crew was being nursed through Long Island sound on its voyage of 140 miles to the navy yard dry dock in New York.

To Run Hell Gate Gauntlet.

The nine months' old battle with the sea is not yet over as the towing of the submarine is fraught with danger. With the sea growing more choppy today under an increasing wind the popping of one or more of the supporting pontoons might send the recovered S-51 to the bottom again and perhaps work havoc amid the escorting fleet of vessels.

The towing fleet will face its greatest crisis other than stormy weather when it reaches Execution Rock opposite New Rochell, New York, where it will prepare to run the gauntlet of Hell Gate with its treacherous tide and turbulent water.

Before setting out on its slow journey, expected to consume 48-hours, the towing fleet anchored in shallow water off Point Judith, Conn., where through the night the towing bridles on the submarine were examined and the eight pontoons readjusted. The giant naval derrick United States, ready for an emergency, joined the fleet there.

Navy Reclaims Dead.

The navy is proud that it has won the desperate fight to reclaim its dead. When the sea foamed green bubbles, and surrendered the submarine to the sunlight, a mighty cheer burst forth from the thousand men of the salvage fleet. Lieut-Commander Edward Ellsburg, construction expert, tossed his hat overboard in exultation when his months of labor was finally rewarded.

Chief Torpedo Man Jean Paradis, veteran diver and compression room expert, paid tribute to the heroism of the score of divers who risked their lives in the raising operation.

Paradis, according to officers, merits praise himself for pulling through many a dangerous case of "bends" and "groundhog's itch" among the divers. Paradis estimated that more than a thousand dives were made since the S-51 was sunk.

Strange Cortege.

Daybreak saw a strange cortege looming against the skyline. Moving imperceptibly at three knots an hour, an Indian file of naval vessels eased a stricken sister toward her haven of rest.

The motor ship Vestal led the procession with her masthead flying the international signal to clear traffic for a submerged wreck under tow. Next steamed the naval tugs Iuka and Sagamore, one behind the other, drawing the tow line to the floating tomb. Behind came the diving ship Falcon serving as buffer with a cable to the S-51's stern. A score of air lines ran from the Falcon to the hull and pontoons of the submarine.

Fate willing, the S-51 should be delivered into dry dock at the Brooklyn navy yard where it will be drained of water and its unexplored compartments entered. A score of bodies are expected to be found within. There is one body inextricable under water wedged into the machinery of the engine room it was revealed today by divers who were forced to creep of it.

Naval Diver in Hospital.

"The raising of the S-51 marks the first successful deep sea diving in submarine salvage work," said Paradis. The submarine was buried in 130 feet of water."

"Tug" Wilson, a naval diver in the hospital with appendicitis induced by the bends, glowed over the news of the submarine's raising. "I'm glad the boys did it but I'm sorry I missed seeing her come up," "Tug" said today.

The old "gobs" in the salvage fleet today attributed the success of the operation to the fact that Mother Carey's chickens were seen hovering over the wreck, they seldom being seen so close to shore.

Charles Jackson, Colored, is Given 30-day Jail Stay

Charles Jackson, colored, of Fairmont, W. Va., was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Municipal Judge Hanley, Monday morning, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of petit larceny filed against him by the police.

Jackson was arrested by Patrolman Roth Saturday afternoon upon complaint of the manager of a Fifth street store. The manager told police he became suspicious when he saw the shopper slip several pieces of female lingerie into a paper shopping bag which he carried.

The manager followed the man into the street and held him until the arrival of the police. Nearly a dozen pieces of silk and satin undergarments were found in the bag, police said.

TODAY

Europe compete as single units, and we need units of at least equal size.

BELGIAN and French francs fell yesterday to a new low price for all time. The situation is most serious.

FRENCH statesmanship is in a dilemma. Unless the enormous gold reserve of France is used to steady the franc, it may fade away like the cat in "Alice in Wonderland." If the gold is used, France fears the metal will be sent out of the country, leaving France stripped of gold.

Nobody really knows anything about finance, and therefore France, one of the most industrious countries in the world, produces nobody with a plan to protect the national currency.

SALEM LAWYER ROTARY GUEST

H. M. McCarthy is Speaker at Noon Luncheon.

A patriotic address, commemorating the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, by Attorney H. M. McCarthy, member of the law firm of Metzgar & McCarthy, Salem, was delivered at the noon luncheon meeting today of the Rotary club at the Y. M. C. A. McCarthy's subject was "Democracy."

Malcolm Thompson presided at the meeting, attended by about 40 members. The chorus singing was led by Attorney Blaine H. Cochran with Mrs. Danks Cochran as accompanist. Wilson F. Smith will be chairman of next week's meeting at which State Forester Edmund H. Seacrist, Wooster, will be the speaker.

McCarthy was introduced by Frederick W. Herche, Sixth street druggist.

"Almost every democracy in the world today is being rocked by internal trouble," he said. "Even in our own country there are rumblings which lead us to believe that this democracy, founded by our forefathers 150 years ago, is not as safe as it was at one time.

"Seven years have not passed since the last shot was fired in France to make the world safe for democracy. And yet the world is not safe for democracy and democracy is not safe for the world.

There can be no doubt as to the patriotism of the American people in time of war for they have been tried in fire and found to be true. Yet the American people are lacking in patriotism in times of peace. William McKinley, our martyred president, once said 'There is no class distinction in this country of ours.' Every man is born free and equal and each citizen is guaranteed equal protection under the laws of the land."

ped his car and arranged for the man's removal to the hospital, where he was attended by Dr. C. H. Bailey. McCormick's condition is not serious.

Brady Fetty, Dixonville, and Mrs. Ethel McKenzie, Broadway, narrowly escaped injury when Fetty's Chevrolet coupe, went over a 25-foot embankment, just south of Ross Meadows, on the Lincoln highway at 8:15 o'clock last night. Fetty claims the accident occurred when he was forced off the road by a large car.

The Fetty coupe overturned twice and landed on its side. Fetty and his companion, who were in the car when it came to a stop, were extricated through a window. Neither of them was seriously hurt. The coupe was pulled to the road by wrecking equipment from the Earl Grate garage at Stop 55.

Benjamin Marsh, who is said to be a member of the Allegheny county planning commission, Pittsburgh, escaped unhurt when his automobile was sideswiped by a car driven by Edward Keeper, West Ninth street, along the Wellsville-East Liverpool road just west of the corporate limits at 9:30 o'clock Sunday night.

Keeper was arrested by Captain Conley, charged with fast and reckless driving. He was later charged with intoxication. Upon arraignment before Judge Hanley Monday morning, he was fined $10 and costs upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon the intoxication charge, but action on the other charge was deferred upon Keeper's promise that he would pay for the damages done to Marsh's car. Keeper said that he was blinded by the glaring headlights of another automobile in the road just in front of Marsh, who had stopped his car when the light globes burned out.

W. H. Taylor and wife, 613 Belmont avenue, Youngstown, were unhurt when their Star sedan, went over a steep embankment on the Lincoln highway, near the county home road, west of Lisbon, at 4 o'clock Monday morning. A Columbia sedan, owned by Mrs. Rachael Smith, West Sixth street, this city, and driven by Victor Madel, who traveling south on the Salem-Lisbon road, collided with an Oldsmobile sedan, operated by Frank Rainiak, Salem, early Sunday evening. The Smith car was ditched at one side of the road. The Salem sedan lost a wheel and its left running board and fenders were damaged. No one was injured. The Smith car was driven back to East Liverpool under its own power, but the other was towed to a Salem garage for repairs.

sonable to believe that at the next session of congress consideration of the entire legislative program proposed by the treasury to strengthen enforcement will be completed."

"Most of the proposals have been favorably reported by their respective committees and given place in the calandars," the statement said.

"Meantime our ad interim study and experience may well result in improving these proposed measures before the final enactment."

To Sail for Europe.

Andrews was appointed April 1, 1925. He was a West Point graduate and distinguished himself as a reorganizer of the military police in France after the war. Retiring from the army immediately after the war, he became receiver for a number of bankrupt New York state railroads.

The prohibition chief will devote himself to winding up the affairs of the bankrupt railroads, and later become offiliated with a nationally known corporation.

Andrews left Washington this afternoon for New York and tonight will sail for London in an effort to negotiate a new anti-rum smuggling agreement with great Britain.

During his incumbancy as prohibition chief, Andrews made a number of radical changes in government enforcement methods. He sought to remove prohibition appointments from politics, proposed that the government buy up all the existing whiskey and distribute it to the consumers, drafted an executive order conferring on state and city enforcement officers powers of the federal government, and brought about other changes which threw the politicians into a turmoil.

Before the senate committee investigating prohibition, he created a sensation by declaring that legalization of 2.75 per cent beer would make enforcement easier.

Andrews proposed a number of radical amendments to the Volstead Act which failed of passage in the last congress.

Two Appointments Made.

WASHINGTON, July 6. — John D. Pennington, a retired naval officer, was today appointed prohibition commissioner for the western district of Pennsylvania, succeeding E. R. Ray, who resigned after making charges that "influence" impeded his work.

At the same time, the treasury announced the appointment of Vincent Symington, an attorney in the prohibition bureau, as chief of intelligence.

2,400,000 Persons Directly Affected By Subway Strike

NEW YORK, July 6.—Motormen and switchmen of the Interborough Rapid Transit company went on strike today because of refusal of the company to grant them a raise in pay.

Motormen wanted $1 per hour; switchmen 75 cents per hour.

They had been getting; Motormen, first year, 69 cents per hour; second year, 75 cents; third year and thereafter, 82 cents. Switchmen, 58 cents first year; 61 cents second year and thereafter until promoted to motormen.

The number of passengers directly affected by the strike is estimated at 2,400,000. Hundreds of others were inconvenienced and delayed to work because these people used other means of transportation, crowding surface trains, "L" lines, busses and the other main subway line — the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, which there is no strike.

Transportation schedules on all lines were thrown into disorder.

New York Strike

Under normal conditions 2,400,000 habitually use the Interborough.

The huge throngs of workers used every means of conveyance to get to work. They took street cars, taxicabs, automobiles and busses and the "L" lines. Some even used bicycles. The other main subway, the Brooklyn-Manhattan transit, was running as usual but it was taxed far beyond capacity. Thousands of workers walked to their places of employment.

Thousands milled in confusion at the principal subway stations, unable to get on the few trains that were running on the Interborough line.

A drizzling rain fell during the morning, adding to the inconveniences of the thousands struggling to get to work.

Office routine was disrupted, as almost every employe in the city was late in getting to work, some of those who had to walk being several hours men and switchmen of the subway late.

Early reports were that 752 motorhad responded 100 per cent to the strike call. Leaders of the union declared that the strike would spread. Some of them asserted that a total of 1,500 employes of the Interborough, including power-house men, stationors, had joined the ranks of the agents, porters, guards and conductstrikers.

The Interborough issued a statement saying that their line was in operation; that trains were being taken out by regular employes of the road; that only minor disturbances were reported.

Burial was made in Spring Grove cemetery.

Senate Committee Acts as J. M. Morin Ignores Summons

WASHINGTON, July 6.—The senate slush fund committee today ordered the sergeant-at-arms of the senate to "require the presence" of Representative John M. Morin, (R) of Pennsylvania at the senate hearings.

The order, tantamount to placing Morin under arrest, was issued after the congressman three times failed to respond to a committee subpoena.

"The sergeant-at-arms has been instructed to immediately require the presence of Congressman Morin," Senator King (D), of Utah acting chairman, announced. "If necessary, he will go to the home of Morin at Atlantic City and bring him here."

Homage Paid Jurist

"He was the noblest type of American manhood, self-reliant and self-made, incorruptible in public life and pure in private conduct.

"As a lawyer he was firm and uncompromising as an adversary, but was just and courteous to the bitterest opponent.

"Personal integrity, great kindness of heart, a wide human sympathy and a pure home life were virtues that all accorded him. As a lawyer he was among the best at the bar. He possessed the capacity to grasp a case and hold it in all its details. His perceptive faculties were well developed and during the course of a trial he could see a certain turn in a case before he reached it, and possessed the tact to meet an unfavorable circumstance and to turn it to his advantage. His powers of analysis were large, yet fully equalled by those of combination and construction.

"As a judge he was remarkably courteous to the members of the bar and seldom got out of temper. He was a just judge. He, like other judges, sometimes made a mistake as to the law, but his mistakes were those of the head and not of the heart.

"We, the members of the bar, are grief-stricken at the loss of our beloved judge.

"Resolved, that in the death of Judge Moore, the bar has lost an able member and the county has lost a just judge; that a copy of this memorial and resolution be spread upon the record of the common pleas court of Columbiana county, and a copy delivered to the brother and sisters of the deceased.

Spence Memorial.

The memorial upon the death of Mr. Spence follows:

"J. Frank Spence was born in Elkrun township, this county, December 15, 1858, the son of John and Luretta M. Spence. He was educated in the township schools, the schools at Lisbon, then New Lisbon, and later at Mt. Union college and Oberlin college. After the completion of his collegiate course he read law as a student in the offices of John and Harvey Morrison, then one of the more prominent law firms of this county. He was admitted to the bar and for some years practiced in East Liverpool and at Lisbon in association with his brother, the Hon. W. H. Spence.

"The profession of civil engineer, however, seemed to have more attraction for him than did the law and he soon turned his attention to that profession, following in the footsteps of his father, with whom he worked as a boy.

"While he always maintained his connection at the bar, and was a member in good standing at the time of his death, for many years past his time and energies were largely devoted to civil engineering and surveying. In this profession he attained and long held an enviable position. As a mining engineer perhaps no man in this section had a wider or more varied experience. The coal development about Lisbon and in the West Point field was almost entirely under his engineering supervision. The Y. & O. railroad constructed under his direction and over a route surveyed and recommended by him. His general engineering work took him into every township in the county and in each municipality in the county are one or more additions laid out and platted by him.

"He took particular delight in working upon and had a happy faculty for the successful solution of problems arising out of the platting of old surveys, the location of disputed property lines and the re-establishment of lost corner stones and monuments. Association with him in this class of work was particularly helpful, because of his understanding of legal principals involved.

"Politically he was a staunch and rugged Democrat, standing high in the party organization, and actively interested in all its political issues. It was his political misfortune, however, to live his entire life in a strongly Republican county, so that he never achieved, perhaps never seriously sought, political preferment.

"He had a wide personal acquaintance extending over this and adjoining counties. He knew more people perhaps than does the average man and was known by more than he knew. To meet him was a remember him. Interested in many subjects, he had his own opinion about them all. He loved to visit with his friends. Of anecdotes, pertinent, well told and to the point he had no end. Wit, humor, sarcasm, repartee, each seemed instantly and equally available to him to sustain or illustrate the point he sought to make. And points he did make and many heated discussions were ended in a laugh because of his —"that reminds me of a story—".

"He never married and for years lived with his brother, David, and his unmarried sisters on the farm where he died on the 28th of June this year.

This adjoins the farm on which he was born. His entire life was spent at practically the same place and with the same people. His intimate home life, known best and of course, appreciated most by his own family, is the best indication of his true character. Therein a kindly consideration and unswerving loyalty has been exhibited throughout a life of unfailing service to those with whom he lived—for himself no thought of personal success or achievement—for them comfort and happiness. And in this he did not fail. His people have lost a kindly brother, their loss the harder to bear because of the shock of the manner of his going; the county has lost a useful citizen; the members of the bar an associate and friend.

"On behalf of the bar of this county, this committee extends to the surviving brothers and sisters our deepest and most heartfelt sympathy.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

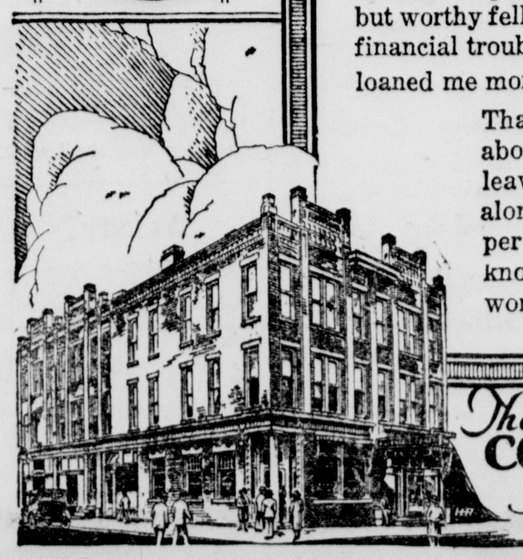

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Try a 25c Bottle

Insist upon "Phillips." Twenty-five cent and fifty cent bottles, any drug store.

The Reason I Left My Money Here

remarked one depositor, "is that I want to make it possible for some other poor but worthy fellow to borrow when he is in financial trouble the same as I when you loaned me money a year ago."

That is the way folks feel about this institution. They leave their money here not alone because it pays them five per cent, but because they know it is being put to good work while in our hands.

REAL BUCKERS WITH 101 RANCH

Frontiersman Gets Goats of Many Daring Caballeros.

They brought one of the 101 Ranch frontiersmen to New York last year to lend atmosphere as a Texas Ranger to a Broadway hit. He brought back the line, "I'm the best damned caballero in all Mexico!" spoken in the play by a Mex grandee. So, that's the gag line among the three hundred Real Wild West and Great Far East, cowboys and cowgirls with 101 Ranch coming to Columbian park on Saturday, July 17, when one of their number gets "policed" by a pitching bronco. Above we see Silver Tip Baker fooling "Nose Dive," the black demon, and chagrinning the boys who, with Tex Cooper, were ready to chant, "I'm the best damned caballero in all Mexico!" There are 1,200 arena performers, counting the Indians and the Russian Cossack circus, with 101 and when they get a cowhand's goat, it's awful, especially as the 101 outlaw string of bronchos get the goats of many champions at each performance. The India rubber, high voltage, sky skimming bronchos have learned to somersault, you know.

JAM AND JELLY MAKING MADE EASY AND SURE

Today it is no more necessary for you to make your jams and jellies by the old, long-boil method than it is for you to light your house with candles or spend the morning washing lamp chimneys.

The reason for the old-fashioned method of "boiling fruit down" was that no fruit contains enough jelly-substance to jellify all of its juice. Therefore a large amount of juice had to be boiled away.

But now with Certo (the jellying substance of fruit refined and bottled) you can use any fruit you like—even one which has never jelled before—boil it only one or two minutes, and get a perfect tender "set."

This short boil with Certo saves all of your fruit and juice—its fresh flavor—its bright color—its bulk. You get half again more jam or jelly. It takes less time to make it and it tastes better, looks better and cannot fail to jell.

A recipe book comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending upon the recipe used. State Law Governing Granting of Teachers' Certificates Cited

Contrary to the view entertained by many who have planned to enter the County Normal school at Lisbon next fall, section 7832-2 of the general code of Ohio does not provide that two years of normal work is required before a teachers' certificate can be granted. In fact, such certificate is granted following one year study at the county normal. The section of the code under which such certificates are granted reads:

"The county board of school examiners shall grant elementary certificates valid for one year to graduates of first grade high schools, or those with equivalent preparation as determined by the director of education, who have completed in addition a one-year course approved by the director of education, and have proved such standards of attainment as he may prescribe. Such certificates may be renewed for periods of one year or three years, each upon conditions prescribed by the director of education."

Applications for entrance to the county normal next fall are now being received by County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard, and early indications are that the largest class ever registered will enter this school next September.

CLUBS WILL NOT EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Franklin township boys' sheep club and the boys' potato club of Fairfield township will not have exhibits at the county fair next September, it was announced today by County Agent Floyd Lower.

The Franklin township club members this season are going in for experience and not for prize purposes, but will stage an exhibit at Millport next fall, at which time prizes may be offered for the best stock by local interests.

Business men of Columbiana are backing the Fairfield township potato club this season, and all of the young growers will have exhibits at the Columbiana street fair, which is held the Saturday following the county fair. Prizes will be awarded all winners who show at this event as in former years.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

July meeting of the council of the village of Lisbon will be held in the office of Mayor Robert B Clark this Tuesday evening. On account of Monday being observed as a holiday, and this being the regular night of meeting, the session was continued one day. Only routine business is to be considered at this session, although a report may be presented by the street committee having to do with the improvement of a number of unpaved streets.

STATE ENGINEER INSPECTS ROADS

W. C. Fawcett, locating engineer for the state highway department, has concluded journeys over the present and proposed routes of the new Lisbon-Clarkson road from Lisbon east and the Lisbon-Salineville road from Gavers south.

Both of these projects are to be taken care of under the recent $950,000 road bond issue, and early preliminary work on these roads is expected to begin this year, although the matter of actual construction will not be made a matter of record until next year.

The Lisbon-Clarkson road will connect east of Clarkson with the new East Liverpool - Youngstown road, which is now under construction.

Mr. Fawcett was former division engineer for the state highway department for this district, which several months ago was revised.

Active Glands Gave Napoleon Fighting Force

ACCORDING to a noted scientist, who has analyzed the action of the glands, Napoleon, one of the greatest fighters of all history, owed his courage and fighting force to large and extremely active adrenal glands.

Not only have the glands an important influence on the mind and character of the individual, but they also largely control health, energy and vitality, and it is by maintaining the normal functioning of the glands that we may combat sickness and ill health, according to eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

State Law Governing Granting of Teachers' Certificates Cited

Contrary to the view entertained by many who have planned to enter the County Normal school at Lisbon next fall, section 7832-2 of the general code of Ohio does not provide that two years of normal work is required before a teachers' certificate can be granted. In fact, such certificate is granted following one year study at the county normal. The section of the code under which such certificates are granted reads:

"The county board of school examiners shall grant elementary certificates valid for one year to graduates of first grade high schools, or those with equivalent preparation as determined by the director of education, who have completed in addition a one-year course approved by the director of education, and have proved such standards of attainment as he may prescribe. Such certificates may be renewed for periods of one year or three years, each upon conditions prescribed by the director of education."

Applications for entrance to the county normal next fall are now being received by County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Leonard, and early indications are that the largest class ever registered will enter this school next September.

CLUBS WILL NOT EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Franklin township boys' sheep club and the boys' potato club of Fairfield township will not have exhibits at the county fair next September, it was announced today by County Agent Floyd Lower.

The Franklin township club members this season are going in for experience and not for prize purposes, but will stage an exhibit at Millport next fall, at which time prizes may be offered for the best stock by local interests.

Business men of Columbiana are backing the Fairfield township potato club this season, and all of the young growers will have exhibits at the Columbiana street fair, which is held the Saturday following the county fair. Prizes will be awarded all winners who show at this event as in former years.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETS TONIGHT

July meeting of the council of the village of Lisbon will be held in the office of Mayer Robert B Clark this Tuesday evening. On account of Monday being observed as a holiday, and this being the regular night of meeting, the session was continued one day. Only routine business is to be considered at this session, although a report may be presented by the street committee having to do with the improvement of a number of unpaved streets.

Active Glands Gave Napoleon Fighting Force

ACCORDING to a noted scientist, who has analyzed the action of the glands, Napoleon, one of the greatest fighters of all history, owed his courage and fighting force to large and extremely active adrenal glands.

Not only have the glands an important influence on the mind and character of the individual, but they also largely control health, energy and vitality, and it is by maintaining the normal functioning of the glands that we may combat sickness and ill health, according to eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, which is prepared in convenient tablet form, for men and for women, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J Trumbull of Jersey City, N J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can."

"TODAY"

MEN AT THE HEAD of large affairs everywhere recognize day after day in Arthur Brisbane's forceful editorial utterances the reflection of experience gained at first hand in the realms of business and investment. Among the leaders of industry and finance who follow "TODAY" in more than one hundred newspapers are the men most aware of its author's great range of investment interests. This setting to work by Arthur Brisbane of the surplus of his large earnings in American enterprises and futures is only one expression of his faith in the ideals and institutions which make America the outstanding nation of the world. Its fullest expression is made in his brilliant and many-sided "TODAY," which appears daily in this newspaper. Readers enjoy and profit by this famous column, because it is a sure guide to a sound knowledge of America and a constant inspiration to the highest duties of citizenship.

"We need more Brisbanes"

The breadth of imagination shown in his daily comment opens windows on the current parade of events which would pass unnoticed without his unique, human viewpoint.

Many, who may not agree with all of Arthur Brisbane's conclusions, read his daily column for the mental stimulus which comes from association with an active mind whose words seldom fail to leave a picture in the memory of the reader.

We need more Brisbanes, more men with the ability to see new thoughts in daily routine and old lessons in timely events.

"'TODAY' is one of the really unique features of American journalism."

I take great pleasure in saying that I regard Mr. Brisbane as one of the most brilliant of American journalists, and that, while, perhaps, I cannot agree with him in all his views, I feel that his purpose is constructive, his writings are always most interesting and suggestive, and his column "Today" is one of the really unique features of American journalism.

"One of the important figures in this democratic form of government of ours."

The editor of a great daily paper exercises a tremendous influence, which carries with it commensurate responsibilities in helping to form an intelligent public opinion regarding the issues of the day. Mr. Brisbane's extraordinary facility for presenting even the most complicated subject in language that is clear and easily understood makes him one of the important figures in this democratic form of government of ours.

GARY

"This instructive, fascinating column is a force and influence that is far-reaching"

It contains a clear, comprehensive and condensed statement of current events. It briefly analyzes the daily discussions relating to the principal topics under consideration. It provides a fund of information, useful and valuable for every department of American life. It expresses opinions of the editor concerning religion, finance, commerce, education and politics, that are based on good authority or sound logic, or both, which are of decided advantage to every one interested in any of these topics.

Mr. Brisbane is or has been an omnivorous reader; probably both. He has a large, well-balanced brain that seems to be at work at least twelve or fifteen hours per day. This instructive, fascinating column is a force and influence that is far-reaching. It is not difficult to understand why Mr. Brisbane is the largest salaried man in the newspaper world.

PROVEN PUDDING by SAMUEL MERWIN

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of sucess. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the freedom-seeker, invites her to share their apartment-ment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. Before the first evening is well under way Delia has met Wilbur, a young artist who is suffering from "too much mother" and whom Lou has undertaken to rescue; and Leslie, intimate of Lou; and Aahhur Rockwell the poet whose work Delia knows and admires; and various others of the Village crowd. For there is a gay party in the little apartment.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

Brisk little Bee was the first to rise. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, "but I've got to get a bite of dinner and go to work."

"That's a thought!" cried Leslie. "If I drink one more cocktail there won't be but half a king in the show tonight. Why don't we have dinner together? Over at Salmi's."

"Come back here afterward if you like,' added Lou, hospitably. "There's plenty of gin."

The idea caught hold. There was a busling about for hats and coats. Delia heard the guardedly caressing voice of Arthur Rockwell close in her ear. It appeared that he was sitting on the arm of her chair.

"I'm not going to let go of you, Delia, now that I've found you. Have you seen 'The Gondaliers?'"

Her head moved softly in the negative.

"Then we'll slip in there for the performance. I'll bring you around here afterward."

She glanced timidly about as if to consult Bee. Then the arresting thought came—a stirring thought—that she needn't consult her. Needn't consult anybody. Bee would be busy. And they all went cheerfully their own ways. She could, at least, follow every whim. So she murmured, "I'd love to.' And then, as a memory of Bee's dry little warning arose, nearly giggled right out.

Others appeared after the theater. A girl with straight red hair who, some one whispered, painted magazine covers. And an extraordinarily handsome and gay girl from the cast of "The Gondaliers" who after a few cocktails insisted on practicing dance steps which she executed prettily. It hadn't occurred to Delia before that there was a serious technique to that sort of thing. After one o'clock the singing and chatter subsided and the party settled back by twos in intimate whisperings. The couch was crowded. No couple appeared aware of the others. Delia found herself appropriated by Arthur. He took it casually for granted that she would respond to his quick interest in her. And she couldn't resist. It was odd and pleasantly stirring that she should wish to. Her spirit was floating dreamily through the experience. Arthur, close to her, suggested: "We'll have dinner together tomorrow. What do you say? I know a charming Italian place over in Bleecker street.' In a flutter she asquelsced. For this was Arthur Rockwell. She had one of his books in her suitcase. Timidly she asked if he would write his name in it, "Of course, child!" And added, "Drop in at my place about five-forty. The girls needn't know." That was true. They needn't know.

It was long after that when Lou, with her pleasant grin, took the floor. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, standing in the center of the room in the manner of one who addresses an audience, "but I have to be at my desk at nine o'clock and I'm going to bed right now."

And so, regretfully, by couples they looked about for their things. Leslie Perkins found the alarm clock in the bedroom and merrily set it off.

"For Heaven's sake!" cried Bee. "Do be quiet! Do you want us to be put out of the house?"

Then they went, in some confusion. The dancing girl had to be restrained from sliding down the bannisters.

Leslie Perkins stood with Lou in the doorway. "I'll lug Wilbur over to my place," he said, "if you'll call a taxi, Lou. His mother musn't see him like this. She'd be nagging him the rest of his life."

"No, don't bother. I'm going to keep him here for a few days."

"But my word! Honest, now—"

"Don't be silly, Less. The poor kid's going through the crisis of his life. And I'm responsigle. Got him on my hands. And take my word for it, it's a prebem. But something simpy had to be done. He was cracking, Les. I nerved him up today"—she smiled—"to break with his mother."

"Well, I say, just how do you expect me to take this!"

"Sensibly."

"But keeping him here overnight!"

"Oh, Les, don't be Victorian! And you must go. Really."

"That's it! I have to go!"

"We'll talk it over tomorrow, dear. We've all had too much to drink tonight.'

"My head is prefectly clear."

"Then keep your voice down. You don't want us to be put out."

"You've never let me stay here."

"Of course not. When you've thought it over you'll see how different it is."

He took her in his arms. "Damn it, Lou, let's get married. Will you marry me?"

"You know that's out of the question."

"I don't know any such thing."

"You simply must be quiet." She reached behind her and drew the door to. "There are people trying to sleep here on this floor.'

Buy Balloon Tire, Use it as Extra, Says D. W. Blazy

Most automobile owners have the impression that they must buy a complete set of new tires to change from the high pressure tires to balloons. D. W. Blazy of 216 East 4th St., says this is not necessary. When you need a tire, buy a balloon tire and carry it as a spare. You can use it opposite a high-pressure tire in an emergency without inconvenience or hindrance in your driving. When it becomes time to use it regularly, buy another balloon and put the pair on the two rear wheels. Then you can start with the spare again until you have a pair of balloons on the front wheels, too. This method has been tried and found to be very satisfactory.

Blazy reports the result of a test which shows that Michelin balloons will cost the user less, per mile of service, than high-pressure tires. Michelin made the world's first display of balloons at the Paris auto salon in 1923.

The fly makes 1000 stops per day

BUT Flit will quickly put a stop to the fly's travels.

Flit spray clears your home in a few minutes of disease-bearing flies and mosquitoes. It is clean, safe and easy to use.

Kills All Household Insects

Flit spray also destroys bed bugs, roaches and ants. It searches out the cracks and crevices where they hide and breed, and destroys insects and their eggs. Spray Flit on your garments. Flit kills moths and their larvae which eat holes. Extensive tests showed that Flit spray did not stain the most delicate fabrics.

A Scientific Insecticide

Flit is the result of exhaustive research by expert entomologists and chemists. It is harmless to mankind. Flit has replaced the old methods because it kills all the insects—and does it quickly.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of success. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the freedom-seeker, invites her to share their apartment-ment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. Before the first evening is well under way Delia has met Wilbur, a young artist who is suffering from "too much mother" and whom Lou has undertaken to rescue; and Leslie, intimate of Lou; and Aahhur Rockwell the poet whose work Delia knows and admires; and various others of the Village crowd. For there is a gay party in the little apartment.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

Brisk little Bee was the first to rise. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, "but I've got to get a bite of dinner and go to work."

"That's a thought!" cried Leslie. "If I drink one more cocktail there won't be but half a king in the show tonight. Why don't we have dinner together? Over at Salmi's."

"Come back here afterward if you like,' added Lou, hospitably. "There's plenty of gin."

The idea caught hold. There was a busling about for hats and coats. Delia heard the guardedly caressing voice of Arthur Rockwell close in her ear. It appeared that he was sitting on the arm of her chair.

"I'm not going to let go of you, Delia, now that I've found you. Have you seen 'The Gondaliers?'"

Her head moved softly in the negative.

"Then we'll slip in there for the performance. I'll bring you around here afterward."

She glanced timidly about as if to consult Bee. Then the arresting thought came—a stirring thought—that she needn't consult her. Needn't consult anybody. Bee would be busy. And they all went cheerfully their own ways. She could, at least, follow every whim. So she murmured, "I'd love to.' And then, as a memory of Bee's dry little warning arose, nearly giggled right out.

Others appeared after the theater. A girl with straight red hair who, some one whispered, painted magazine covers. And an extraordinarily handsome and gay girl from the cast of "The Gondaliers" who after a few cocktails insisted on practicing dance steps which she executed prettily. It hadn't occurred to Delia before that there was a serious technique to that sort of thing. After one o'clock the singing and chatter subsided and the party settled back by twos in intimate whisperings. The couch was crowded. No couple appeared aware of the others. Delia found herself appropriated by Arthur. He took it casually for granted that she would respond to his quick interest in her. And she couldn't resist. It was odd and pleasantly stirring that she should wish to. Her spirit was floating dreamily through the experience. Arthur, close to her, suggested: "We'll have dinner together tomorrow. What do you say? I know a charming Italian place over in Bleecker street.' In a flutter she asqueisced. For this was Arthur Rockwell. She had one of his books in her suitcase. Timidly she asked if he would write his name in it, "Of course, child!" And added, "Drop in at my place about five-forty. The girls needn't know." That was true. They needn't know.

It was long after that when Lou, with her pleasant grin, took the floor. "I don't know about the rest of you," she said, standing in the center of the room in the manner of one who addresses an audience, "but I have to be at my desk at nine o'clock and I'm going to bed right now."

And so, regretfully, by couples they looked about for their things. Leslie Perkins found the alarm clock in the bedroom and merrily set it off.

"For Heaven's sake!" cried Bee. "Do be quiet! Do you want us to be put out of the house?"

Then they went, in some confusion. The dancing girl had to be restrained from sliding down the bannisters.

Leslie Perkins stood with Lou in the doorway. "I'll lug Wilbur over to my place," he said, "if you'll call a taxi, Lou. His mother musn't see him like this. She'd be nagging him the rest of his life."

"No, don't bother. I'm going to keep him here for a few days."

"But my word! Honest, now—"

"Don't be silly, Less. The poor kid's going through the crisis of his life. And I'm responsigle. Got him on my hands. And take my word for it, it's a probem. But something simpy had to be done. He was cracking, Les. I nerved him up today"—she smiled—"to break with his mother."

"Well, I say, just how do you expect me to take this!"

"Sensibly."

"But keeping him here overnight!"

"Oh, Les, don't be Victorian! And you must go. Really."

"That's it! I have to go!"

"We'll talk it over tomorrow, dear. We've all had too much to drink tonight.'

"My head is prefectly clear."

"Then keep your voice down. You don't want us to be put out."

"You've never let me stay here."

"Of course not. When you've thought it over you'll see how different it is."

He took her in his arms. "Damn it, Lou, let's get married. Will you marry me?"

"You know that's out of the question."

"I don't know any such thing."

"You simply must be quiet." She reached behind her and drew the door to. "There are people trying to sleep here on this floor."

Buy Balloon Tire, Use it as Extra, Says D. W. Blazy

Most automobile owners have the impression that they must buy a complete set of new tires to change from the high pressure tires to balloons. D. W. Blazy of 216 East 4th St., says this is not necessary. When you need a tire, buy a balloon tire and carry it as a spare. You can use it opposite a high-pressure tire in an emergency without inconvenience or hindrance in your driving. When it becomes time to use it regularly, buy another balloon and put the pair on the two rear wheels. Then you can start with the spare again until you have a pair of balloons on the front wheels, too. This method has been tried and found to be very satisfactory.

Blazy reports the result of a test which shows that Michelin balloons will cost the user less, per mile of service, than high-pressure tires. Michelin made the world's first display of balloons at the Paris auto salon in 1923.

FIVE WOMEN, TWO MEN TRAIN FOR ADVANCE ON ENGLISH CHANNEL

MISS GERTRUDE EDERLE

The greatest advance on the tempting English channel in the history of swimming is to be made within the next few months. No less than five women are now in active training for attempts to paddle their way against wicked seas, cold water, chilling winds and heart-breaking tides from one side of the channel to the other. Two men have announced their intentions.

Those who have already announced their intentions of attempting the 20-mile swim this summer are:

GERTRUDE EDERLE.
MISS LILLIAN CANNON.
CLARIBELLE BARRETT.
MME. JEANNE SION.
MISS MILLE GADE.
SHAK HELMY.
W. C. JACKSON.

All But Two Yanks.

Of these all but Mme. Sion and Helmy are Americans. Mme. Sion is a French swimmer. Helmy is a giant Egyptian who helped Miss Ederle train for her attempt last season.

The effort of Miss Ederle looms up as the most interesting. It will be her second effort. The American girl swam to within a few miles of the British coast from Cape Griz-Nez, France, last summer. It was announced when her attempt failed that her trainer, Jabez Wolffe, ordered her lifted into the boat when she appeared nauseated by the salt water and cold. Miss Ederle later stated that she was not ready to give up the struggle. Miss Ederle had trained diligently for the attempt.

Revises Plans

Her start was postponed for a time due to unusually rough weather. In her training she took on some added poundage as resistance against the biting cold of the water, which rarely rises above fifty degrees. This year she is adding more weight. This would indicate that she has revised her plan of attack. Five men have swam the channel. All were sturdy, chunky fellows, large barrelled and with plenty of warm fat about their torso and legs. Their time for the feat was slow, they depending upon main strength and endurance, rather than speed.

Miss Ederle last year hoped to triumph mainly through speed. Gauging her endurance she believed that with her speed she could "beat the tide," swimming with it the second half of the journey and reaching her destination before the tide turned against her. She was cautioned repeatedly at the start for her desire to "sprint" in her efforts to cut down the time.

This year she will take a steadier pace, under the watchful eye of William Burgess, a conqueror of the channel years ago.

Baltimore Lass to Try.

Miss Cannon, a Baltimore maid, is also training at Camp Griz-Nez, Miss Ederle's camp. Miss Cannon attracted attention last summer when she swam the 22 miles across Chesapeake Bay in the remarkable time of 11 hours. She is 23.

Mme. Sion attempted to swim last year. She swam to within a mile and a half of the British shore from the continent and was then forced to give up. She had been in the water 13 hours and 15 minutes.

Mille Gade, who in private life is Mrs. Clemington Corson, has won nation-wide attention through her feat in swimming the Hudson and in other endurance events.

Miss Barrett, a teacher of swimming in the James Monron High school in New York city, has won much fame as a long distance swimmer and holds many medals for such feats.

Jackson Latest Aspirant.

W. O. Jackson, the latest announced aspirant for the honor of swimming the cnannel, is the chap who recently swam from Mobile, Ala., to Sand Point, off Fort Morgan, at the mouth of Mobile bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours, 9 minutes. His swim is believed to be the longest ever achieved in salt water in America.

Helmy is perhaps the most picturesque aspirant. This husky stands six feet, three inches tall. He weighs 240 pounds. He is large about the waist and hopes to remain that way until after the swim—because the fat will help him fight the cold.

Helmy trained with Miss Ederle last summer and planned to attempt the swim late that season but didn't.

It'll be a wise lighthouse keeper who knows a channel swimmer from an unlucky bather this summer.

HITTING four pitchers that were sent into the breach, Chester defeated K. T. K. in the necessary play-off contest between the two clubs at Columbian park Saturday afternoon by the score of 12 to 0.

Wilde fanned ten men and had three hits in four times up. He hit a home run with P. Cebula on in the fifth when his team had five bingles that netted four runs.

Mahoning Valley Country Club to Entertain Hagen

YOUNGSTOWN, July 3.—Walter Hagen, greatest of all professional golfers, will appear here in an exhibition match this month, if plans of the Mahoning Valley Country club officials materialize.

They are in communication with Hagen and expect to secure his acceptance this week. The date has not been definitely settled upon until Hagen gives his answer.

The suggestion has been made that Hagen be paired with Oscar Deibel, the Valley veterans, against Tom Rackletts, Valley professional, and Christy Deibel, Youngstown Country club star.

Hagen, debonair hero of countless tournaments, is easily the most popular of all the professionals and his visit will attract keen interest here.

If it can be arranged, Hagen will come here immediately upon his return from England.

BILLY MEWHA RACE WINNER

Negotiates 50-mile Event in One Hour, 19 Minutes.

DRIVING a Rajo Special, William "Billy" Mewha, of Wellsburg, former Chester youth, won the half-century auto race yesterday afternoon at the Lisbon Fairgrounds, negotiating the 100 laps in 79 minutes. He drove a steady race from the outset and was fortunate to go through without any engine or tire trouble.

Charles F. Green, of Steubenville, who also drove a Rajo Special, finished second in 89 minutes and Jack Martin of Massillon, who got away to a flying start but who had to go to the pit four times, was third. His time was one hour and 44 minutes.

Eight drivers qualified for the event but only the three finished.

Over 3,000 persons saw the race which was marred by only two accidents.

On the last turn of the first lap, E. Watson, of East Liverpool, lost control of his Buick racer and went through the outside fence, headed for the old floral hall building. His car gave a lurch as it was rounding the east turn, jumped up over the embankment and tore away about 40 feet of the fence. While Watson escaped injury, his car was so badly jammed that it could not again be placed on the track.

While Frank Klier of Weirton, driving a Hudson, named the "Weirton Wonder," was rounding the west curce of the track, beginning his 55th. lap, he tore through the inside fence about the spot where machines enter the oval during fair time. Splinters of lumber flew into the air, and Decker, sitting low in his car, escaped any injury as his car struck the fence, turned around and headed back on the track dead. A car was run to the spot from the judges stand and pulled from the track back into the oval.

Unusual bursts of speed was shown by Martin who was driving a "Princess Pat" special. Every time Martin went on the track after coming out of the pit he gained lap after lap on his lost record, and when Mewha was given the flag at the end of the race Martin was then only 10 laps behind him.

During the first 24 laps in the race the drivers held a neck and neck record. Gradually, however one after the other showed car trouble and the process of self elimination followed.

City League Rivals Will Battle Tomorrow At Patterson Field For First Half Title

Crucial Contest to be Waged on Neutral Diamond, Beginning at 5:45; Will go Seven Innings.

THE real classic of the district baseball season to date is scheduled for tomorrow evening at Patterson Field when Chester and Laughlin, finishing the regular schedule in a dead heat, will battle for the position that insures a place in the "baby world's series" at the cose of the 1926 campaign.

The rivals will clash in a seven-inning regulation contest, beginning at 5:45 o'clock.

Patterson Field was selected as the site for the event because of its neutrality. In addition, as the most centrally located diamond in the league, it possesses advantages from the spectators' standpoint.

Laughlin, after a day or so in second place, jumped to an equal footing with Chester by winning two games Saturday from Victory Motors.

Chester held its ground by taking over K. T. K.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON, Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The actions of the wrists makes or mars the golf shot. I believe that correct wrist action is by far the most important phase of the golf swing and the action most to be studied. The wrists so greatly control the good shot that the expert golfer is invariably heard to caution the learning player to "put the wrists into it." The big obstacle, however, is that most players get the wrist action in at the wrong time, or, worse, they have too much wrist action. "Putting the wrists into it" does not imply that the entire club action is to be governed by the wrists. Peculiarly enough, the right wrist action is a somewhat delayed action against the club. In subsequent discussions I will try to show you just what the wrists do, when they do it and where.

THE WRISTS GREATLY CONTROL THE GOOD SHOT.

Jackson Called Off Mound in Third as Stork Makes Visit

The wily stork probably was a factor, to some extent, in deciding the first half pennant of the City Industrial league.

While "Hap" Jackson, who elected himself to hold Chester, was concluding the third inning of Saturday's contest at Columbian park, he had to quit to greet the arrival of an eight-pound daughter in his home which swelled his total posterity to six children.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

DESPITE excellent pitching by Shawkey, the Yanks lost to the Athletics, 2 to 1, as Lefty Grove fanned 12, because of Koenig's errors. Ward replaced Koenig in the nightcap, but the A's were seeing red and won again.

Johnson and Marberry pitched the Red Sox to death, 7 to 4 and 3 to 2, and the Senators climbed to fifth place. It was the first time this season that Marberry had started a game.

Vangilder and Zachary officiated at Detroit's double funeral, the Browns winning both games by scores of 4 to 3 and 6 to 3. In the second game the Browns scored all their runs in one inning.

Leyson, of Cleveland, won a 4 to 2 decision over Lyons of the White Sox, but Al Thomas of the pale hose blanked the Indians in the second game, 8 to 0, when the Sox knocked Buckeye and Benge silly.

The Reds kept their lead over the Pirates intact by splitting a double-header with the Cardinals. Pete Donohue applied an artistic coat of whitewash to the Cardinals in the opener, 4 to 0, but a homer by Southworth enabled Jess Haines to hang up a 7 to 5 victory in the nightcap.

After beating the Cubs 4 to 1 with Songer in the box, the Pirates lost a 10 to 7 slugfest in which Adams and Hack Wilson got nine of Chicago's 13 hits.

The spirit of '76 triumphed in New York when Carlson and Mitchell, the venerable Quaker, starred in a double victory over the Giants, 6 to 3, and 5 to 4. Greenfield and Barnes were driven from the box.

The Braves gained a clear title to last place by losing the second game of a double header to Brooklyn, 14 to 5. They beat Jess Petty in the first game, 5 to 4. Babe Herman collected seven hits during the day.

New York A. C. Figured to Capture Team Trophy In All-Around Test

Hollywood A. C., Yesterday's Point Winners, Expected to be Outdistanced by Eastern Combine.

By Davis J. Walsh.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Strategically placed for the final sortie against the title, the New York A. C. seemed destined to fall heir to the team trophy today when the national championships in track and field were to sponsor an all-around test and a series of relays, and call it a meeting. The all-star cast of the Hollywood A. C. scored most of the points and furnished most of the records in yesterday's games but the coast entry, having made this gesture, was thereupon all over and done with.

It hadn't a nominee today for any of the relay championships at 44 yards, 880 yards, one mile, two miles, and four miles, while the New York outfit not only was down on the books with a starter at each distance but was favored to win most, if not all the races. You get the answer to this by adding two and two.

But regardless of what happens, it will be a large and a spacious day. It was due to start at 10 o'clock this morning when the field was to be called for the 110-meter hurdles, opening event of the decathlon program. The boys guarantee to finish before midnight or they won't claim the marble.

Harold Osborne, the 1925 champion and world's record holder, will not be among those present, unfortunately or otherwise, but the field was far from unprepossessing. Among those scheduled to go to the post were S. Harrison Thompson, a former champion; Emerson Norton, runner-up to Osborne at the Paris Olympics; Cliff Hoffman, of the Olympic club, San Francisco; Tom Plansky, of Georgetown, and Edward Miller and Verne McDermott, of the Los Angeles A. C.

Question Norton's Form

There also were a few long shots in the field, including Charley Rogers, the Pennsylvania football man; Albert Rogan, of the Boston A. A., Dona D. Foote, the Baltimore policeman and Nathan Klein of the Emerywood A. C.

If the young man can claim the form he knew at Paris in 1924, Norton will win going away. However, it was a moot point whether Norton was the same man who forced Osborne to break a world's record to win the Olympic title. He probably won't have to be that good today.

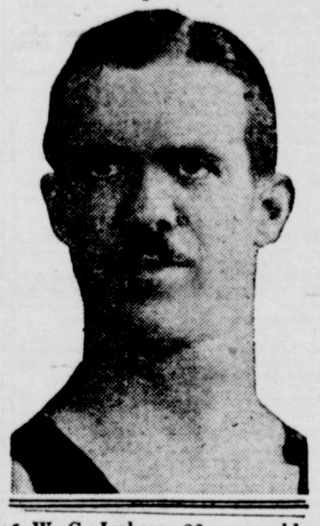

Plansky, Hoffman and Thompson figured to be the men he had to beat and none of them are in Osborne's class as all around competitors. Another detail made it look like Norton's title was the fact that the decathlon program happens to be right down his alley.

The list of events includes the 110-meter hurdles, the 1500 meter run, the running broad jump, the 100-meter dash, the 400-meter run, the running high jump, shotput, discus, pole vault and javelin.

Norton probably will give only one really sour performance in the list, and that the 1500-meter run.

On the other hand he was good for several inches more in the high jump, twelve or better in the pole vault, at least 19 in the broad jump and twelve feet or better in weight events.

Swimming Feat Prompts Him to Attempt Channel

W. C. Jackson, 23 years old, of Mobile and Flomaton, Ala., swam from Mobile to Sand Island off Fort Morgan at the mouth of Mobile Bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours and 9 minutes, Jackson is now planning to attempt to swim the English channel.

Fight Results

AT CLEVELAND — Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, outpointed Ted Blatt, of Chicago, in a 10-round go.

Floyd Hyber, Buffalo, middleweight, knocked out Rapid Waters, Kentucky, in the second round.

AT JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—Osk Till, Rochester, N. Y., middleweight, beat Augie Ratner, New York, 10 rounds.

AT WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — Yale Okun, New York heavyweight, won from Ray Fay, Pittsburgh, 10 rounds.

AT TAMPA, FLA.—Hilario Martinez, Spanish lightweight champion, drew with Frankie Osner, Tulsa, Okla., 10 rounds.

Laughlin Lands Two From Victory Motor

Awarded Opening Tilt by Forfeit Route But go Out and Club in 11 to 7 Conquest in Wind-up With Suder on Slab; Several Players Missing.

LAUGHLIN took two City Industrial games from Victory Motors in the double header event at Newell, W. Va., Saturday afternoon, the first being forfeited, 9 to 0, and the second won, 11 to 7.

Because many of their regular men are away on their holiday vacations Victory Motor had not sufficient players to fill the nine positions at the time for beginning play. Umpire McKernan accordingly forfeited the contest.

Until the players would arrive an exhibition game was begun which was called the moment the Victory Motor absentees arrived on the field and the second contest begun. This was done so as to dodge threatened rain.

Suder pitched for Laughlin and struck out seven men. He had the additional record of fanning the first four men that faced him in the first inning and one batter of the second in the exhibition contest which made 11 for the day.

Baker pitched three and W. Mundy four innings for the Victory Motor. The latter swatted at a .750 clip with a double, single and a home run in four attempts.

V. Bailey had to catch for his team. He threw well to bases, but missed a couple of third strikes. Numerous boots and wild throws swelled the losers' error column. They rallied in the seventh and scored five runs on a hit player, four safe hits and an error.

LIMBER UP FOR NATIONAL OPEN

Pro-amateur Stars in Best Ball Foursome at Scioto.

COLUMBUS, O., July 6.—Team best ball foursome match is scheduled to take place over the golf course of the Scioto Country club near here this afternoon. Contestants will comprise 24 of the best professionals and amateurs numbering among the approximately 150 players who will participate in the three day national open golf championship tournament which starts Thursday on the Scioto course.

The contestants in this afternoon's team match include 12 pros and a dozen amateurs tentatively lined up as follows:

First foursome—Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn against Willie MacFarlane and Water Hagen.

Second Foursome—Max Marston and George Von Elm against Macdonald Smith and Harry Cooper.

Third foursome—Chick Evans and D. Clarke Cochrane against Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel.

Fourth foursome—Roland Mackenzie and Keefe Carter against Al. Watrous and Bill Mehlhorn.

Fifth Foursome—Harrison Johnson and Densmore Shute against Bobby Cruikshank and Jock Hutchinson.

Sixth foursome—Eddie Held and Clarence Wolff against Gene Sarazen and Willie Hunter.

The match is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time.

Rough Will Be Factor.

Hundreds of spectators earlier in the day watched the experts participate in practice rounds on the Scioto course. Dozens of pros and amateurs went through their paces, many experiencing considerable trouble with the rough. Some professionals were forced to pick up several times during a round because of the shaggy rough.

Professionals and amateurs join in the frank admission that the rough, in all probability, will be a potent factor in determining the championship winner. Most predictions are that at the least 292 will be needed to win it. One professional voiced belief that "297 or 298 might win it."

Players who will take part in the tourney will spend today and Wednesday limbering up on the course.

Spectators at this afternoon's team match will be asked to donate $1 each to the benevolent fund of the Professional Golfers' association.

FIVE WOMEN, TWO MEN TRAIN FOR ADVANCE ON ENGLISH CHANNEL

GERTRUDE EDERLE

The greatest advance on the tempting English channel in the history of swimming is to be made within the next few months. No less than five women are now in active training for attempts to paddle their way against wicked seas, cold water, chilling winds and heart-breaking tides from one side of the channel to the other. Two men have announced their intentions.

Those who have already announced their intentions of attempting the 20-mile swim this summer are:

GERTRUDE EDERLE.
MISS LILLIAN CANNON.
CLARIBELLE BARRETT.
MME. JEANNE SION.
MISS MILLE GADE.
SHAK HELMY.
W. C. JACKSON.

All But Two Yanks.

Of these all but Mme. Sion and Helmy are Americans. Mme. Sion is a French swimmer. Helmy is a giant Egyptian who helped Miss Ederle train for her attempt last season.

The effort of Miss Ederle looms up as the most interesting. It will be her second effort. The American girl swam to within a few miles of the British coast from Cape Griz-Nez, France, last summer. It was announced when her attempt failed that her trainer, Jabez Wolffe, ordered her lifted into the boat when she appeared nauseated by the salt water and cold. Miss Ederle later stated that she was not ready to give up the struggle. Miss Ederle had trained diligently for the attempt.

Revises Plans

Her start was postponed for a time due to unusually rough weather. In her training she took on some added poundage as resistance against the biting cold of the water, which rarely rises above fifty degrees. This year she is adding more weight. This would indicate that she has revised her plan of attack. Five men have swam the channel. All were sturdy, chunky fellows, large barrelled and with plenty of warm fat about their torso and legs. Their time for the feat was slow, they depending upon main strength and endurance, rather than speed.

Miss Ederle last year hoped to triumph mainly through speed. Gauging her endurance she believed that with her speed she could "beat the tide," swimming with it the second half of the journey and reaching her destination before the tide turned against her. She was cautioned repeatedly at the start for her desire to "sprint" in her efforts to cut down the time.

This year she will take a steadier pace, under the watchful eye of William Burgess, a conqueror of the channel years ago.

Baltimore Lass to Try.

Miss Cannon, a Baltimore maid, is also training at Camp Griz-Nez, Miss Ederle's camp. Miss Cannon attracted attention last summer when she swam the 22 miles across Chesapeake Bay in the remarkable time of 11 hours. She is 23.

Mme. Sion attempted to swim last year. She swam to within a mile and a half of the British shore from the continent and was then forced to give up. She had been in the water 13 hours and 15 minutes.

Mille Gade, who in private life is Mrs. Clemington Corson, has won nation-wide attention through her feat in swimming the Hudson and in other endurance events.

Miss Barrett, a teacher of swimming in the James Monron High school in New York city, has won much fame as a long distance swimmer and holds many medals for such feats.

Jackson Latest Aspirant.

W. O. Jackson, the latest announced aspirant for the honor of swimming the cnannel, is the chap who recently swam from Mobile, Ala., to Sand Point, off Fort Morgan, at the mouth of Mobile bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours, 9 minutes. His swim is believed to be the longest ever achieved in salt water in America.

Helmy is perhaps the most picturesque aspirant. This husky stands six feet, three inches tall. He weighs 240 pounds. He is large about the waist and hopes to remain that way until after the swim—because the fat will help him fight the cold.

Helmy trained with Miss Ederle last summer and planned to attempt the swim late that season but didn't.

It'll be a wise lighthouse keeper who knows a channel swimmer from an unlucky bather this summer.

Mahoning Valley Country Club to Entertain Hagen

YOUNGSTOWN, July 3.—Walter Hagen, greatest of all professional golfers, will appear here in an exhibition match this month, if plans of the Mahoning Valley Country club officials materialize.

They are in communication with Hagen and expect to secure his acceptance this week. The date has not been definitely settled upon until Hagen gives his answer.

The suggestion has been made that Hagen be paired with Oscar Deibel, the Valley veterans, against Tom Rackletts, Valley professional, and Christy Deibel, Youngstown Country club star.

Hagen, debonair hero of countless tournaments, is easily the most popular of all the professionals and his visit will attract keen interest here.

If it can be arranged, Hagen will come here immediately upon his return from England.

BILLY MEWHA RACE WINNER

Negotiates 50-mile Event in One Hour, 19 Minutes.

DRIVING a Rajo Special, William "Billy" Mewha, of Wellsburg, former Chester youth, won the half-century auto race yesterday afternoon at the Lisbon Fairgrounds, negotiating the 100 laps in 79 minutes. He drove a steady race from the outset and was fortunate to go through without any engine or tire trouble.

Charles F. Green, of Steubenville, who also drove a Rajo Special, finished second in 89 minutes and Jack Martin of Massillon, who got away to a flying start but who had to go to the pit four times, was third. His time was one hour and 44 minutes.

Eight drivers qualified for the event but only the three finished.

Over 3,000 persons saw the race which was marred by only two accidents.

On the last turn of the first lap, E. Watson, of East Liverpool, lost control of his Buick racer and went through the outside fence, headed for the old floral hall building. His car gave a lurch as it was rounding the east turn, jumped up over the embankment and tore away about 40 feet of the fence. While Watson escaped injury, his car was so badly jammed that it could not again be placed on the track.

While Frank Klier of Weirton, driving a Hudson, named the "Weirton Wonder," was rounding the west curce of the track, beginning his 55th. lap, he tore through the inside fence about the spot where machines enter the oval during fair time. Splinters of lumber flew into the air, and Decker, sitting low in his car, escaped any injury as his car struck the fence, turned around and headed back on the track dead. A car was run to the spot from the judges stand and pulled from the track back into the oval.

Unusual bursts of speed was shown by Martin who was driving a "Princess Pat" special. Every time Martin went on the track after coming out of the pit he gained lap after lap on his lost record, and when Mewha was given the flag at the end of the race Martin was then only 10 laps behind him.

During the first 24 laps in the race the drivers held a neck and neck record. Gradually, however one after the other showed car trouble and the process of self elimination followed.

City League Rivals Will Battle Tomorrow At Patterson Field For First Half Title

Crucial Contest to be Waged on Neutral Diamond, Beginning at 5:45; Will go Seven Innings.

THE real classic of the district baseball season to date is scheduled for tomorrow evening at Patterson Field when Chester and Laughlin, finishing the regular schedule in a dead heat, will battle for the position that insures a place in the "baby world's series" at the cose of the 1926 campaign.

The rivals will clash in a seven-inning regulation contest, beginning at 5:45 o'clock.

Patterson Field was selected as the site for the event because of its neutrality. In addition, as the most centrally located diamond in the league, it possesses advantages from the spectators' standpoint.

Laughlin, after a day or so in second place, jumped to an equal footing with Chester by winning two games Saturday from Victory Motors.

By CHESTER HORTON, Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The actions of the wrists makes or mars the golf shot. I believe that correct wrist action is by far the most important phase of the golf swing and the action most to be studied. The wrists so greatly control the good shot that the expert golfer is invariably heard to caution the learning player to "put the wrists into it." The big obstacle, however, is that most players get the wrist action in at the wrong time, or, worse, they have too much wrist action. "Putting the wrists into it" does not imply that the entire club action is to be governed by the wrists. Peculiarly enough, the right wrist action is a somewhat delayed action against the club. In subsequent discussions I will try to show you just what the wrists do, when they do it and where.

New York A. C. Figured to Capture Team Trophy In All-Around Test

Hollywood A. C., Yesterday's Point Winners, Expected to be Outdistanced by Eastern Combine.

By Davis J. Walsh.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Strategically placed for the final sortie against the title, the New York A. C. seemed destined to fall heir to the team trophy today when the national championships in track and field were to sponsor an all-around test and a series of relays, and call it a meeting. The all-star cast of the Hollywood A. C. scored most of the points and furnished most of the records in yesterday's games but the coast entry, having made this gesture, was thereupon all over and done with.

It hadn't a nominee today for any of the relay championships at 44 yards, 880 yards, one mile, two miles, and four miles, while the New York outfit not only was down on the books with a starter at each distance but was favored to win most, if not all the races. You get the answer to this by adding two and two.

But regardless of what happens, it will be a large and a spacious day. It was due to start at 10 o'clock this morning when the field was to be called for the 110-meter hurdles, opening event of the decathlon program. The boys guarantee to finish before midnight or they won't claim the marble.

Harold Osborne, the 1925 champion and world's record holder, will not be among those present, unfortunately or otherwise, but the field was far from unprepossessing. Among those scheduled to go to the post were S. Harrison Thompson, a former champion; Emerson Norton, runner-up to Osborne at the Paris Olympics; Cliff Hoffman, of the Olympic club, San Francisco; Tom Plansky, of Georgetown, and Edward Miller and Verne McDermott, of the Los Angeles A. C.

Question Norton's Form

There also were a few long shots in the field, including Charley Rogers, the Pennsylvania football man; Albert Rogan, of the Boston A. A., Dona D. Foote, the Baltimore policeman and Nathan Klein of the Emerywood A. C.

If the young man can claim the form he knew at Paris in 1924, Norton will win going away. However, it was a moot point whether Norton was the same man who forced Osborne to break a world's record to win the Olympic title. He probably won't have to be that good today.

Plansky, Hoffman and Thompson figured to be the men he had to beat and none of them are in Osborne's class as all around competitors. Another detail made it look like Norton's title was the fact that the decathlon program happens to be right down his alley.

The list of events includes the 110-meter hurdles, the 1500 meter run, the running broad jump, the 100-meter dash, the 400-meter run, the running high jump, shotput, discus, pole vault and javelin.

Norton probably will give only one really sour performance in the list, and that the 1500-meter run.

On the other hand he was good for several inches more in the high jump, twelve or better in the pole vault, at least 19 in the broad jump and twelve feet or better in weight events.

Jackson Called Off Mound in Third as Stork Makes Visit

The wily stork probably was a factor, to some extent, in deciding the first half pennant of the City Industrial league.

While "Hap" Jackson, who elected himself to hold Chester, was concluding the third inning of Saturday's contest at Columbian park, he had to quit to greet the arrival of an eight-pound daughter in his home which swelled his total posterity to six children.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

DESPITE excellent pitching by Shawkey, the Yanks lost to the Athletics, 2 to 1, as Lefty Grove fanned 12, because of Koenig's errors. Ward replaced Koenig in the nightcap, but the A's were seeing red and won again.

Johnson and Marberry pitched the Red Sox to death, 7 to 4 and 3 to 2, and the Senators climbed to fifth place. It was the first time this season that Marberry had started a game.

Vangilder and Zachary officiated at Detroit's double funeral, the Browns winning both games by scores of 4 to 3 and 6 to 3. In the second game the Browns scored all their runs in one inning.

Levsen, of Cleveland, won a 4 to 2 decision over Lyons of the White Sox, but Al Thomas of the pale hose blanked the Indians in the second game, 8 to 0, when the Sox knocked Buckeye and Benge silly.

The Reds kept their lead over the Pirates intact by splitting a double-header with the Cardinals. Pete Donohue applied an artistic coat of whitewash to the Cardinals in the opener, 4 to 0, but a homer by Southworth enabled Jess Haines to hang up a 7 to 5 victory in the nightcap.

After beating the Cubs 4 to 1 with Songer in the box, the Pirates lost a 10 to 7 slugfest in which Adams and Hack Wilson got nine of Chicago's 13 hits.

The spirit of '76 triumphed in New York when Carlson and Mitchell, the venerable Quaker, starred in a double victory over the Giants, 6 to 3, and 5 to 4. Greenfield and Barnes were driven from the box.

The Braves gained a clear title to last place by losing the second game of a double header to Brooklyn, 14 to 5. They beat Jess Petty in the first game, 5 to 4. Babe Herman collected seven hits during the day.

Swimming Feat Prompts Him to Attempt Channel

W. C. Jackson, 23 years old, of Mobile and Flomaton, Ala., swam from Mobile to Sand Island off Fort Morgan at the mouth of Mobile Bay, a distance of approximately 34 miles, in 19 hours and 9 minutes. Jackson is now planning to attempt to swim the English channel.

Laughlin Lands Two From Victory Motor

Awarded Opening Tilt by Forfeit Route But go Out and Club in 11 to 7 Conquest in Wind-up With Suder on Slab; Several Players Missing.

LAUGHLIN took two City Industrial games from Victory Motors in the double header event at Newell, W. Va., Saturday afternoon, the first being forfeited, 9 to 0, and the second won, 11 to 7.

Because many of their regular men are away on their holiday vacations Victory Motor had not sufficient players to fill the nine positions at the time for beginning play. Umpire McKernan accordingly forfeited the contest.

Until the players would arrive an exhibition game was begun which was called the moment the Victory Motor absentees arrived on the field and the second contest begun. This was done so as to dodge threatened rain.

Suder pitched for Laughlin and struck out seven men. He had the additional record of fanning the first four men that faced him in the first inning and one batter of the second in the exhibition contest which made 11 for the day.

Baker pitched three and W. Mundy four innings for the Victory Motor. The latter swatted at a .750 clip with a double, single and a home run in four attempts.

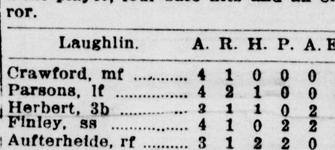

V. Bailey had to catch for his team. He threw well to bases, but missed a couple of third strikes. Numerous boots and wild throws swelled the losers' error column. They rallied in the seventh and scored five runs on a hit player, four safe hits and an error.

It is taking twenty men three months to paint the seats in the Yale bowl. And it'll probably take the Bulldog about two hours and forty minutes—elapsed time—to whitewash the Harvard eleven.

Jack Quinn still insists that Ban Johnson was harsh in fining him $200 for "stalling" in a recent game. Jack asserts that he left his linament in the clubhouse and had to rub his arm between pitches.

The ones who get the biggest thrill out of a squeeze play are the ones who are involved. Any flapper will vouch for that.

"Asserts Mexico is where it was 500 years ago," says headline. Which ought to cause all the boys in the geography class to sigh with relief.

Washington has dropped both Joe Bush and Johnny Tobin, received in the deal that sent pitchers Zachary and Ballou to St. Louis. Sisler still has the latter pair. Which indicates they're still useful or George can't get rid of 'em.

LIMBER UP FOR NATIONAL OPEN

Pro-amateur Stars in Best Ball Foursome at Scioto.

COLUMBUS, O., July 6.—Team best ball foursome match is scheduled to take place over the golf course of the Scioto Country club near here this afternoon. Contestants will comprise 24 of the best professionals and amateurs numbering among the approximately 150 players who will participate in the three day national open golf championship tournament which starts Thursday on the Scioto course.

The contestants in this afternoon's team match include 12 pros and a dozen amateurs tentatively lined up as follows:

First foursome—Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn against Willie MacFarlane and Water Hagen.

Second Foursome—Max Marston and George Von Elm against Macdonald Smith and Harry Cooper.

Third foursome—Chick Evans and D. Clarke Cochrane against Johnny Farrell and Leo Diegel.

Fourth foursome—Roland Mackenzie and Keefe Carter against Al. Watrous and Bill Mehlhorn.

Fifth Foursome—Harrison Johnson and Densmore Shute against Bobby Cruikshank and Jock Hutchinson.

Sixth foursome—Eddie Held and Clarence Wolff against Gene Sarazen and Willie Hunter.

The match is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. Eastern Standard time.

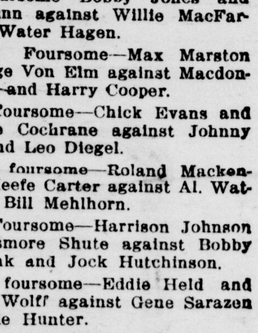

Rough Will Be Factor.

Hundreds of spectators earlier in the day watched the experts participate in practice rounds on the Scioto course. Dozens of pros and amateurs went through their paces, many experiencing considerable trouble with the rough. Some professionals were forced to pick up several times during a round because of the shaggy rough.

Professionals and amateurs join in the frank admission that the rough, in all probability, will be a potent factor in determining the championship winner. Most predictions are that at the least 292 will be needed to win it. One professional voiced belief that "297 or 298 might win it."

Players who will take part in the tourney will spend today and Wednesday limbering up on the course.

Spectators at this afternoon's team match will be asked to donate $1 each to the benevolent fund of the Professional Golfers' association.

Standard Goods Imperative

The United States Government is anxious to have fair and honest methods used in advertising American products to foreign countries as well as to the domestic market to insure a continuing good name for American made goods. The exporter who ships out goods falling below the standard advertised not only ruins injures the foreign market for all other American exporters. The foreigner is not likely to differentiate between exporters and brands. If he finds one shipment from the United States to be below standard he is inclined to assume that it is typical of all American exports.

The farmers' interest in world-wide advertising was outlined to the world conference by Lloyd S. Tenney, Acting Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture. He pointed out that while for many years the efforts of the Government had been to increase production, to make two blades of grass grow where but one had grown before, that has been accomplished and now the problem is to sell in the export trade that second blade of grass. That is where the farmer's profit must spring from. Judicious and carefully placed advertising by cooperatives and exporters can accomplish this and go far toward solving the farm problem.

Thus advertising can be used by American business men to bring the people of the whole world closer together by producing a mutual understanding and trust. It is the advertising man's responsibility to insure this by employing only the best methods.

Why Our Furniture Looks Like New

"No, it is not really new furniture. It looks new because Jack and I spent a few chummy evenings last week giving some of our old treasures a beautiful new surface with Marietta paints. Why don't you and Dick try it?"

MARIETTA ART STAINS

Remember there's an easy way to preserve these treasured pieces, a way to bring back their original lustre—and you can do it all yourself within a few hours with Spartana Varnish Stain, (a Marietta product) the kind that flows easily and without "pull" from your brush, spreads generously, giving to every article a smooth, uniform surface.

Standard Goods Imperative

The United States Government is anxious to have fair and honest methods used in advertising American products to foreign countries as well as to the domestic market to insure a continuing good name for American made goods. The exporter who ships out goods falling below the standard advertised not only ruins injures the foreign market for all other American exporters. The foreigner is not likely to differentiate between exporters and brands. If he finds one shipment from the United States to be below standard he is inclined to assume that it is typical of all American exports.

The farmers' interest in world-wide advertising was outlined to the world conference by Lloyd S. Tenney, Acting Chief of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture. He pointed out that while for many years the efforts of the Government had been to increase production, to make two blades of grass grow where but one had grown before, that has been accomplished and now the problem is to sell in the export trade that second blade of grass. That is where the farmer's profit must spring from. Judicious and carefully placed advertising by cooperatives and exporters can accomplish this and go far toward solving the farm problem.

Thus advertising can be used by American business men to bring the people of the whole world closer together by producing a mutual understanding and trust. It is the advertising man's responsibility to insure this by employing only the best methods.

Why Our Furniture Looks Like New

"No, it is not really new furniture. It looks new because Jack and I spent a few chummy evenings last week giving some of our old treasures a beautiful new surface with Marietta paints. Why don't you and Dick try it?"

MARIETTA ART STAINS

Remember there's an easy way to preserve these treasured pieces, a way to bring back their original lustre—and you can do it all yourself within a few hours with Spartana Varnish Stain, (a Marietta product) the kind that flows easily and without "pull" from your brush, spreads generously, giving to every article a smooth, uniform surface.

BEBE DANIELS AT CERAMIC

Star Travels at High Speed in New Comedy.

The things that happen to men who go down to the sea in ships are as nothing compared to the thrilling experiences that befall a country girl who goes down to the bay in speed boats. This can easily be verified by a visit to the Ceramic theatre, where Bebe Daniels in the title role of "The Palm Beach Girl" churns up the Florida waters at 60 miles an hour.

Here is a comedy that was build for speed and laughs. With Bebe cast as the chief speed-maniac and mirth-provoker, there is plenty of both. As the little country girl suddenly thrust into the society maze of Palm Beach, Bebe has a splendid opportunity to make ample use of her inimitable comedy gifts. Needless to say, her performance is perfection itself, for she plays her part with a blithe buoyancy that is delightful and a seemingly reckless disregard for life and limb that is startling.

From the moment she arrives in Florida to visit her wealthy aunts and is mistaken for a colored girl because her face is smudged, Bebe's troubles begin. Thereafter, they multiply rapidly as she tries to adapt herself to the ways of the smart set, falls in with bootleggers and attempts to operate a speed boat. The high point of hilarity and excitement is reached in the big race, which she wins despite the fact that her boat runs wild and almost wrecks everything in sight.

Interwoven with the strenuous action is a pleasing little romance which comes to a happy climax when Bebe captures the most eligible millionaire bachelor in Palm Beach. Lawrence Gray gives an excellent account of himself as the wealthy and handsome society youth.

Erle Kenton, the director, has given the production a fine finish and dash in keeping with its expensive atmosphere, and the Florida backgrounds are pictorially beautiful. The picture is based on the story by Byron Morgan and the play, "Please Help Emily" by H. M. Harwood. Forrest Halsey is to be congratulated for a smooth and snappy scenario.

Demand for opium grown in Turkey is unusually great this year.
